HALL'S CATARRH CURE

RECOMMENDED BY PHYSICIANS! $100 REWARD FOR A CASE IT FAILS TO CURE.

We manufacture and sell it with a positive guarantee that it will cure any case, and we will forfeit the above-named reward if it fails to do so. It is unlike any other Catarrh remedy, as it is taken internally, acting upon the blood. If you are troubled with this distressing disease, ask your Druggist for it and accept no substitute or straggler. If he has not got it, send to us and we will forward immediately. Price, 75 cents per bottle. Trial medicine free.

Opportunity for All to Secure a Delightful Home, and a Splendid Opportunity for a Profitable Investment.

Lovely is situated on the dividing ridge between the Catawba River and Big Gunpowder Creek, which run parallel with each other for seven or eight miles. It is one mile to the river and about the same distance to the creek, hence the fertility of the soil of the surrounding country is unsurpassed. It is directly on the A. L. Railroad, midway between Hickory and Lenoir on the highest elevation in the two places, and will rank among the most beautiful towns in Western North Carolina. In summer we have the full benefit of the mountain breeze, and in winter we are protected from the cold North winds by the Mountains which are in full view, half enclosing us, which causes such a grand scenery in summer, or in winter when the rocks are covered with sparkling icicles and the mountains with the white, downy snow. Summary of the advantages of Lovely as a place of residence for either the rich, middle man, business man, or the poor, it is pleasant, healthy and delightfully situated. Each plot in the Catawba river and the creeks. In one mile of here is a Sulphur Spring, unimproved, that is said to be as fine as water as is found anywhere. The place has just sprung up with a population of about 200. Two splendid churches—Methodist and Lutheran—one wagon and blacksmith shop, two dry goods stores, both doing a splendid business, and another large store, a drug store and two doctors. Also a large door and blind factory, with a foundry, and a mill. There is an opening for another door and such factory, as building material is extremely low here. A party from the tobacco region East have selected a site here for a tobacco factory and two residences. We also have a splendid Academy which is well patronized. It is owned and conducted by Prof. Hedges, from Rockingham. The situation of Lovely is such that it makes an excellent place for a home to make a safe investment and not delay, as the cheapness of the property here is desirable for business or summer resorts. Building lots fronting on the main street are now offered at prices ranging from $10 to $40. We would therefore advise those wishing to go in on business or procure a home to make a safe investment and not delay, as the cheapness of the property here will cause the most desirable lots to be taken soon. Above we give a sketch of the most desirable building part of the town. Those wishing to purchase lots will call on Dr. N. G. H. Jones, at Lovelady, the owner of the property, who will be pleased to show it, and give all desirable information about the surrounding country. July 14, 1887.—No. 27.—

The Day of Thanks.

With songs approach your God to-day;
Ye saints, be swift your vows to pay
And bless the Lord
With one accord.
Whose love the year hath richly crowned,
He smiled, whose winter darkly frowned,
And by his gentle, balmy breath
Woke ice-bound nature from her death;
He gave the blossoming of spring,
And made the birds their notes sing;
Vouchsafed the summer's ripening heat
And all the fruits that autumn greet.
Then haste to pay,
On this glad day,
As well we may,
The debt of love to him ye owe,
Who doth unceasing goodness show
"Praise God from whom all blessings flow."
R. M. OFFORD, in our Church Paper.

An Accommodating Railroad.

Several days ago a stranger made his appearance at the union depot and asked officer Button how long before the Grand River Valley train would go out.
"In about twenty minutes," was the reply.
"Then I'll have time to get a drink, won't I?"
"You will."
"That's good. I always prefer to travel on a stiff horn of whisky."
He returned again in five minutes, wiping his mouth on the back of his hand, and asked:
"Has my train gone yet?"
"No, sir; you still have fourteen minutes to spare."
"That's good; I guess I'll go back for a little brandy."
When he again returned he felt in good spirits, and ascertaining that he still had six minutes to spare, he said:
"Now, that's what I call liberal, and I'll lay in one more drink."
The last one proved more than he could bear up under and he was not seen again for three hours. Then he came round with a wobble in his gait and an uncertain look in his eyes, and asked:
"Shay, what time is that Grand River Valley train go out?"
"In about four hours."
"Fo' hours! Why, that'll give me time to get drunk ag'in, mos' commodat' railroad I ever saw, eh?"
"Yes."
"Shay! I don't want to be mean, but I tell the superintendent he needn't wait for me any longer, 'cause 'may delay others. He's a gentleman he is, an' 'Im a zhentleman, I am, but when a zhentleman holds a train for me mos' half a day I can't impose on him any longer! Shay, do you ever cry when you get zhrunk, I do, and if you've no jekshuns I'll cry now."
No objections being made, he cried.—Middleburg Journal.

What Am I To Do?

The symptoms of Biliousness are unhappy but too well known. They differ in different individuals to some extent. A Bilious man is seldom a breakfast eater. Too frequently, alas, he has an excellent appetite for liquids, but none for solids of a morning. His tongue will hardly bear inspection at any time; if it is not white and furred, it is rough, at all events.

Bar, Bench and Jury.

The three bodies of men named above, exert a wonderful influence in moulding the civilization of this age, therefore we think that an article now and then with reference to their relation one to another, and to the public, will be interesting, and if written in the right spirit will do good. Light is the great dispeller of darkness, preventive to crime, and preserver of our society.

Intelligence is the basic principle of republics, and this ought not to be confined to a restricted number of people or subjects, but ought to embrace the whole body of the people and extend to all the subjects of government.

The lawyer should remember that his duty is to advise correctly, and in the court house to present his cause clearly and distinctly with all the eloquence at his command; but that it is not his duty to win decisions or verdicts, these are duties that lie within the pale of the duties of Judge and Jury. How many heart burnings and doubtful expedients the remembrance of this simple fact would save to most lawyers; for at times all lawyers seem to forget it.

Sound Truth.

If General Henry R. Jackson, of Georgia, were amenable to advice, we should suggest that he muzzle his tongue. The General is a poet, so we are told, and if this be the case, then there is additional reason for moderation on his part. The South loves, venerates and will ever cherish the memory of those who suffered for it, and time will simply hallow the virtues of its heroes. We submit, with all respect to General Jackson, however, that the love and consecration of our heroes does not involve a reflection upon our antagonists. Because there are blackguards in the North is no reason why there should be foolishly resentful politicians in the South. Good people, North and South, want peace, friendship and union. General Jackson is neither wise nor patriotic when he allows himself to embarrass not only his Southern friends, but the Democratic party at large. Such speeches and sentiments as he utters simply reflect his individual views of the majority of Southern men. And we make this statement in perfect manliness, as men who love the South; who followed his fortunes in the past, who will ever work for its welfare in the future, and who believe that the united Democratic party ought not to be given the added burden of impulsion and unwise partners.—Wilmington Messenger.

How to Reduce the Surplus.

The latest, most improved and practical way of reducing the surplus in the United States Treasury has been invented in Wilkes county. The sheriff of that county was pressing a number of citizens for their State and county taxes. They had stock, corn, wheat, whisky and brandy for sale, but could find no buyers. They could not borrow the money. The last nickel had left the community. What was to be done? The Federal Court at Statesville would be on in a few weeks, and they got the sheriff to bear with them until after that time. In the mean time they persuaded a good-for-nothing fellow to sell a little liquor and they all bought from him. He was then reported to the revenue officers and arrested. They then became witnesses at ten cents per mile and $1-50 per day. Each one traveled 60 miles, and remained at court seven days, making $16 50 to each one.

The Boy and The Man.

A Swedish boy, a tough little knot, fell out the window and was severely hurt; but, with clenched lips, he kept back the cry of pain. The king, Gustavus Adolphus, who saw him fall, prophesied that that boy would make a man for an emergency. And so he did, for he became the famous General Bauer.

A woman fell off the dock in Italy. She was fat and frightened. No one of a crowd of men dared to jump in after her; but a boy struck the water almost as soon as she, and managed to keep her up until stronger arms got hold of her. Everybody said the boy was very daring, very kind, very quick, but also very reckless, for he might have been drowned. The boy was Garibaldi; and if you will read his life, you will find these were just his traits all through—that he was so alert that nobody could tell when he would make an attack with his red shirted soldiers; so indiscreet sometimes as to make his fellow patriots wish he was in Guinea, but also so brave and magnanimous that all the world, except tyrants, loved to hear and talk about him.

A boy used to crush the flowers to get the color, and painted the white side of his father's cottage in the Tyrol with all sorts of pictures, which the mountaineers gazed at as wonderful. He was the great artist Titian.

An old painter watched a little fellow who amused himself making drawings of his pots and rushes, easel, and stool and said: "That boy will beat me one day." So he did, for he was Michael Angelo.

A German boy was reading a blood and thunder novel. Right in the midst of it he said to himself: "Now, this will never do. I get too much excited over it. I can't study so well after it. So here goes!" and he flung the book out into the river. He was Fielding's "Tom Jones" philosopher.

What is Woman's Worth?

asked a fair damsel of a crusty old bachelor. He did not know, so she said: "W. O. man" (double you, O man). But a woman feels worth little if disease has invaded her system and is daily sapping her strength. For all female weaknesses, Dr. R. V. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription" stands unrivaled. It cures the complaint and builds up the system. Send 10 cents in stamps for pamphlet to World's Dispensary Medical Association, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

Beautiful Smile.

As the ice upon the mountains, when the warm breath of the summer sun breathe upon it, melts and divides into drops, each of which reflects an image of the sun; so life, in the smile of God's love, divides itself into separate forms, each bearing its own image of God's love.

How They Pray It.

The Anti-Prohibitionists have been much troubled to know how to use our Lord's prayer and vote against prohibition; so at a recent meeting of the famous M. A. B's the following prayer with variations was adopted:

Resolved, That we, the committee of Made A. Bust, adopt the following as our prayer:

"Our Father which art in Heaven, hallowed be Thy name, Thy kingdom come, (but let me vote against it.) Thy will be done on earth, as it is done in Heaven. (But I'll vote against it.) Give us this day our daily bread, (but let us sell whisky to buy it,) and forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors. And lead us not into temptations, (but give us bar-rooms to tempt others,) deliver us from evil; (but let me vote for the evil to stay.) For Thine is the kingdom, (but we must sell whisky in it,) the power and the glory, (with barrooms to give the "liberty" of 1776,) forever and ever."
"AMEN, AND AMEN."

whisky did it all.

A most brutal case of drunken depravity is reported from Ottawa, Canada. William Thompson is father of four daughters. He became dissipated and spent for liquor all he earned. He sold his eldest daughter to a Chinaman and compelled her to marry him at the point of a revolver, and spent the money for whisky. His wife died of a broken heart, and in a drunken reverie he bartered two of his daughters for whisky, and they were compelled to lead a life of shame with miserable, dirty Chinamen and Indians. Who says whisky only hurts those who drink it!
