Mrs. H. T. Davis and daughter are visiting friends in Hickory.

Royster & Martin has every shape imaginable in their hat window.

Mr. Joe Tatem and Mrs. Mollie Reid of Catawba spent Sunday in Hickory.

Rev. Sam Small, evangelist and prohibitionist, is said to be very ill at his home in Atlanta, Ga.

Col. L. L. Polk, editor of the Progressive Farmer, was in the City, Tuesday, en route to Lenoir.

In the absence of the local editor the "old man" is responsible for the shortcomings of this paper.

Mr. J. N. Bohannon will soon have a handsome residence erected on his lot West of the Methodist Church.

Miss Florence Shuford returned to Hickory last Thursday after spending some months with relatives in Chicago.

A collision of street cars this week in Asheville slightly wounded some passengers with broken glass and injured the coaches.

The President is expected to visit Texas at an early day, and Charlotte is asking the pleasure of honoring him on his way through.

A letter from Lincolnton says they had a severe hailstorm in that section last Sunday evening, slightly damaging crops and fruit.

If gossips only knew how sensible people "sized them up," and disbelieved what they say of their neighbors there would be less gossip.

Lost—On Tuesday morning, at the iron spring, a silver cup. The finder will be paid a fair price by returning the same to this office.

A good two story house, for sale or rent, beautiful location, near German Reformed Church. Apply to 224. J. N. Bohannon.

H. A. Murrill, local editor, is on a trip to New York to buy new material and machinery for the further improvement of our paper and job office.

Mr. T. H. Cobb, formerly of Lincolnton has been elected city attorney for Asheville. The city is to be congratulated on its selection of an attorney.

The whitewashing about the mineral spring gives the surroundings a neat and cheery appearance. Let the ditch be opened and the spring cleaned out for the public health.

Mr. Seabolt, of McKinney, Tex. is in town prospecting with a view of opening a large tin establishment.

Lyman—Mr. Seabolt has formed a partnership with Mr. H. T. Harris, which firm will run a first-class tin works here.

Dr. P. H. Wever will deliver a diagram and experimental lecture at the Lutheran Seminary, Tuesday evening, June 4th, on "The Eye, and the Laws of Light," for the benefit of the Students' Reading Society. Doors open at 7:30; lecture at 8. Admission, 10c.

Fell 30 Feet Into The Well.

While Mr. Pierce Bass was drawing water at the well last Sunday his little four-year-old daughter was leaning against the box which had been removed the week before for cleaning out the well and had not been fastened. As Mr. Bass leaned to pour the water from the well bucket the box fell over leaving an opening into which the child pitched head foremost about 30 feet into the well. The well is 36 feet deep and had five or six feet of water coming near the top of the rock wall. The child struck the wall and has a severe cut on the back of her head and neck. It seems miraculous that she was not killed. Her father hallowed to her to catch the well rope which she did and held until he went down and got hold of her. She is doing well, but had a narrow escape from death from the carelessness of the man who cleaned out the well and left the box unfastened.

High-way Robbery.

Two or three weeks ago Dick Bradford and another negro boy enticed a white boy, a son of D. A. Abernethy, into the woods near town, beat him severely and robbed him. They left and this week Dick was caught in Statesville, brought back and is now in jail awaiting the action of the grand jury and an interview with Frank Osbourne and Judge Connor on a question of highway robbery.

New Arrivals.

Miss Fry, daughter of J. C. Fry and wife, arrived in Hickory Monday morning.

Jeff. Bolch beats the record with a son weighing 12½ pounds, net, who arrived Sunday morning.

Wards No. 1 and 3 yet to hear from.

The Commencement at Highland will take place on the evening of June 13th. On that occasion the address before the students will be delivered by Hon. F. H. Busbee of Raleigh. All are most cordially invited to attend and witness the closing exercises of the school.

Salisbury was recently visited by a severe wind and hailstorm. Hailstones from the size of hickory nuts to a man's fist covered the ground. All window lights on the east side of houses were broken, tin and iron roofs were badly cut, and crops and fruit much damaged.

When the "New Arrivals" were read in last issue, the modest mothers upbraided the proud fathers for "boasting about it all about town." Don't be hard on them, ladies; it is their first paternal experience and they must be allowed a little room to talk.

The French Broad Hotel, near the depot in Asheville, was burned last Sunday night from the explosion of a lamp in a servant's room about 10:30 P. M. We suppose "The Last Chance" bar-room went with it.

The Governor offers a reward of $200 for the capture of Joe Russell, who is charged with the murder of David Tompkins in Alleghany county.

Millions of caterpillars are impeding the work of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

A SPEECH BY CLEVELAND.

"WE KNOW WE HAVE NOT TRAFFICKED PRINCIPLES FOR SUCCESS."

Cleveland Has No Apologies.

NEW YORK, May 27.—The banquet at the Fifth Avenue Hotel this evening, tendered to ex-President Cleveland by the Young Men's Democratic Club, of this city, was in every way a successful and enjoyable event. The guests included many scores of the leading Democrats of the nation. Among them were: Gov. Hill, Mayor Grant, ex-Minister Phelps, W. L. Scott, Chauncey F. Black, J. E. Russell of Massachusetts, Bourke Cockran, ex-Secretary Fairchild, F. R. Coudert, W. C. P. Breckinridge, ex-Gov. Hoadley, P. A. Collins, D. S. Lamont, O. B. Potter and many others. Letters of regret were read from ex-Secretary Bayard, Don M. Dickinson, Eitz-hugh Lee, John W. Daniel and others.

Following is extract from Grover Cleveland's speech:

When we seek for the cause of the perpetuity of the Democratic party and its survival through every crisis and emergency, and in the face of all opposition, we find it in the fact that its corner-stone is laid in devotion to the rights of the people, and sympathy with all things which tend to the advancement of their welfare and happiness. Though heresy may sometimes have crept in to its organization, and though party conduct may at times have been influenced by the stiffness which is the habitual device of its opponents, there has always remained deeply imbedded in its nature and character that spirit of true Americanism and that love of popular rights which has made it indestructible in disaster and defeat, and has constituted it a boom to the country in its time of triumph and supremacy.

We know that we have espoused the cause of right and justice. We know that we have not permitted the country to await upon expediency. We know that we have not trafficked our principles for success. We know that we have not deceived the people with false promises and pretenses. And we know that we have not corrupted nor betrayed the poor with the money of the rich.

Who can say that these things promise no reward, and that triumph shall not follow the enlightened judgment and the sober second thought of our countrymen? There are to-day no weak, weary and despondent members of the true Democracy—and there should be none. Thoughtful attention to political parties is thoroughly aroused. Events are day by day leading men to review the reasons for their affiliations, and the supporters of the principle we profess are constantly recruited by intelligent, young and sturdy adherents.

Let us deserve their confidence; and shunning all ignoble practices, let us remain steadfast to Democratic faith and to the cause of our country. If we are true and loyal to these, the day of our triumph will surely and quickly come, and our victory shall be fairly, nobly won, through the invincible spirit of true Democracy.

It is generally supposed in this section that Brother Daniels would prefer that Brother McLaurin would practice "More Tolerance."

Work or Move.

The new Mayor of Asheville seems to be the right man in the right place. The Citizen says Simon Butler, colored, charged with vagrancy was ordered to find work at once or leave the city. The Mayor says he is determined to stop the loafing business in Asheville, as it should be stopped everywhere. Idle, loafing, lazy buck negroes should be made to work or move. The Citizen further says:

"Gamblers, proprietors of and frequenters of house of ill-fame in the city will also be vigorously dealt with, and the full penalty of the law inflicted in each case brought before him, by the reform mayor during his term of office."

Is there no such enforcement of law needed in Hickory, or has our Mayor weakened in the back? A rigid enforcement of the law in these cases often saves the community from pecuniary loss and moral disgrace.

They All Have Them Here.

There is a church in New York which supplies every one of its families with a religious newspaper. Every church ought to see about that.—Our Church Paper.

If Brother Henkel would start out to canvass for a secular paper he would be astonished to find every body takes a church paper. That's the reason we get for refusing to take ours, and when one says he is not able to take but one paper we always advise him to stick to his church paper. Nearly all take them in this section.

Work is progressing rapidly upon the new cemetery grounds. Walks, drives, mounds and lots are being laid out in the most modern and artistic manner. The ground is located most advantageously and when in a state of completion will prove beyond question the most beautiful and attractive portion of the city. Honor of the dead is glory for the living.

In Alleghany county, on Sunday, the 19th instant, a mulatto named Joe Russell shot down and instantly killed a venerable white man named David D. Tompkins, near Sparta. There was no provocation whatever for the crime. Governor Fowle today offered a reward of two hundred dollars for Russell.

J. B. Connelly was tried in Statesville last Saturday on the charge of embezzeling $500 left in his care by one Plyler, now dead, and was acquitted. He was also tried for not making report as Clerk and acquitted. There were other cases tried, the result of which are not known as we go to press.

Since writing of the mayors and the vagrant law we have been asked to call attention to one Adams who swears he will starve before he will work, and is imposing himself on the extorted hospitality of a family in east Hickory. He needs attention.

The North Carolina Teachers' Assembly will meet at Morehead City on June 18th and continue in session two weeks. Let all the teachers come. Plenty of room and plenty of good, wholesome food, and all the pleasures of a sea-side resort. Don't forget the day.—The Atlantic.

St. Paul Seminary.

May 22nd was a glad day for the Lutheran Seminary in Hickory. The board of directors had met the day before, transacted part of its business, and given us the information that two of our best Lutheran friends had each agreed to give twenty dollars per month to our institution.

Wednesday was a cool day and threatened rain, but a good audience assembled at the Seminary to hear the addresses. The people expected something fine, and they were not disappointed. Rev. E. L. S. Tressel, of Baltimore, Md., delivered the dedicatory address. In the introduction he touched upon the strange spectacle of Lutherans dedicating to their own use, a once Roman Catholic property. He then showed the founding of a true school to be upon earnest prayer; its success upon the help of God; and therefore the people should rejoice. The address was delivered in Rev. Tressel's usual earnest and spirited style and held the strict attention of the audience.

The address at 2 o'clock, p. m. was delivered by Prof. Schuette, of Columbus, Ohio. It was full of good sayings and showed some of the gold and the glitter of the gold that is in an earnest christian.

The speaker insisted that the first requisite of a theological Professor and students in a Seminary is christian life; the second Christian love. We have not heard a better and more compact address. Besides the keen penetration and profound knowledge, the speaker brought to his aid some of the logic and philosophy which a theologian may possess. H.

Mr. W. O. Hightower, of Asheville, was in to see us Monday. He is agent for the "Complete School Charts," a valuable help to teachers and pupils in any and all schools. It has the warm endorsement of our County Superintendent, who is a practical and experienced educator, and no doubt many of our school committees will order it in the public schools.

It gives us unmixed pleasure to know that Mr. T. B. Kingsbury has so soon re-entered journalistic life. He is on the editorial staff of the Wilmington Messenger which must add to its already great popularity and make it surely the leading and most popular daily in the South. The Messenger is to be congratulated on its new acquisition.

Capt. S. B. Alexander was advertised to speak to the Alliance men in Newton last Friday. We desired to hear him, but were informed the speech would be in secret session, within closed doors, and we did not go down.

The Atlantic is a new venture on the sea of journalism, at Morehead City. It is a neat paper and extensively advertises the attractions and comforts of Morehead City and Beaufort.

Queen Victoria celebrated her 70th birthday last Friday, the 24th inst. She has reached the scriptural age—three score and ten.
