ARRIVING AT PEACE

Ending of the Potsdam conference, a gathering in which it has been shown that President Truman carried full weight as highest representative of the United States, clears the way for whatever of diplomatic action may be taken in the war against Japan. The Big Three carefully avoided statements on what is to come for Japan, but there is in the Potsdam report an admission that the Jap anese program was discussed, and probably at greater length than the few lines of comment indicate.

the decentralization of industry, the re-allocation of territory and the shifting of German populations out of non-German territory, were expected. Full effects of the gathering at Potsdam, owing to the totally inadequate news reports that have trickled out, will be a long time in coming out or being felt, but the public, on the basis of what it does know can afford to feel that the conferees did that which they set out to do, and with a minimum of friction.

BIGGER AND BETTER

The South Boston Post Office, according to notices from newspapers there, has become first class. Remembering what Postmaster L. M. Carlton, of Roxboro, has said in the Courier-Times as to how near the Roxboro Post Office is to that same classification, we are constrained to observe that South Boston, Va., is not so much larger than Roxboro, if as large. We won't offend our friends in either of the two cities by saying that size has anything to do with civic quality, although we are naturally prepared to stand up for Roxboro at any and all times, but we do think Roxboro rates a first class Post Office status just as much as does South Boston, and not even the knowledge that such ratings are in part or in whole based uppostal receipts can shake us from that belief.

Maybe Roxboro and Person folks had better get busy and buy more stamps to send more letters and that kind of thing. We just can't afford to let South Boston get chesty, not even when the next governor of the Commonwealth of Virginia appears to be destined to come from there before this coming Tuesday's sun has set. And we don't give a hang if the Postmaster at South Boston has been laboring under the delusion that the bigger

WHO IS CRAZY AND HOW LONG?

Sheer horror wells up in the mind in contemplation of the Sanford story of last week about Mrs. Mattie Lee Copeland, 48, of Broadway, who took three lives, those of a sister and two grandchildren, besides her own ,in a few moments of slashing throats and veins with a straight-edged razor. Contained in the narrative is a paragraph saying that Mrs. Copeland suffered a nervous break- Greensboro Daily News down in 1927 after her husband had been killed in an automobile accident, that she was treated in an institution for about a year and was thought to be improving.

No other basis for the tragedy is revealed, but what comes out is enough to suggest the size of the responsibility of those charged with arriving at the sanity or insanity of persons committed to institutions. The task is delicate, even when the judges concerned are doctors and psychiatrists familiar with the workings of the human mind. No doubt many people suffering mental unbalance are detained longer in institutions than is necessarv, while others are released much quicker than conditions warrant, but the Copeland case serves as a reminder of other and similar instances in which wholesale family slayings have come about through the mistaken kindness of releasing to the public and their families persons whose mental condition is tunate to have their children's ton-

It is our responsibility to make the home town the fine community that the fighting man has dreamed of while thousands of miles away in the grim business of war.

PLEASURES OF PUBLISHING

Over in Asheville, Virginia Terrell Lathrop is doing something worth while by getting out "The Southern Packet," an attractive pamphlet, the first issue of which came out in June, with one aim: "To make southern books easy to find." It proposes to bring to the attention of southerners books about the south which they might otherwise overlook, such as "Practical Farming for the South," by Benjamin F. Bullock, "Straight Down a Crooked Lane," by Martha Byrd Porter and "When 'We're Green We Grow," by Jane S. McKimmon. It's a good idea. Southerners ought to get better acquainted with their region. There are plenty of good books about it; the only trouble is that other R. B. sections of the country read them and we
