ball team," UNC coach Mack Brown said. It was, perhaps, the best defense that UNC has ever played.

But when Jones left for the Tampa Bay Buccaneers, some wondered if the tide would unravel. After all, last year UNC was accused of having a bend-but-don't-break attitude.

And that defense fed the offense, another overblown question mark entering the season. As expected, UNC's staple option was wiped clean from its playbooks Saturday, replaced by offensive coordinator Greg Davis' West Coast-style passing scheme.

He seemingly made the right one. On the next series, UNC scored via a 67-yard dash by tailback Leon Johnson that set up his one-yard TD for a 7-0 lead, and Keldorf's — and everyone else's — confidence was back intact.

Keldorf, after the interception, coming right back," Brown said. "He didn't seem to panic, he handled the pressure of the day, the pressure of the game real well, so I was really pleased with him."

"I feel like we answered a lot of questions for our fans," Ellis said. "Now they know we're a good, tough football team."
