

Why did State Senator Teena Little vote for the budget bill which:

- Slashed UNC's Budget
- Had little money in it to clean up our rivers
- Cut the UNC Hospital Budget
- Had no health insurance money for grad students

Her priorities seem to lie elsewhere...

She receives major campaign contributions from:

- The anti-environmental PACs—who want to rollback environmental protection, continue to pollute our air and water and build more loop roads. ($2725 and growing*)
- Banks who want to help preserve their 54 million dollar tax loophole. That's money that could go a long way to helping clean up our rivers and meet other important state needs. ($6675 and growing*)
- The Utility PACs that want to build the largest nuclear waste dump in the country right here in the Triangle...Just a few miles away from UNC. ($4100 and growing*)

Is it any wonder Senator Little voted against Campaign Finance Reform?

Seminole defense destroys Jackets

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
ATLANTA — No. 3 Florida State's defense put on another stifling display Saturday night, keeping Georgia Tech out of the end zone and scoring twice itself on Lamont Green's 56-yard interception return and Peter Boulware's blocked punt in a 49-3 rout.

The Seminoles (7-0, 6-0), long known for their offensive prowess, have been winning games this season on the other side of the line. It was the third time they have held an opponent without a touchdown.

Georgia Tech (5-3, 4-3 in the ACC) was hoping for a nationally-televised upset to lock up its first bowl bid since 1991.

Florida State came out struggling on offense and actually trailed 3-0 at the end of the first quarter. But the FSU defense finally decided enough was enough, igniting a 28-point second quarter with touchdowns by Green, a reserve linebacker, and strong safety Shevin Smith.

On the first play from scrimmage, Florida State quarterback Thad Busby's pass was intercepted by Brian Wilkins at the Seminoles 34. But Tech could manage only one first down and had to settle for a 35-yard field goal by Brad Chambers for a 3-0 lead less than three minutes into the game.

It was the first time that an opponent has scored first against the Seminoles, and only the second time Florida State has trailed all year.

Florida State was forced to punt on its next three possessions, but Tech couldn't add to its lead.

Cavaliers crush Duke

DURHAM — George Welsh couldn't wait to get on the bus.

It wasn't as if 16th-ranked Virginia had engaged in a dogfight with winless Duke. Actually, Tiki Barber rushed for 125 yards and two touchdowns Saturday as the Cavaliers erupted in the second quarter and posted a 27-3 victory. Yet, Welsh was ready to go home.

"I'm glad it's over. I don't have to come back here until '98," Welsh said.

"I think this is a tough place to play, unless they're winning, and then they have crowds," he said. "If they're not winning, they don't have any crowds and it's dull. It's a tough place to play. You have to generate your own excitement."

Duke drew an announced crowd of 28,276, but Virginia helped send many of them home early.

Barber, who got 97 yards in the first half, helped the Cavaliers (6-2, 4-2) beat the Blue Devils for the seventh time in the last eight meetings. Duke (0-8, 0-5) avoided its first shutout in three seasons on Sims Lenhardt's 26-yard field goal with 1:04 to play.

Tigers trounce Terps to stay in bowl chase

CLEMSON, S.C. — It wasn't a shutout, but Clemson's 35-3 romp over Maryland on Saturday was another sweet moment in a season that has turned from turbulence to triumph.

With their fourth victory in five games, the Tigers (5-3, 4-2) are in the thick of the bowl chase and bearing down on another late-season revival.

"Our backs are still against the wall," Clemson coach Tommy West said, "but this team has shown it's got something to it."

Against Maryland (4-5, 2-4), the Tigers showed solid running, a crackling defense and the resiliency to overcome the loss of leading receiver Tony Horne.

Clemson got two 1-yard touchdown runs from Emory Smith, eight sacks and many big defensive plays, and some poor execution by Maryland.

"We just know how to pick up and stay focused," cornerback Peter Ford said. "We started playing the way we should've all year."

Even quarterback Brian Cummings' return from a serious concussion two weeks ago was not enough to help the Terps, who managed just 45 yards in the first half and 113 for the game.

Falcons notch 1st win as Panthers' road woes continue

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
ATLANTA — Cornelius Bennett collapsed face down on the turf, his hands patting the ground in childlike joy.

The Atlanta Falcons had won a game. Finally.

"It's been a long time coming," said Bennett, who signed with the Falcons during the offseason and never imagined it would take until Sunday to experience his first victory, 20-17 over the Panthers.

"You don't know the joy I have inside of me right now," Bennett said. "It's just an unbelievable feeling, knowing that all the hard work we've put in is finally paying off."

Atlanta, the last winless team in the NFL, lost its first eight games. But Jamal Anderson rushed for a career-high 109 yards, and the maligned Atlanta defense shut down Carolina after QB Kerry Collins went out with an injured knee early in the third quarter.

The Panthers routed Atlanta 29-6 in the season opener to begin the Falcons' slide and mark Carolina as a possible playoff contender. The Panthers (5-4), however, have lost four of their last six games — all on the road.

"Hey, you only get eight home games," linebacker Sam Mills said. "You have to play those eight road games well to survive."

Even playing the NFL's worst team did not cure Carolina's woes away from Ericsson Stadium. The Panthers seemed to fall apart after Collins went out early in the third quarter, the victim of a late hit by Chuck Smith.

Collins, who completed 14 of 21 for 221 yards, remained on the turf for several minutes before hobbling off. He restrained the same left knee ligament that caused him to miss one game and parts of two others earlier in the season.

Collins accused Smith of "trying to end people's careers. There's no room for it. It was cheap, cheap, cheap."
