Pastor asks for 7 straight days of sex

FROM STAFF AND WIRE REPORTS

Rev. Ed Young of a Dallas mega-church has challenged the married congregants of his church to have sex for seven straight days. The reverend, married for 26 years and a father of four, plans to practice what he preaches.

Society promotes promiscuity, he said, and he wants to reclaim it for married couples.

He will deliver his seven-day challenge while sitting on a bed in front of the church's campus.

Earlier this year, a Florida pastor issued a 30-day sex challenge. Perhaps he had more faith in his congregants' stamina.

NOTED. A man was arrested in Florida after attempting to steal communion wafers during a church service.

The sheriff's office said that John Samuel Ricci, 33, was cornered by churchgoers after he grabbed a handful of wafers, and then was held down by six or seven offended worshippers until deputies arrived at the church. Two parishioners, ages 82 and 61, suffered minor injuries.

NOTED. Trendy, oversized purses can save lives.

Fighting off a man during an armed robbery, Elizabeth Pittenger, a 22-year-old Middle Tennessee State University student, stopped a bullet by holding her bag up as a shield.

The bullet was found inside the purse, along with a calculator, an umbrella and a small case that had been punctured.
