 ATTRACTING ATTENTION
 ABROAD.

The Inter-State Exposition in Raleigh this Fall promises to be a big affair, and the CHRONICLE believes that it will be on a much larger scale than many of our people imagine. There will be people here from all parts of the world, and exhibits will be made by every shrewd advertiser. They do not go where the promise is not good for a large crowd. The fact that many have already engaged space at the Exposition shows that they believe it will be a great occasion.

The following, copied from the Atlantic City (N. J.) Daily Union, is a significant straw showing that the wind is blowing in the direction of Raleigh and our Exposition:

J. C. Johnson has taken a space for the exhibition of his aeriated water fountains at the Southern Inter-State Exposition, to be held at Raleigh, North Carolina, from October 1st to November 1st, 1891. The space is ample for a large scenic effect and Mr. Johnson is designing a woodland scene, mountains, grottos, streams and cascades from which he will dispense soda and mineral waters. The Southern people from fourteen States and two Territories have combined to show the great natural advantages of the soil and climate and Northern manufacturers are invited to show what they have to sell. The Exposition will attract thousands of people from all parts of the Union.

WHAT THE EXPOSITION WILL DO.

The chief need of an Exposition is to learn the world something more about North Carolina and the South. That is all. The problem is not how to secure immigration. It is, rather, how to get correct information to the people who would better their condition by coming South. They are kept away by false information regarding us. They do not understand that a cordial welcome awaits them, and that here are opportunities for making wealth and position not dreamed of in the densely populated sections of our country.

We do not write of such men as ABRAM HEWITT or CHAUNCEY DEWEY. They will invest money in the South and realize 100 per cent. We are glad to see them do it. But they will not come among us to live. It is the men of small means, whose capital consists chiefly in brain and muscle, who can be induced to come. These are the men we want, and they are the men who will make the best citizens. They are the men, who like ASHLEY, of Raleigh; and CHADBOURNS and FRENCH, of New Haven have become leading and influential citizens. We want many more such citizens. We can get them by advertising our section and turning on the light. The Inter-State Exposition is the most practical way to turn on this light. Many Northern men will be here and we must make them acquainted with the true situation of the South. When we do this, the work is done and immigration will steadily flow southwardly.

Not a great while ago a gentleman from Massachusetts came South and took charge of a cotton mill, and was well pleased with the people and the town. Seeing a good opening for a friend of his, he wrote him and received the following reply:

"Yours of - inst., received and contents noted. I thank you for your kindness, but I do not think favorably of the South, as a home, and at the present do not see how I can make a change. I have looked into the matter a while ago, and have been advised not to go there."

This letter shows an undefined opposition to coming South, and the writer evidently labors under an impression that does us and our section injustice. It is not his fault, but our own fault largely. We have made too little effort to contradict, in the ears of the North the false reports that have prejudiced us in the eyes of the world.

To advise fighting the Alliance, because it makes certain demands, upon which even Alliancemen differ, would be the extreme of folly, that no man of ordinary sense would be guilty of, especially when, in the South at least, on all leading issues between the Democratic and Republican parties, eight out of ten of the Alliancemen are with the Democratic party. They may go to extremes in some things, and be in error, but the way to meet the error is by reason and argument not by driving them beyond the reach of reason and argument.—Wilmington Star.

Don't let exciting things excite. The country is not going to the demitition bow-wows. People are better than ever and the world is growing more sensible. Demagogues may clatter and try to work the people up to acting foolishly. Don't get troubled about it. The people did right in 1890 and they will do the same thing in 1892.

Why doesn't some publisher compile the Republican "tin plate" lies and issue them under the title of "Baron Munchausen Vol. 2."

With great ado it is announced that the members of the Farmer's Alliance in Virginia will act in concert with the Democratic party. Of course they will. There is nothing else reasonable for them to do. They are like North Carolina Alliancemen; they are both Democrats and Alliancemen. They know that if there is division between Democrats, the Republicans would win in both North Carolina and Virginia, and that would be a calamity which no patriotic man can contemplate unless he has lost his memory.

THINGS WE WOULD LIKE TO KNOW.

Whether BLAINE will die now, or wait awhile?

What the occupation of Innocuous Desuetude INGALLS is?

When "Dot Kaiser" will leave England, and give the Atlantic cables time to cool?

Whether PEPPER is fishing for the Presidency, or simply talking for buncombe.

Whether the New York murderers were killed or just electrocuted.

When Jonathan Breches-maker will finish his explanations.

Consumption Incurable?

Read the following, Mr. C. H. Morris, Newark, Ark., says: "Was down with Abscess of Lungs, and friends and physicians pronounced me an Incurable Consumptive. Began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, am now on my third bottle, and able to oversee the work on my farm. It is the finest medicine ever made."

Jesse Middlewart, Decatur, Ohio, says: "Had it not been for Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption I would have died of Lung Troubles. Was given up by doctors. Am now in best of health." Try it. Sample bottle free at John Y. McRae's drugstore.

Eternal Vigilance.

Is the price of health. But with all our precaution there are enemies always lurking about our systems, only waiting a favorable opportunity to assert themselves. Impurities in the blood may be hidden for years or even for generations and suddenly break forth, undermining health and hastening death. For all diseases arising from impure blood Hood's Sarsaparilla is the unequalled and unapproached remedy. It is King of them all, for it conquers disease.

Wake Up

If you wake up in the morning with a bitter or bad taste in your mouth, Languor, Dull Headache, Despondency, Constipation, take Simmons Liver Regulator. It corrects the bilious stomach, sweetens the breath and cleanses the furred tongue. Children as well as adults sometimes eat something that does not digest well, producing Sour Stomach, Heartburn, Restlessness, or Sleeplessness—a good dose of Regulator will give relief. So perfectly harmless is this remedy that it can be taken by the youngest infant or the most delicate person without injury, no matter what the condition of the system may be. It can do no harm if it does no good, but its reputation for 40 years proves it never fails in doing good.

is recommended by physicians because they see its healthy effects all around them. A leading physician in New York and director of one of the large hospitals, says, Feb. 8, 1890, he has made use of the P. P. P. sent him, and was pleased to say P. P. P. proved efficacious in a number of cases, and adds, it is no more than he should have anticipated from the satisfactory combination of such well-known drugs. A prominent railway superintendent of Savannah (name given on application) says he was crippled by a disease in legs and arms, powerless to walk or eat without assistance, having lost the use of his limbs by rheumatism, malaria, dyspepsia, etc. Physicians here sent him to New York and they returned him here, and he was as complete a wreck as one could be and live. A course of P. P. P. has made him a well man. P. P. P. is known among physicians in the South for its various and wonderful cures as the great purifier of the age.

Blood Poison

Primary, Secondary and Tertiary Syphilis, old sores, pimples, blotches, scrofula, blood and mercurial poison and skin diseases are eradicated by the use of P. P. P. Hosts of certificates are in office to show the cures in these diseases where all other medicines have failed.
