

GAY AND GLORIOUS PARIS CELEBRATES

The Fall of the Bastille— The French Capital Rejoices.

"VIVE LA REPUBLIQUE."

President Carnot Reviews the French Army at Long-Champs—A Grand Parade.

By Cable.

PARIS, July 14.—The fall of the Bastille was celebrated here today with more than usual ceremony and enthusiasm. Before 9 o'clock this morning the great thoroughfares of the city became almost impassable so crowded were they with people. The official and popular programme of the day's events is a long one. A few of its features are the inauguration of the monument to the memory of Danton in the Boulevard St. Geomay, numerous and varied entertainments for the children of the communal. By half past nine o'clock the scene which the correspondent of the United Press looked out upon from the office windows of L'Intransigent was a remarkable one. The holiday tide of the big city was in full motion and was being constantly swollen by streams of people arriving from the provinces by every incoming train. On the pavements below there moved a dense procession of humanity, kept in order and out of danger by the watchful gendarmes. In windows and on balconies, made brilliant with tasteful decorations, countless thousands of gaily dressed ladies sat or stood, eager observers of the scene everywhere being enacted. It was safe, even at that early hour, to assert that but rarely has Paris seen such an outpouring of its citizens as that of to-day. It was the coming forth of millions of those children to offer up an oblation to France; to France whether triumphant, defeated, or expectant. On the great plateau at Longchamps was reviewed at 3 o'clock the pride of the capital and hope of France, the army of Paris. Hours before a red-trousered soldier was to be seen anywhere about the great hippodrome, a living wall, made up of hundreds of thousands of human beings had closed on and around the famous race course and its grounds. Promptly at 3 o'clock, as though by magic, infantry, cavalry and artillery poured into the immense circle. Just beyond the dense masses of infantry, and emerging from a cloud of dust, came the French calvary at a trot, squadron upon squadron, dragoons and lancers. They in their turn promptly took up the ground assigned them, their waving plumes, brilliant uniforms and magnificent chargers followed by the admiring gaze of the fair dames of Paris. There was a rush of horses, a sweep of mighty caissons, a flare of red upon uniforms and of light upon gun metal and then there ascended a wild triumphant cheer. The cheering subsided as a carriage drawn by six horses and attended by an escort of cavalymen, dashed up to the reviewing stand. The general staff rides out toward the massed thousands of all arms. A gun was fired. The president of France stood bareheaded on the raised platform and then 10,000 sabres flashed in the air, the barrels of 50,000 muskets dazzled the eye, and far as sight can follow the tri-colors dipped in salutation. Fifty bands struck up "Marseillaise," then 50,000 voices took up the cries of "Vive Carnot," "Vive l'Army" and "Vive la France," but gradually these voices merged into one tremendous sound, which seemed to split the dome. The French people were greeting the republic, "Vive la Republique!" The Longchamps review was over and Paris hastened homeward for the night fete.

THE LYNCHERS MASKED.

The Parties Are Unknown—The Crime Was Apparently Trivial.

By the United Press.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 14.—A lynching without any apparent adequate cause occurred last night at Love, a small station on the Illinois Central Railroad in Desoto county, Mississippi. The victim was a negro named Samuel Gillespie. Gillespie was arrested yesterday afternoon for rescuing another negro, charged with larceny, from an officer. Instead of taking Gillespie to Hernando, the county seat and lodging him in jail, Deputy Sheriff Elder, who had charge of him, concluded to keep him confined in a room at Love until this morning. About midnight a mob of masked men forced an entrance to the room and took charge of the negro. They marched him to a tree a short distance, tied him and shot him to death. The corpse was found and twenty one bullet holes are in different parts of his body. The coroner held an inquest, the result of which was a verdict that the deceased was shot and killed by persons unknown. Gillespie was regarded as a bad negro. He had a fight with a white man about six months ago and won the battle.

SLANDERING A NORTH CAROLINA W. MAN.

If True, No Punishment Could Be Too Severe.

(Special to Richmond Times.)

DANVILLE, Va., July 13.—There comes from Rockingham county, just across the State border in North Carolina, an ugly story, which it is said, has thrown the communities of Stoneville and Madison, in that county, into a state of considerable excitement. Rev. F. J. Stone, an elder in the Primitive Baptist church, who lives at Stoneville, has a very beautiful and in every way attractive daughter, and it is alleged that James Highfill, a well-to-do farmer living near Madison, has been industrious in circulating ugly reports derogatory to the character and good name of Miss Cora Stone. These reports got into general circulation, it is alleged, through the much talking of the aforesaid Highfill, and caused Miss Stone to be debarred by Rockingham county society.

The father claims to have thoroughly investigated the ugly reports circulated by Highfill, and finding them false he swore out a criminal warrant against Highfill and had him arraigned before a justice of the peace at Madison, charging him with having "slandered the good name and fame of one, Cora Stone." Highfill waived examination by the justice and was sent on to the grand jury for indictment. Bail was required in the sum of $200, which was promptly given. The alleged slander is that Miss Stone has not obeyed the Seventh Commandment.

THE GREAT OHIO DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

The Contest Begins in Earnest To-morrow.

WILL CAMPBELL WIN.

An Immense Crowd Awaited Campbell and Thurman at the Depot in Cleveland.

By the United Press.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 14.—There have been no changes in the political situation during the past 24 hours. Gov. Campbell still holds the winning cards and the opposition now despair of being able to carry out its plans for stampeding the convention to-morrow, is contenting itself with declaring that it will play its trumps at the polls in November. Although most of the district delegations are on the ground, the anti-Campbellites do not seem to have gained any strength, while quite a number of uninstructed delegates who had been regarded as on the fence have declared in favor of the Governor's renomination. Campbell and Allen Thurman arrived at noon on a special train from Columbus. An immense crowd awaited them at the depot, hailed the appearance with enthusiastic shouts, and then formed in procession and with music escorted them to the State headquarters at the Holland House. When Allen G. Thurman told the company assembled at his birth day banquet last fall that he had bade farewell to political life he meant what he said. Great pressure has been brought to bear upon the old Roman during the past few days to induce him to come to Cleveland and use his efforts toward promoting peace among the anti-Campbellites, with whom he has considerable influence. He has however, so far resisted this pressure, and it is given out that under no circumstances will he depart from his resolution by becoming even a political peace-maker. Lt-Governor Marquis will probably be renominated as Campbell's running mate, although he is not making any campaign. For the remainder of the six places on the ticket about every other county has a candidate.

Congressman M. D. Harter, the Mansfield free trader, came to the city last night. A conference was held in his apartment this afternoon. It was anti-Campbell in sentiment.

A Chilean Naval Victory.

(By the United Press.)

SAN DIEGO, Cal., July 14.—The commander of the Mexican man of war Democatra, now lying in this harbor, received a dispatch from his government to-day, which says that a naval engagement took place off the coast of Chili two days ago between the insurgent cruiser Maegganes and several government vessels. The insurgent craft gained a decisive victory, sinking two of the opposing vessels and putting the others to flight.

CINCINNATI, July 14.—William Leive, a workman employed at Schreibers Iron Works on Eggleston avenue met with a horrible death this morning. While engaged on shifting a belt his clothing was caught and he was drawn on to the machinery. ### THE MINISTER WAS UMPIRE.

Presbyterian Girls Play Baseball With Their Best Young Men.

By the United Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio, July 14.—The white necktie of the Rev. S. B. Alderson, D. D., pastor of the Presbyterian church of Washington Court House, fluttered gayly in the breeze yesterday as he sprang nimbly around in the official capacity of umpire of a game of baseball. The match was between a nine of young women of society and a picked nine of their best young men.

The first game resulted in a score of 22 to 17 in favor of the young men, who, it must be stated, used only their left hands, as they did not wish to defeat the girls too badly.

The girls do not intend to travel or play in public. They have organized the club simply for home amusement and exercise. The players all belong to the first families of the place, as may be inferred from the fact that they succeeded in inducing the Rev. Dr. Alderson, a great admirer of the national game, to act as umpire.

The minister dodged fouls and called balls with marked skill.

RAILROAD MAGNATE'S MEET.

Jay Gould Says the Record of all the Roads is Good.

By the United Press.

NEW YORK, July 14.—The advisory board of the railroad president's association met at the Windsor hotel in this city at 11 o'clock this morning. The attendance was large, the leading western roads being represented.

Mr. Jay Gould in an interview with a reporter of the United Press said that his opinion was that the railroad men would be in session for three days. Still this was a bare possibility; that the business might be finished to-morrow. The first matter which was brought up for discussion and consideration was the abolishment of individual agencies for the establishment of joint agencies. The records of all the roads represented, Mr. Gould added, were good, owing to the economic methods adopted.

The consideration of the plan of joint agencies for the distribution of competitive business was discussed but action was postponed until the October meeting of the board. The question of car mileage was next debated and the commissioners were directed to confer with all roads whether in or out of the association, and to use their efforts to obtain a reduction in the rates of mileage. The commissioners are further directed to report at the October meeting. It was the general opinion of the meeting that the rates should be materially reduced. All the roads in the association were represented save the Rio Grande, Western and Southern Pacific. Mr. C. P. Huntington was detained by other business and could not be present.

WILL BE EJECTED.

Minister Egan Will be Unceremoniously Kicked Out.

(By the United Press.)

CHICAGO, July 14.—Wm. Hoff, a participant in the councils of the Congressional party, and who arrived in this county in the Itata, says that Minister Egan will be unceremoniously ejected from Chili as soon as the government of Balmaceda is overthrown. He declares that Egan is playing into the hands of Balmaceda to antagonize the English who are sympathizing with the revolutionists. He also charges minister Egan with causing the arrest of the Itata by notifying the Chilean minister in Washington of her errand.
