

Folks and Events

"That was a nice article on the game laws you had in this week's paper," said Hunter Pinnell, game warden, when he stopped me in front of the drug store Saturday afternoon. Put in the paper that I'm going to work," said Jerman Hunter, who was confabbing as he leaned on a shovel handle.

"I weighed just as much as I did before I was sick three weeks," said John W. Allen, who looked pretty chipper as he moved along Main street here this week. "They told me that I was not losing much. The scales say now that I weigh the same 172 pounds and I'm feeling good, too."

Sam Palmer, who deals in stocks and bonds and who calls Richmond home, was in town this week. Sam seems glad always to get back to Warrenton.

The first boll of new cotton to be brought to Warrenton came this week to the office of The Warren Record from the farm of R. A. Carroll of near Warren Plains, one of the best farmers of the county. Mr. Carroll said that there was another boll on the same stalk.

Correcting an impression about our USED CARS

WE HAVE sometimes found the impression prevailing that we will not accept anything but a used Ford car in trade for a new Model A. That is not a fact. Many cars—in both high and low price classes—are being constantly traded in for the new Ford.

If you're in the market for a used car, come to our showroom. Thousands of miles of unused transportation are represented there in cars awaiting second owners. And each one is priced at just what it is worth. There is no "price padding" or inflation to permit us to recoup excessive trade-in allowances. The price of the Model A is so low that excessive allowances for used cars are impossible.

You can take advantage of this situation. Act now! Come and see these bargains

THE TORCH

A department conducted for The Warren County Memorial Library. By MABEL DEVIS The Librarian

Another week will bring about changes in routine affairs, for the opening of school affects nearly every one, directly or indirectly. To one group a new world is to be explored, and armed with pencil and primer they will go forth to blaze their own trails. To another, that group just ready to enter college, the change is no less significant, and to all who will attend school, from primary grade to university, the opening of school quickens the heart beats and gives purpose to youthful activities.

This, from Merle Thorpe, in the Nation's Business, is food for thought:

"Here in America we have said to our boys and girls: 'You can go to the very top in any line of endeavor. The sky's the limit. Your destiny lies not in your birth or heritage. Your destiny is in your own hands.'

"How well this philosophy has worked out in political life! It has permitted a farmer boy from Vermont to attain the highest position a democracy has to offer. It permitted nine boys who earned their own way in life without economic inheritance, eight by manual labor, to sit with the twelve men forming a White House Cabinet.

"On the industrial side this philosophy has its dramatic manifestations. A Detroit boy, sending himself out as a bicycle repairer, is perhaps the richest man in the world.

"Our prosperity is a result of a novel and truly American political and industrial philosophy—a great human principle that can be put into five words; Individual Reward for Individual Merit."

The return of the teachers, city and county, and the groups of boys and girls who frequent the library always bring a thrill to the librarian. Like them, I too welcome the opening of school.

The September meeting of the Book Committee will be held at the library at 11 o'clock on Friday, Sept. 6th.

The library is indebted to Nancy Ellis, Mrs. C. E. Jackson and Mrs. C. R. Rodwell for books contributed during the week. New Juvenile books are "Jimsey", Van Dresser; "Dog of Flanders" (abridged form) Ouida; "Stories from an Indian Cave", Bailey. Other additions are; "By Soochow Waters", Miln; "They Stood to Folly", Glasgow; "How It Happened", Boshier. To the National Electric Light Association the library is indebted for a copy of "Government (Political) Ownership and Operation and the Electric Light and Power Industry".

Protection

The day by day work of a life time given to building a business, may be swept away in hours time by a fire. Good will is the only thing that can't burn, but your good will will not profit you very much if you are not in a position to carry on. That's where insurance comes in.

Do You

REALIZE

The Facts Listed Here

That everybody wants to save money; you save money when you buy advertised goods and buy it in your own home city.

That there are two ways to spend money; spend it at home where you and your city will get some benefit from it, and to spend it in some other city where that city will benefit. Help your own home city!

That economy is not only in the saving of money, but it is also in the intelligent spending of it.

That opportunity is knocking at the door of every thrifty bargain-wise person who reads the ads.

That the newspapers are the greatest get-together medium for the buyer and the seller.

That in many cities there has always existed, and always will exist, a feeling on the part of a large number of the buying public that prices charged by the home merchants are higher than those charged by the merchants of other cities.

That it is quite natural that this mistake should be made in some cities, especially in those cities where the merchants do little advertising and the people have little knowledge of what is sold at home.

The cities where the merchants are heavy advertisers always draw much trade from those cities whose merchants are not up-to-date and do not advertise.

FALL A COMING

It feels like Fall for sure this morning, and the cry, "wagon in the road", seems to be the appropriate cry. The market here this Fall is going to be a humdinger, and many wagons will bring their produce to town. Visitors are always welcomed here.

A visitor in Hollywood met an old friend, now a movie director, who invited him to visit the studio, stating that during the next afternoon they expected to film Lady Godiva riding a horse down the boulevard.

"Sure, I'll come," said the friend, "it's a long time since I saw a horse."

The class was having its weekly talk on painting, and teacher said, "Sir Joshua Reynolds was able, with a single stroke of his brush, to change a smiling face into a frowning one."

"That's nothing," muttered little Jimmy, "my maw can do that."

Golfer—"Hi, caddie! Isn't Major Pepper out of that bunker yet? How many strokes has he had?"

Caddie—"Seventeen ordinary, sir, and one apoplectic!"

"How's your car running?"

"Not so good. I can't keep it throttled down."

"How's your wife?"

"Oh, she's about the same."

"Honestly, now, you would never have thought this car of mine was one I had bought second-hand, would you?"

"Never in my life. I thought you had made it yourself."

"Home of The Western Union"

Many of the boys who wore the khaki in the last war made whoopee at Raleigh this week at the Legion convention. It was some conclave, buddy, and every one seemed to enjoy it. Many of the fair dames enjoyed the convention, too.

Vacation time is about over and the boys and girls, too, are coming on back to their jobs. Summer has trotted by in a hurry with us.

He—"You haven't said a word for twenty minutes."

She—"Well I didn't have anything to say."

He—"Don't you ever say anything when you have nothing to say?"

She—"No."

He—"Well, then, will you be my wife?"

"Now, Mary, when you bathe the baby, be sure and use the thermometer to test the water."

Returning an hour later, the mistress asked: "Did you use the thermometer?"

"No, ma'm. I can tell without that. If it's too hot, the baby turns red, and if it's too cold, he'll turn blue."

Customer—"I should like to try that frock on in the window."

Assistant—"Sorry, madam, but the management will not allow that. Would you care to try it on in our private fitting room?"

"A boy Scout doesn't procrastinate."

"No," agreed the small wearer of khaki. "That's why I always do my good deed first thing in the morning and get the darned thing over with."
