

WISE P. T. A. IS REORGANIZED

Mrs. J. F. J. Milam Named President Of Organization At Meeting Tuesday

PUBLISHES HONOR ROLL

WISE, Oct. 17.—The most important event of the week for the Wise high school was the re-organization of the Parent-Teachers association at the school building on Tuesday evening. The auditorium was fairly well filled and the enthusiasm of the patrons was distinctly noticeable.

Mrs. M. H. Hayes, vice president, presided and appointed the nominating committee at the beginning of the meeting to suggest officers for the present session. The following officers were unanimously elected:

President, Mrs. J. F. J. Milam; vice president, Mr. C. W. Cole; secretary, Mrs. H. E. Coleman; treasurer, Mrs. M. H. Hayes.

Miss Lillie Belle Dameron of Warrenton was present and with the aid of a part of her Warrenton high school music class, gave a demonstration of the Kinsella method of teaching piano. Those present were very much interested in Miss Dameron's class and method and the P. T. A. hopes to organize a similar class, to be directed by Miss Dameron, in the Wise high school.

Another outstanding feature of the program was the introduction of Mrs. W. A. Connell of Warren Plains who gave a very inspiring talk on the assistance rendered by "Grade Mothers" in class room work. Her suggestions were very timely and plans were made for carrying them out in the future in connection with our school work.

The faculty has been busy for the last week working after school and during recess in making changes in the library. The school has more than a thousand books, all of which are being re-cataloged and a more efficient system of filing put in.

All students who have maintained an average of 90 or above in class work and attendance have been listed in honor roll, which follows:

- 1st Grade—Francis Harris, James B. King, John Levi Perkinson, Edward White, Dorothy Gooch, Mary Newell Ross, Mildred Whitmore, Dora Whitmore, Odell Williams.
- 2nd. Grade—Margaret St. Sing,

Margaret Thompson, William White, Sol Perkinson, Anna Lee Copeley.

3rd. Grade—Walter Paschall, Lewis Gooch, Stella Mae Williams, Everette King.

4th. Grade—Margaret Harris, Hazel Perkinson, Joe Ross.

5th. Grade—Mildred Coleman.

10th. Grade—Alice Ellis, Laura Mae Hilliard.

11th. Grade—Janet Paschall.

Two Home Specialists Join College Staff

Miss Myra Woodruff and Miss Elizabeth Cornelius have been added to the staff of the home demonstration department at State College to do special work in research and girls' clubs.

Miss Woodruff will not be available for field work as are the other specialists in the home demonstration department since her activity will be confined entirely to research matters under the direction of the North Carolina Experiment Station. She is a graduate of Oberlin College with a Master's degree from Columbia University. She has also completed most of her studies leading to a Doctor's degree. Miss Woodruff has specialized in child development and parental education and one of her first projects will be a study of the standards of living data which have been accumulated by the Department of Rural Sociology.

Miss Cornelius has been home agent in Davidson county for about five years and during that time has shown marked ability in girls' club work. Her promotion was made for the purpose of using her talents in the larger state field. Miss Cornelius will work with home demonstration agents and club leaders in developing better 4-H club work throughout the State. In this she will be associated with L. R. Harrill, State club leader.

These two appointments will aid the home demonstration department to serve the farm homes of North Carolina much more efficiently than in the past, says Mrs. Jane S. McKimmon. The College has never had adequate research on which to develop its home demonstration activities nor has it had a specialist who could give her whole time to work with the rural girls. The enlarged program made possible by these two appointments will be of tremendous value, she says.

PETER AND ME IN MILWAUKEE

Another week has passed and Peter and I are still holding forth and enjoying our work here. The school is constantly growing in enrollment and in equipment. Another motor came in this week and new welding equipment is expected daily. After a month Pete and I have been transferred to the welding section, and it is extremely interesting. In case our dear readers aren't familiar with the construction of an airplane, welding takes a very important part, and you can bet Pete and I are getting everything possible from this instruction.

After a month of welding we will be transferred to the (I. C.) wing building department, from there we go to the assembling department and then back to our second round on motors. There are three such rounds for each student. There is also at every class a period of theory, made especially clear and interesting by our chief instructor, Mr. Prescott, more familiarly known as "Press". Once each week another of our able instructors, Mr. Clark by name, also gives us an interesting lesson on designing.

What is most dreaded by all students came to pass this week end when our quarterly exams. came due. These exams are fashioned after the Department of Commerce, and are given every four months, the fourth of which must be passed by the student. While the examinations are hard, these two Carolinians aren't worrying for we have eleven months more here and if we can't pass we will be ready to come home. Not until then, however.

Peter and I had planned last Sunday to go out and take some pictures but it rained all day so we put it off until this Sunday afternoon. We thought this morning that again we would have to postpone our plans as it was cloudy and looked of rain, but old Sol did himself proud and shone forth in all his splendor to create one of the finest afternoons we have had since being here.

So Peter and I went forth to that beautiful Memorial Lakeside Drive to give my little box kodak a severe test. Here's hoping that it withstood the test for we really did get some fine views. On our way back with only one more negative in the box Pete and I matched to see who would be the one shot. I lost and as he was snapping me, three young ladies, yes, very young, from 8 to 12, I would say, halted their pace near us, and one of the trio surprised us with the remark, "take my picture too." Come on over she was told and so together, unknown to Pete or I, this young lady and I had our beauty struck. Here's hoping.

On one of those foggy nights of last week just as Peter and I turned in for the night, we could hear rather distinctly what I took to be the lowing of a cow. "Listen Pete, do you hear that cow lowing?" Rather disgustedly Pete came back, "That's a Fcg Horn, nut, turn over and go to sleep." Good-night.

SAFETY

A bank's first obligation to its depositors

Safety is fundamental to sound banking. No other consideration is so important.

A bank assumes its most serious obligation when it accepts the funds and the confidence of its depositors. This trust must not be violated.

This institution is governed by firmly established policies which permit of no deviation from the principles of sound banking practice. There is safety in its resources. There is safety in its conservative, prudent, far-seeing management. There is safety in its counsel.

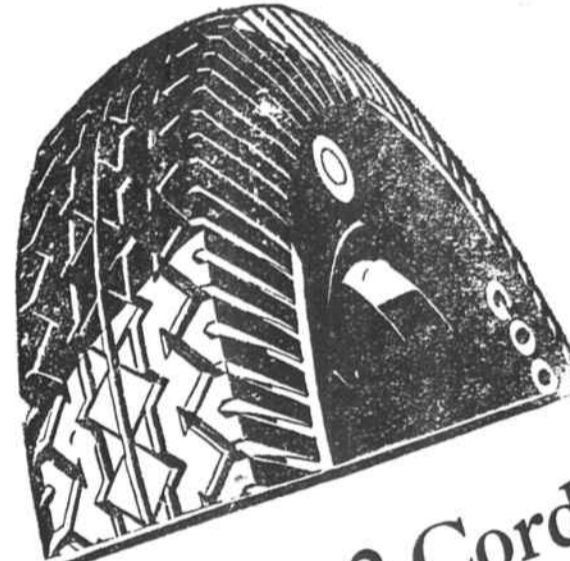

Protection of depositors has always been and always will be our chief concern. It is our purpose to be a safe bank, first and last.
