Two Little Fellers Needin' a Friend

NEW YORK . . . They were captured in the mountain wilds of China; they have traveled more than 10,000 miles; they are still less than a year old . . . and now they are housed in the New York zoo . . . where milk and honey seems plentiful. They are "mystery" cubs, zoologists now trying to decide whether they are Himalayan Browns, Oriental Grizzlies, Black Bears . . . or some rare and unknown species. Photo shows "Scotch" and "Soda" upon their arrival, being fed by Miss Florence La Baue who gained their friendship aboard ship.

In Memoriam

VAN KEARNY DAVIS

On January 25, 1934, Van Kearny Davis passed from the troubled and trying experiences of this life to his eternal reward. Van had known for some time that his days were numbered, and that his time here in this old world of trouble and sorrow was well nigh spent. Thus consciously did he live up to the very last when the summons came calling him out of his father's and mother's home into the great beyond.

Van was a great sufferer, yet a patient and non-complaining sufferer. Through his patient suffering he drew more closely those near and dear to him to respect and admire the fine quality of his soul in his resignation to the inevitable. He enjoyed fellowship with his pastor and communion together in prayer. He believed in prayer. He had faith in God.

The birth of Van was March 11, 1899. At the age of 13 he joined Shady Grove Methodist church. He was married to Miss Crichton Alston Thorne Feb. 6, 1921.

He leaves a wife and two dear children, Jean and Van Jr., a devoted mother, who proved her devotion in loving loyalty to her son until the last, a fond loving father, J. B., three brothers, Henry W. of Seattle, Wash., J. Boyd and Wm. S. Davis, one sister, Mrs. W. T. Burton Jr. to mourn their loss.

May God, our Heavenly Father,

In His infinite wisdom, so guide each of the bereaved that there shall be no hopeless or lonely hours.
His pastor,
