BEHIND NO GLITTERING BARS
 Our hidden poems are birds, our hands too weak
 To prison them with glittering bars of thought
 There is so much the burdened heart would speak
 But the loveliest birds that soar are never caught.

We long to capture but our grasp is vain.
 No cage of speech can hold their lustrous wings.
 Through amber dusk or lilac-scented rain
 They are the songs no poet ever sings.

Clever Street Suit
 Pattern 8172: Gracious and charming is this two-piece suit, designed with so much cleverness and restraint as to be equally useful and becoming to women of any age and any size.

One may choose from a wide range of materials, with the result of making one's suit very individual and distinctive. First suggestion is that hardy perennial, black and white, then comes the plain with print and after that more subtle combinations come to one's mind, such as brown with ashes of roses or chartrreuse green, and blue.

For PATTERN, send 15 cents in coin (for each pattern desired) your NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE to Patricia Dow, Warren Record Pattern Dept., 115 Fifth Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y.
