FEAST AFTER ABSENCE
The meat shall be, now you are here,
The swift flesh of your laughter.

For wine give me your kiss' fire;
Naught less can slack my thirst,
And lesser food would make desire
A bitter ache accrue.

And if the feast you bring shall be
But brief, I shall not care.
What knows if I shall stay to see
The splendid table bare?
—Merle Price.

THE WISE ARE THRIFTY

Every successful business man realizes that thrift is the Touchstone of Achievement.

IN YEARS OF PLENTY OR IN YEARS OF ADVERSITY, THRIFT IS THE FIRST BUSINESS CONSIDERATION FOR THOSE WHO WANT TO BE ECONOMICALLY INDEPENDENT.

It may be said as truthfully that no man can develop to his full growth when hampered by debt and plagued by creditors. The thrifty may make the years bring happiness. Thrift breeds self-denial which develops character.

OUR REPUTATION

We're rather proud of what the people say about our drug store. For example, just the other day one of our customers remarked to us:

"I didn't really appreciate this drug store until a few days ago when I took a trip. No where along my route did I see a drug store that looked as good as yours, and when I tried to buy a sandwich in several in much larger towns than Warrenton I found that they did not keep them. I was right proud of Warrenton when I thought about your soda fountain and the fact that in addition to your regular line of drugs you have good sandwiches available at all times."

WE THANK YOU, MISTER!
