Cotton Farmers In Favor Crop Control

D. W. Watkins, assistant chief of the AAA cotton section, told visitors attending Farm and Home week that some form of production control is essential to the permanent prosperity of agriculture.

The AAA reduction programs are emergency measures, he explained, and probably will be revised a great deal before a long-time program is offered the American farmers.

But it is clearly evident, he said, that some form of nation-wide cooperation is necessary, for it has been demonstrated time and again that unorganized farmers have but little show in the world of organization in which they live.

Surveys made in many sections of the country have indicated that nearly all the growers who are cooperating with the AAA and who are receiving benefit payments want the programs continued.

There has been some agitation in certain quarters, he said, for abandoning the Bankhead act and the AAA programs, but it is largely the work of non-cooperating growers and interests which profit most when cotton prices are low.

The cooperating growers have earned their payments, he said, and it would be unfair to them to deprive them of these payments by discontinuing the program. He also pointed to the demoralization of markets that would follow the increase in production should all restrictions be removed.

He said the talk about unfavorable weather reducing the crop all that is necessary is without foundation. (Continued on page 6)

Cotton Co-ops To Meet At Warrenton On Next Thursday

Cotton farmers of Warren County and particularly those who have been connected with the Cotton Cooperative Association are being called upon to attend a meeting of much more than ordinary interest at Warrenton on Thursday afternoon at 2:30 of next week.

Handbills calling attention to this meeting for TUESDAY have gone out in some sections. The date of the meeting should be THURSDAY, August 23rd.

The meeting has been called by L. Bruce Gunter of Fuquay Springs who is the director of the Cotton Association from the Fifth District composed of the counties of Warren, Franklin and Wake. He is also Vice President of the Association.

The Cotton Cooperative Association has recently had a change of management and all cotton farmers will be interested to know more about it. Mr. Gunter has been very closely identified with these changes and he will give an interesting account of what has been done and also what members may expect of the Cotton Association under its new management.

M. G. Mann of Raleigh, who has been made General Manager of the Cotton Association, will attend the meeting and will explain the plan of operation for the handling and sale of this year's crop of cotton. Mr. Mann is also Manager of the Farmers' Cooperative Exchange which has recently been organized and he will explain how farmers may save money on the purchase of their supplies by patronizing this new organization.

Both Mr. Gunter and Mr. Mann are very interesting speakers and they have a matter to discuss which is of vital importance to every farmer in Warren County. The meeting should be attended by an overflow crowd. It will be held in the Court Room at 2:30 in the afternoon unless otherwise arranged. Ladies are invited and requested to attend.

Similar meetings will be held in Louisburg on Tuesday afternoon and in Raleigh on Friday afternoon at the same hour. Warren County farmers who cannot attend their own meeting are invited to attend one of the others.

Soil Erosion Is Subject Broadcast

"Fighting Soil Erosion" is the subject of a series of 10-minute talks that the government has arranged to broadcast over Station WBT, Charlotte, R. H. Bright, County Agent, announced this week. The series began on August 9. Other talks will be made on Tuesdays, August 21 and 28 and September 4 from 7:05 to 7:15.

The talks will be made by soil erosion-control specialists of the soil erosion service, United States Department of Interior, who have been assigned to carry on large demonstrational soil-saving projects in the Carolinas, Mr. Bright said.

Erosion-control demonstrations in the North Carolina area comprise the 137,000-acre upper Deep River watershed of Forsyth, Guilford and Randolph counties, and the Brown Creek watershed of Anson and Union counties, and Chesterfield county, South Carolina.

Experienced government erosion specialist assure us that soil washing can be prevented, the agent said. However, the problem is one which must be met, not merely by constructing terraces, but by the employment of proper cropping and forestry measures along with the proper engineering methods in a well-coordinated erosion and land-use program, in keeping with the needs of the individual farmer.

Farmers and business men of Warren county are urged to listen in on this interesting series of broadcasts, Mr. Bright concluded.

The road sentence was suspended upon condition that Rogers pay the court cost, a fine of $75 and refrain from operating an automobile for a period of three months.

Rogers' arrest came as the result of a wreck between the truck he was driving and a truck of the Horton Motor Lines at Wise on Sunday night. Part-Time Farmers Advocated By Wilson

The eventual solution of the landlord-tenant problem will probably be found in giving industrial employment to farmers who are no longer needed in agriculture, said M. L. Wilson, assistant secretary of agriculture, who spoke at the State College Farm and Home exercises last week.

He predicted a time when a balance of agriculture and industry, together with a shortening of hours and a division of employment, would provide jobs for all who wish to work.

There is no reason, he said, why industrial workers cannot have small plots of land on which they may live in security insofar as producing their food is concerned. Under such a system, they could work short hours in the factory and still make a living wage.

The shorter hours of work would mean more work for other people, and thereby take care of the surplus farmers. In some cases, he added, it would be well for the wage earners to work in factories part of the year and on farms the other part when they are most needed in agriculture.

Mr. Wilson spoke of the AAA as the greatest social movement in history and said that it had aroused a new conception of cooperation and planning that would not be forgotten.

Farmers have proved for themselves that they can control their own industry and have a voice in what prices their crops shall bring, he went on. He expressed belief that very few farmers would be willing to go back to the system of each man for himself, bargaining alone against organized buying and large corporations.

Loan Value Cotton May Be Increased

Washington, Aug. 15.—The Bankhead cotton act is an unequalled success. It will surely be retained next year. The loan value of cotton both former crops and the new crop, will probably be raised at once from 10 to 13 cents a pound.

The above is the cotton situation as seen by Senator John H. Bankhead, of Alabama, father of the compulsory cotton reduction law, who was here today for conferences with President Roosevelt and Secretary of Agriculture Wallace.

Senator Bankhead was accompanied to the White House by Secretary Wallace and submitted two proposals to the President. One for the increase in loan value and the other for suspension of the 4.2 cents processing tax on cotton during the marketing season.

Seen after his conference with the President, Senator Bankhead frankly stated that he saw no chance of his recommendation as to the processing tax being adopted. He was entirely confident, however. (Continued from Page 6)

CITIZENS SEEK TO OBTAIN CANNERY

Town Expected to Furnish Water And Lights; Citizens The Building

DAMERON MAKES OFFER

Interest in the establishment of a government cannery at Warrenton to can beef from relief cattle sent into Warren county from the west has been growing during the past week and it is expected that a large crowd of citizens will be on hand at the court house within the next few days when R. E. Nance of the Department of Agriculture comes here to explain requirements for the industry. Jesse Gardner, director of relief for Warren county, said yesterday that he had not heard from Mr. Nance since writing him to come to Warrenton but that he was expecting a reply on almost any mail and thought where the cannery would be established would be determined within the next few days.

Littleton, it is understood, has already offered the government a building and agreed to furnish power and water in the event that a cannery is located in that town. It is expected that a similar offer will be made by Warrenton citizens.

Mr. Gardner said that it is his understanding that the cannery will employ a hundred people, working two shifts of 50 persons three days a week each, and that the weekly payroll would be around $2,000. It is expected that the industry will be operated for two and possibly three years.

In the event that the cannery is established here it is expected that arrangements will be made for business people to supply the building and for the town to furnish water and power.

W. H. Dameron, president of W. H. Dameron & Co., said yesterday that his company was willing to erect a suitable building on their lot near the depot, provided other business men would pay for one-half of the material used in the building to be constructed by ERA labor.

Sixteen hundred and fifty yards of cloth and thread have been consigned to the local relief office for the purpose of making caps, coats, dresses and aprons, for those expected to work in canneries, it was learned here yesterday.

The order calls for 150 men's coats and caps, 250 women's dresses and caps, and 50 butcher's aprons.

Farmers Paying Interest On Loans

Columbia, S. C., Aug. 16.—Approximately 89.2 per cent of the interest due on Land Bank Commissioner's loans on June 30 or before was paid promptly by farmer-borrowers of North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Florida, according to a statement by the Farm Credit Administration of Columbia.

The Columbia district ranked fifth in the nation in this respect being surpassed by the Houston, Texas, district with payments of 96.7 per cent; Baltimore district with payments of 93.5 per cent; Springfield district with payments of 91.4 per cent and Louisville with payments of 89.8 per cent. The average for the twelve districts of the country are 83 per cent.

Land Bank Commissioner's loans are about equally divided between first and second mortgages on farms. They are being made in the bonds of the Federal Farm Mortgage Corporation which are guaranteed both as to principal and interest by the Federal Government. Such loans are handled by the Federal land banks for the Land Bank Commissioner.

From June 1, 1933, through July 25, 1934, Commissioner's loans numbering 250,847 were made for $423,986,948 in the twelve districts of the country.

Combination License Is Now Available

Combination resident State hunting and fishing licenses may now be had for $3, or a saving of around $1.21 on the double license, Hunter Pinnell, county game warden, said this week. The licenses entitle the holder to hunt and fish anywhere in the State at any time in season, the game warden said. This charge represents a saving to the sportsman and a sharp reduction in the old license fees charged by the State.

The licenses may be obtained from Mr. Pinnell at any time on application and payment of the fee.
