

Irvin S. Cobb thinks about:

High Hat Folks.

EVERLY HILLS, CALIF. — Once I thought the class of utter self-satisfaction was attained in Massachusetts. When you met a Bostonian of the Plymouth Rock stock who, in addition, had gone through Harvard, it was as though you met an egg which had been laid twice and both times successfully. Sometimes this type made me say to myself that maybe it might have been better if the Mayflower had been making a round trip.

But now this coast takes the chest-expanding championship right away from the eastward. Out here is a sojourner from the East who herefore was not actually distinguished; didn't have a telephone to his name. But now he has a telephone and has had an acknowledgment signed by no one other than the king's fourth assistant deputy querry, and now he is the delicious recipient can hardly be snatched up to glory so he may pause at the golden gates for an extra over-sized halo and then, with that hallowed document clutched to his inflated bosom, stroll through paradise snooting the heavenly host.

Original Native Sons.

NIGHT in the heart of Los Angeles the bones of perhaps our first climate-booster have just been dug up. If he lived 50,000 years ago, as some experts figure, that would seem to make him an original native son, but if, as others think, he only dates back 16,000 years, he was probably an early settler from the Middle West who got bogged down in the primeval ooze on his way to an Iowa state picnic.

This certainly puts those uppity Florida folks in their place. The only thing they've dug up lately was a canal, and they may have to put that back. The celery growers don't like it, and when you come between a Florida celery grower and his celery it's just the same as trying to separate the young.

Governor Hoffman's Motives.

WITHSTANDING the accusations of critics in his own state, it's hard to believe New Jersey's Governor Hoffman was actuated by political ambition in the course he took in this ghastly Hauptmann case, because, while he treated for himself a strong personal following, so many of the boys who probably like to vote with his side are unfortunately being detained at present in places like Sing Sing and Alcatraz and Leavenworth, where there's no voting done.

Lady Luck's Favorites.

ONE of the main winners in the recent sweepstakes, a mere French Lamented being alone in the field and having nobody to share the good fortune with. That'll be the smallest of the young man's bones.

Inside of forty-eight hours he'll have more kinfolks than a Potomac fish. By the end of a week he'll be entirely surrounded by an impenetrable forest of previously unsuspected friends and well-wishers. Also stock promoters, automobile salesmen, income tax collectors and life insurance agents; affectionate relatives (object, matrimony and all-around in the order named) and citizens on foot or hitch-hiking. As for distant relatives, he'll begin thinking he must be part Belgian here—and they won't stay distant, either.

Nothing renews old family ties like coming into a large chunk of unexpected currency.

New Spring Finery.

WHY do the new fashions always light on the wrong females, or vice versa, as the case may be?

When white shoes prevailed the ladies with the most robust feet went to them unanimously, probably because a white shoe makes any foot look bigger.

As skirts climbed knee-high and legs went up town, 'twas the women with the box-legs who wore the highest. She would.

The dandy who's kind of startled and anyhow just will pluck her eyebrows, thereby enhancing the suggestion of a skinned squinch owl.

And now that bangs are coming and coming down—the style that was favored first by the young and who already resembles a new-hatched robin and so could get away with that sort of thing. It'll be done other than the middle-aged who, as the poet says, kind of have-faced to start with, and all she'll need is a floral horse-ear around her neck to look like a party winner.

Were it not for the foolish things we wear, we safely could say the foolish things women wear are the wisest things anybody ever wore.

Because of the refreshing relief it has brought them, thousands of men and women, who could afford much more expensive laxatives, use Black-Draught when needed. It is very economical, purely vegetable, highly effective. . . Mr. J. I have taken it for constipation and the dull feelings that follow, and have found it very satisfactory."

A Hen Keeps On Scratching Even If Worms Are Scarce

Then Why Should A Merchant Stop Advertising When Business Is Dull

As you desire and expect the continual, all-year-round patronage of the people of your sales community, just that much you should continue in season and out of season, your cordial invitation—your advertising—to these customers that they do continue to patronize your store and buy your goods.

If you use only the Christmas and New Year's greetings as the limit of your invitation for patronage and for presenting your goods to the public, how can you consistently kick if the community folks read the merchandise offerings in the catalogs and give the mail-order houses their patronage. Throughout the year and when they do see your invitation for patronage in the home paper along about Christmas time, patronize you at that time with but a dollar or so purchase?

One is as consistent as the other.

Make your invitations for their patronage so cordial, the descriptions of the goods so alluring, the quality of the offering so high that a gallon of gasoline spent in reaching your store is an investment to them, not an expense.

High sounding words do not alone sell goods. Establish a character for your store—the words of your advertising are truthful, the quality of the goods are dependable—the buying public of your sales territory will have confidence in what you tell them and will know that you are offering the very best merchandise at the lowest possible price.

Do not lose sight of the fact that all men and women love a bargain. And it is also true that a bargain is not always gauged by the price tag. Just as it is harder to get a purchaser for goods from an unknown firm, just that much easier it is to sell merchandise in a store Advertising has made popular.

The more you advertise your store the more popular it will become with the buying public. The more popular your store the more you turn your goods over and the oftener your turn-over, the greater your profits.

Profit by the HEN. Worm or no worm, she scratches.
Business or no business, ADVERTISE.
