

THE TORCH

A department conducted for The Warren County Memorial Library By MABEL DAVIS The Librarian

The Glory of Autumn

The beauty of the maples, the dogwoods and myrtles in their autumnal glory have held me spell-bound this week. In certain sections of the town there has been beauty enough to set the heart fair with gladness.

In the summer the life-saving shade of the trees along my path give rise to very kindly thoughts of Mr. Henry Foote, who planted -de ssoi ou ure i [un] qij ui -unajj preciative of his work and that of every other man and woman who has taken the trouble to plant a tree in Warrenton, especially the maple trees along our sidewalks. The brilliance of their foliage at this season—those maples at the intersection of Bragg Street and "Fifth Avenue," on Court Square and on many lawns—reminds me of the unspeakable beauty of the sunset as seen from our library windows.

Sometimes when I stand before them lost in wonder and admiration the thought comes to me that all the beauty of the foliage is due to the frost that has touched the leaves, and the radiance of the sunset marks the passing of a day.

Mrs. Seligman to Speak at Library

Realizing that World Peace must be founded on a sympathetic understanding of the nations and races of the world and knowing that such understanding is necessary if we are to rise above prejudice, we have asked Mrs. Rebecca Seligman, friend of this library and a worthy representative of the Jewish people, to tell us something of the national characteristics, traditions and ideals of her people on the evening of Armistice Day, Wednesday, November 11th. She has chosen for her subject "Ancient Wisdom for a Modern World."

Mrs. Seligman has appeared before Warrenton audiences frequently during the years she has spent her winters at Warren Plains. Her message at this time when the study groups in our churches are especially interested in other races seems especially pertinent. She will be introduced by the president of one of these organizations.

The public is invited to hear her. She will speak at 7:45 Wednesday evening.

Closed For Holiday

We are not usually very careful to observe the various holidays. We are asking permission to do so on Armistice Day this year for two reasons. The first is that an occasional day of rest is as balm to the soul; the second—that the librarian may be able to attend some of the services sponsored by the churches on that day in behalf of World Peace.

Circulation

Circulation during the fall is always lower than at any other season. A comparison of figures shows a rise of 243 for October '36 over the same month last year. In other words, the library lent 1,394 volumes this year and only 1,151 in October 1935.

Mileage Hints

By J. F. Winchester Supervisor of Motor Vehicle Equipment, Esso Marketers

TIRES, springs, and shock absorbers are three of the means by which the maker of your car tries to give you comfortable riding. To assure yourself of this comfort you must pay some attention to them.

Tires should be inflated only to the proper pressure. Higher pressure makes the bumps harder. Watch this on long drives on hot days, for the heat, expanding the air, will increase the pressure. But don't try to get a softer ride by running your tires at lower than the recommended pressure, for you will shorten their life.

Springs need lubrication to enable them to absorb shock most efficiently, and this will usually be taken care of when you have a chassis lubrication job done at a reputable service station. Broken spring leaves should be replaced promptly to eliminate the added strain on the unbroken leaves and prevent further breakage.

Shock absorbers should be kept in good condition. Connections should be checked to make sure the absorbers are given a chance to function properly. Hydraulic absorbers in which the rebound is checked by a body of oil should be checked every 3,000 miles to make certain the oil supply is adequate.

Keep in mind the importance of your tires, springs and shock absorbers and check them occasionally as suggested to insure your enjoyment of motoring.

FUMBLES COSTLY IN

(Continued on Page 8) day. This is a serious blow to Warrenton as Maise has been a tower of strength in the Warrenton line all year.

I still believe that John Graham can win this Saturday. They are a fine example of the saying "That a team that won't be beaten can't be beaten." Every man on the John Graham team is one that will be in there fighting when the last horn blows. A victory against South Hill will not be a surprise.

PHILATHEAS TO MEET

The Baptist Philathea Class will meet in the home of Mrs. John Bell on Tuesday evening, November 10, at 8 o'clock.

CARD OF THANKS

The Macon Parent-Teachers Association wishes to thank every one who contributed in any way to the Hallowe'en carnival last Friday night.

Women Are Extremists; Easy To Handle, Says Conductor

Phil Spitalny and a Group of His "Charmers"

He Makes Their "Dates," Picks Their Beaus, and Gets Away With It

NEW YORK.—Managing thirty beautiful young women, and all of them musicians, is a job for any man, but it doesn't seem to bother Phil Spitalny.

The noted maestro of stage and radio is the only orchestra leader who has ever attempted the feat in a big way, and for two and one-half years he has run the "roost" without a ripple, it seems.

"Women are easier to handle than men because they are extremists," says the baton leader. "If they hate, they hate harder; if they love it works the same way, and if they are real musicians they are better than most males."

He also claims that they can be more loyal, and by the same token more disloyal, than they memorize faster than the opposite sex, and are never late; that the smart ones are smarter than men and the dumb ones dumber.

Spitalny, an extremely vital person, with plenty of temperament of his own, not only waves the magic musical wand over his Musical Queens. He selects their clothes, arranges their coiffures, picks their beaus, and gets away with it. They in turn, however, often choose his neckties, which are loud ones. Spitalny's favorite color is red but he likes his girls to wear white.

He taboos boyish bobs, jewelry, red finger-nail polish, too much make-up and décolleté gowns, and thinks girls look prettier with their hair parted in the middle. The top weight is 120 pounds and if a member of the band goes over that mark she is put on a strict diet. By a coincidence, the entire band is composed of brunettes, but according to Phil this doesn't mean that they make better musicians than blondes.

If a girl has a "date" she asks permission before accepting it. Phil must know his name and where they're going, and if a girl signs up with the band it's with a guarantee that she won't make any matrimonial vows for at least six months. With salaries starting at $75.00 a week and a percentage of profits for all, most of the girls stick to their jobs, Phil added.

While Spitalny acts as the "higher court," a committee of five lay down the rules and regulations in general. Evelyn heads the list as concert manager, assisted by Patricia, first trumpeter, Gypsy, star saxophonist, Maxine, soloist, and Rochelle, pianist.

Spitalny combed the country for talent, listening to more than 1,500 auditions before selecting his unique and celebrated musical unit which recently completed a coast to coast tour. Spitalny and his girls will be featured on the air in an "Hour of Charm" program, sponsored by dealers of the General Electric Company. Starting November 2nd over the National Broadcasting nation-wide hookup, they will be heard every Monday from 4 to 4:30 p. m. (E.S.T.).
