Jelly Days Are Here Again When Raspberries Come In!

"SING a song of summer, and cupboards full of jelly . . . Raspberries are in! And of all the 'four and twenty' fruits that come along at one time or another, few can compare with the plump red raspberry for simple goodness of flavor.

Raspberries are delicate things, and must be cooked with care. A half-minute for jelly and one minute for jam is the rule of the short-boil recipe that turns out spreads that sparkle like jewels, quiver with a firm yet tender texture, and taste like fruit just parted from the bush! In other words, your raspberries make perfect products every time if you follow the new-fashioned and oh-so-economical directions below.

Members of the Jelly Making Club say these homemade jellies and jams can't be beat. Follow directions exactly:

Ripe Red Raspberry Jelly

4 cups (2 lbs.) juice
7 1/2 cups (3 3/4 lbs.) sugar
1 bottle fruit pectin

To prepare juice, crush thoroughly or grind about 3 quarts fully ripe raspberries. Place in jelly cloth or bag and squeeze out juice. Measure sugar and juice into a boil over hottest fire and at once add bottled fruit pectin, stirring constantly. Then bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 1/2 minute. Remove from fire, skim, pour quickly. Paraffin hot jelly at once. Makes about 11 glasses (6 fluid ounces each).

Ripe Raspberry and Currant Jam

4 1/2 cups (2 1/4 lbs.) prepared fruit
6 cups (2 lbs. 10 oz.) sugar
1 box powdered fruit pectin

To prepare fruit, crush thoroughly or grind about 1 quart fully ripe red raspberries. Crush about 1 quart fully ripe red currants; remove seeds and skins by sieving. Combine fruits.

Measure sugar into dry dish and set aside until needed. Measure prepared fruit into a 5- to 6-quart kettle, filling up last cup or fraction of cup with water if necessary; place over hottest fire. Add powdered fruit pectin, mix well, and continue stirring until mixture comes to a hard boil. At once pour in sugar, stirring constantly. (To reduce foaming, 1/4 teaspoon butter may be added.) Continue stirring, bring to a full rolling boil, and boil hard 1 minute. Remove from fire, skim, pour quickly. Paraffin hot jam at once. Makes about 10 glasses (6 fluid ounces each).
