Warrenton Lions Club Celebrates 25th Anniversary At Country Club

"Happy people are those who generate happiness," Audrey B. Warner told guests here at the Lions International's 25th anniversary celebration on Saturday night. "There is a considerable amount of worthwhile work to be done," she added, "and I want to see more people involved in community projects and in community improvement."

There was a feeling of community among the group as it was in the heart and mind of those present to do something for the betterment of the community, she said. "I want to see more of these clubs associated with what is going on among the community and in the community, and I want to see the community live up to the best that it can do."
