Feed Grain Signups Begin January 23

Signup on cotton, feed grain and wheat will begin on Jan. 23 and continue through March 3, T. E. Watson, ASCS office manager, announced yesterday. He said farmers have already received their notice of allotments, bases and payment rates.

The 1967 cotton reduction program is essentially the same as in 1966, Watson said. The payments are a little higher. The price support rate on the planted acreage will be 11.53 cents per pound times the projected yield set for the farm, where as in 1966 it was 9.42 cents per pound. The farm diversion rate is 10.78 cents per pound times the farm yield, compared to 10.5 cents in 1966.

Watson said the 1967 feed grain program is basically the same as in 1966 on farms with a base of 25 acres or less. The only changes are a little increase in the payment rates per acre and barley is not included in the feed grain base this year. The farms with a base over 25 acres will receive no diversion payment if part of the base is planted. In order to qualify for price support payments, the planted acreage cannot exceed 80 per cent of the base for the farm.

There will be no diversion payment for 1967 wheat, Watson said. Producers who sign up will receive a payment based on the acreage planted to wheat if they are planted within the farm allotment.

Harrison Accepts Post As Medical Representative

Dr. Lloyd Harrison, Warrenton physician, has again accepted the post of medical representative for the Warren County Heart Association. Announcement of Dr. Harrison's acceptance of the post was made this week by the Rev. L. T. Wilson, president of the local heart group. Mr. Wilson said, "We are most pleased that Dr. Harrison will represent the health and medical professions in our organization's leadership. Physicians have worked closely with the statewide heart program since the North Carolina Heart Association was founded in 1949."

In accepting his volunteer position, Dr. Harrison pointed out that through the North Carolina and American Heart Association he can provide members of local health professions with research reports and other medical assistance in the diagnosis and treatment of heart disease.

Dr. Harrison also noted (See HARRISON, page 4)

Three Deer Killed When Hit By Transfer Truck

Warren County prisoners are having a diet of venison as deer killed on the highways in the county are turned over to the Prison Camp by the North Carolina Wildlife almost every week.

On Tuesday night of last week three doe deer were turned over to the prison camp by Game Protector Alton Pridgen. All three were killed at one time by a transfer truck between Vaughan and Littleton on Tuesday night, but the kill was not reported until after the paper went to press last Thursday afternoon.

Pridgen said that the three deer were from a herd of nine crossing the highway. The driver of the transfer truck was not identified, but he reported the accident to the State Highway Commission. State Highway Trooper notified Pridgen who went to the Littleton Police Station, picked them up and carried them to the prison camp.

Deer are plentiful in Warren County, more than have been here in the past 25 years and increasing in number, Pridgen said. He attributed the increase to the abandonment of many farms in the county and their growing up in woods and thickets. He said with a smile, that perhaps the Wildlife Commission could also take part of the credit.

Twenty-five years ago, the Game Protector said, there were hardly any deer in the county, but now there are plenty. More and more of these are being killed by motorists. Hardly a week passes, he added, that the Wildlife Division does not turn over a deer so killed to the Prison Camp.

Pridgen said that the law requires that any deer killed on the highways must be reported to the Wildlife Commission which has instruction to turn the animals over to the prison camps of the state. Usually, he said, such kills are reported to the Highway Patrolmen who notify the game Protector although sometimes the report is made directly.

No motorist, Pridgen said, has the legal right to keep a deer that he has killed on the highways of North Carolina.

Construction Plans For Highway I-85 Have Been Prepared

HENDERSON — Plans for construction of U. S. 85 from Oxford to a point east of Oxford have been prepared by the State Highway Commission and rights of way are now being sought, it was revealed today in a statement from A. L. LeBlanc, right-of-way agent.

The route to be followed has already been surveyed and staked out, it was said by Wayne Adkins, district engineer of the Highway Commission.

Adkins said contracts for building of the road from Henderson to the Neuse river, ten miles north of Durham, will probably be let in five parts, the first understood to be the section from Henderson to the suburbs of Oxford, which may be let to contract in 1967. He added that present plans call for all lettings to be made by or during 1968.

The project for which rights of way are being sought at this time begins at a point 3,465 feet northeast of the intersection of U. S. 158 and Secondary Road 1600, thence across country in an easterly direction (See U. S. 85, page 5)

Body Of Woman Found After Hunt

An aged Negro woman was found dead in the woods a mile from her home by a searching party around 4 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon.

The body of Delia Alston, around 75, operator of a nursing home near Grove Hill, was discovered by Ora Lewis, a member of a searching party organized by Sheriff Clarence Davis.

Mrs. Alston left her home Monday at around 11 o'clock to see that pulpwood cutters working on an adjoining farm had not cut any timber on her farm. She failed to return home during the night and an inmate of the nursing home notified Roy Pittman at 11 a. m. Tuesday that she was missing. Pittman notified the sheriff's department.

Sheriff Davis said yesterday that their search revealed that the woman had gotten in a swamp on Reedy Creek and become lost. Signs were evident, he said, that as she wandered she would stop from time to time to rest. She was accompanied on her walk by a little dog, and signs showed that every time that she sat down to rest the dog would nestle nearby. The dog returned to her home Tuesday morning.

Late Tuesday afternoon the Warrenton Rural Fire Department was called to join in the search. The use of a Fire Department truck enabled the body to be brought out and carried to a funeral home here in a truck driven by Roy Pittman. Without the Firemen's aid it would have been (See FOUND, page 5)

Summary, Comparison Released

Gross income to Warren County tobacco farmers from the 1966 crop was more than that of the 1965 crop, largely because of increased planting and marketing, T. E. Watson, ASCS office manager, said yesterday.

Watson made public a summary and comparison of the two seasons.

The 1966 crop was valued at $4,984,212, compared to $4,853,09 for the year 1965, or an increase of $131,173.

Marketings in 1966 were 7,935,380 pounds from approximately 4,864 acres, for a marketing quota of 8,363,180 pounds, which meant the county undermarketed its quota by 417,800 pounds, or 5 per cent. The 1966 price average on the Warrenton market was $61.81 per 100 pounds, compared to a 1965 average of $60.70. Sales in 1965 were 7,865,542 pounds.

Yields per acre in Warren County in 1966 was approximately 1,630 pounds, compared to 1,650 pounds in 1965 or a decline of 20 pounds.

Watson said that the increased planting and marketing in 1966 resulted from increased allotments and quotas due to carryover of undermarketings from the 1965 crop.

Warren County had very unfavorable weather conditions during the growing season last summer, Watson pointed out. When a virtual crop failure appeared in prospect, there were generous rains which brought the wilting crop into speedy growth and maturity, but not as near normal as had been hoped for.
