The Warrenton Volunteer | Fire Department has not lost a home to a fire in 99 years, according to an article in the February issue of "The Mutualizer" by the Carolinas Association of Mutual Insurance Agents, Inc., and inserted in the March 8 issue of the Congressional Record by Congressman L. H. Fountain.

Headed, "Record Without Parallel," the clipping from the Congressional Record reads as follows:

Mr. FOUNTAIN (at the request of Mr. Kornegay) was granted permission to extend his remarks at this point in the Record and to include extraneous matter.)

Mr. FOUNTAIN. Mr. Speaker, we all know how devastating in both life and property fires can be. A day seldom passes without an account in the newspapers about another tragic loss from fire. This is especially true during the winter months.

On the other hand, we almost never hear about fires that were prevented or were snuffed out before they became

I would like to call my colleagues attention to a record of fire loss-that is, an absence of loss-that I am sure is unparalleled in this country and undoubtedly throughout the world.

The volunteer fire department of Warrenton, N. C., an old and distinguished town in my district has not lost a home to fire in almost 100 vears.

Think of it - 99 years without a residence destroyed. No words can properly pay tribute to the dedication and ability of the members of Warrenton's volunteer firemen. The town is to be no less commended for its unstinting support of its fire department. Both the residents and the firemen have every reason to be proud of a record that would be difficult to match.

I commend to my colleagues an editorial describing this outstanding town and its firemen published in the February issue of the i futualizer by the Carolinas Association of Mutual Insurance Agents, Inc.: A PERFECT RECORD-99 YEARS

"Few, if any, fire departments can boast 'not a home lost to fire in nearly a century.' Yet, this is the record of one of North Carolina's oldest volunteer fire departments
