

STUDENT DRIVER CANDIDATES TAKING TEST AT JOHN GRAHAM

High School Students Take Driving Course

Juniors and Seniors of John Graham High School and Hawkins High School completed the National Safety Council Defensive Driving Course yesterday (Wednesday). Approximately 125 students from John Graham and 200 from Hawkins completed the course.

The course has been taught at the two Warrenton schools for four two-hour sessions by L. A. Howes, instructor of the Department of Motor Vehicles Driver Education Division.

All students who completed will receive National Safety Council Certificates of Completion.

Before beginning the course, Howes consulted with J. R. Peeler, superintendent of Warren County Schools. Howes said that Peeler believes that an important answer to the traffic accident problem, in which over 50,000 Americans die each year, is education in better driving techniques. Peeler felt, Howes said, that the course would be of special benefit to our young people since they are now developing good or bad driving habits, depending on the education and training received.

Howes said plans are to include all juniors and seniors in the county during the school year.

Warren and Franklin County juniors and seniors are the first in the state to complete the course as a group, Howes said. The students, he said, have highly praised the course as very beneficial to them, especially as a follow-up in Driver Education. They also strongly feel that it is very helpful in developing better techniques since they now have some driving experience on which to build better driving habits. The course is designed for experienced licensed drivers.

The course involves the use of films, flip charts, blackboard, magnetic board, simulated cars, and student work-books. The course was offered at no cost to the county or schools.

Howes said defensive driving techniques centered around the two-car crash and the six positions that another car may take in relation with the defensive driver before a crash with him. The six positions are: the car in front, the car behind, the car up ahead, the car to the side, while passing and while being passed. These kind of crashes account for about 42 per cent of all fatalities on our highways. It was pointed out that if a driver will learn the six positions and the defenses against them, he will have gone a long way towards preventing the two-car crash.

Some time was spent on avoiding the one-car accident, Howes said. This type accident accounts for about 53 per cent of all accidents when included in the run-off-the-road type, pedestrian, bicyclist, and striking a fix object. Most of those kind of crashes result in the driver being charged with driving too fast for conditions.

Several of the teachers in the respective schools have attended various phases of the course and are planning to give a teacher evaluation of the course. Howes said that a great many students will also be asked to evaluate the course.

CONFERENCE

The Rev. G. W. Larkin, presiding elder, will preside over the quarterly conference of Oak Chapel Quarterly Conference on Sunday and will preach at the 11 a. m. service.

The Rev. L. C. Cooper, pastor, said the dedicatory service will be delayed until a later date as the basement of the church was damaged on Oct. 15. However, he said, the public is invited to attend these services.

Norlina Boy Is Winner In Punt, Pass Kick Contest

A Norlina boy was a winner in the Pass, Punt and Kick Competition, sponsored by the Ford Motor Company, in Raleigh on Saturday, and will compete in the district run off to be held in Richmond, Va., on Saturday, Oct. 28.

Jeff Egerton, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Egerton of Norlina, not only won out in the 13-year-old group at the Raleigh meeting, but won by a margin of 30 points, Bill Delbridge, director of the PP&K for Fowler - Barham Ford local contest, said yesterday. Jeff's total points were 284.5.

Delbridge said "We have an extremely capable and confident representative in Jeff and I know he will reflect credit upon the county at Richmond."

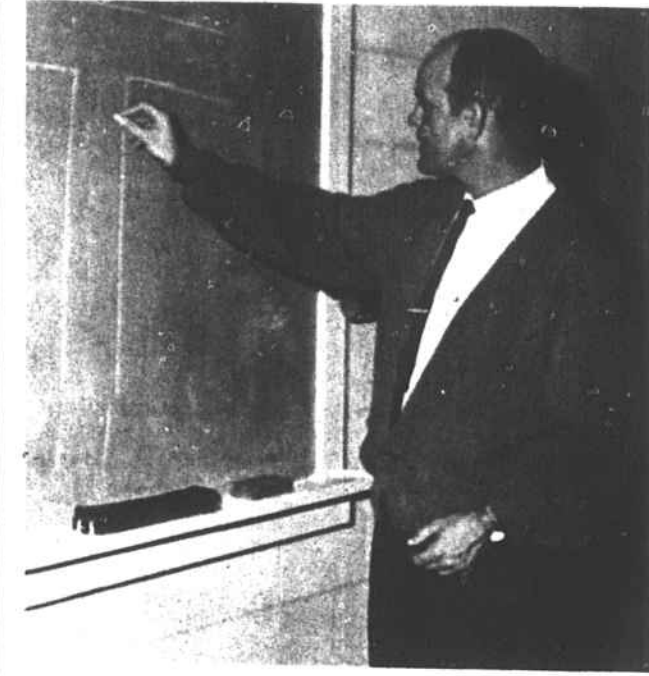

About 30 of the boy's parents and friends were in Raleigh to watch the competition in his age group and to cheer Jeff on.

Delbridge said that other

New Girl Scout Troop Is Organized Here

A new Girl Scout Troop, Cadette Troop 674, has been organized this month, Mrs. W. B. Thompson, troop leader, announced yesterday. The troop is composed of seventh grade girls.

Mrs. Thompson said that this is the third phase of Girl Scouting and these young ladies will be Cadettes for three years. Then if they earn at least six prescribed badges and accept and pass the four challenges — the challenges of Social Dependability, Emergency Preparedness, Active Citizenship, and Girl Scout Promise—they will then become First Class Scouts, which is comparable to an Eagle Scout in Boy Scouting.

Members of Troop 624 and the officers they have elected are as follows:

Susan Wilson, troop scribe; Susan Thompson, troop treasurer

Trailblazer Patrol — Linda

Loyd, patrol leader; Faye Felts, assistant patrol leader.

Apache Patrol — Teresa Hicks, patrol leader; Sarah Burton, assistant patrol leader.

Other members of the troop are Lou Ann Coleman, Eleanor Davis, Pamela Powell, Elizabeth Overby and Wanda Vaughan.

Mrs. Thompson said that the Scouts have selected "The Scarlet Pimpernel" for their Troop Crest. They meet each Monday afternoon after school in the Episcopal Church basement. They are sponsored by the Macon Junior Woman's Club.

SPONSORS SUPPER

The Afton-Elberon Rural Fire Department will sponsor a barbecued chicken supper Saturday, Oct. 28, from 5 p. m. until 8 p. m. at Afton Club House at $1.25 per plate.

Lions Give Funds For Local Camp

The Warrenton Lions Club this week contributed $250 to the local Boy Scout Camp Katzenstein project.

Billy Lanier, Lions publicity chairman, said yesterday that while the major portion of the Fair's profits are being reserved for a building fund due to the need for a new and more modern fair exhibit building, the directors allotted $250 for the scout camp, and increased their annual contribution to the Lions Club in this amount. They felt, he said, that this project which would be available for the use of all the Boy Scout troops in Warren County, was such a worthy project that they had to lend their support in this program of restoring this camp site.

United Nations Week Receives Special Emphasis

United Nations Week, being observed over the nation this week, has received special emphasis from the Warrenton Junior Woman's Club.

Members, in addition to publicizing the event through the news media, have dressed a window in the WPM Store on Main Street with illustrations, signs and other articles emphasizing United Nations Week. In addition they have arranged bulletin boards at both John Graham High School and Hawkins High School.

United Nations Day is observed each year on Oct. 24 because it was on Oct. 24, 1945, that the charter came into effect, Mrs. Sam Webster, publicity agent for the local club, pointed out yesterday.

The United Nations, an international organization of sovereign states, was established for the maintenance of peace and the promotion of international co-operation in social, economic, and cultural activities.

The United Nations Children's Fund, UNICEF, is pledged to assist the undeveloped countries to meet the medical, nutritional, educational and other pressing needs of their children and by so doing, help them to help themselves.

In 1965, UNICEF was granted the high honor of the Nobel Peace Prize. Through this great distinction, world recognition was given to UNICEF, not only for its achievements in the field of human (See U. N., page 4)

Mrs. Harris Attends Kindergarten Meeting

Mrs. A. D. Harris attended the North Carolina Kindergarten Association Convention in Raleigh on Oct. 20 and 21st.

Mrs. Harris said that when she became a member there were around 175 members and this year 800 members attended the convention.

The keynote speaker for the general session was Dr. Lucille Lindberg, Queens College City University of New York. Mrs. Harris attended two work shops, Child Development and Teaching, given by Mrs. Bobbie Carves Rowland, and Teaching Threes and Fours, given by Miss Thelma Arnot of Chapel Hill. By attending the convention, Mrs. Harris hopes to be better prepared to guide and train the county's preschool children entrusted to her.

Hallowe'en Carnival To Be Held At Inez

A Hallowe'en Carnival will be held in the Inez Community Clubhouse on Saturday night, Oct. 28, from 7:30 to 10 p. m. The Methodist and Baptist Youth Group will have a cake walk, a bingo table, and booths for the children. There will be no admission charge, but a small fee will be charged for the different amusements.

The October Civil Term of Warren County Superior Court, which convene' on Monday morning with Judge Hamilton Hobgood of Louisville presiding, was still in session Wednesday at press time.

Monday's session was occupied with the trial of divorce cases, the non-suiting of a number of old cases in an effort to clear the docket; and with the drawing of a jury to hear the Mattie D. Harris will case.

Presidential of evidence in this case, in which the will of the late resident of Warren County is sought to be broken, was started on Tuesday morning and was still being presented at noon Wednesday.

Five divorce cases were tried on Monday and divorces were granted to Mamie Elizabeth Baskett Durham from Henry Durham; Annie D. Baskerville from Jeff Baskerville; Ella Mae Smith from Robert Lee Smith; Endie Mae Dorth Lewis from John Wesley Lewis and Robert Jackson King from Peggy Ann B. King.

A sixth divorce case, Bessie Wrenn Smith vs. Walter Clemon Smith, scheduled to be tried on Monday, was continued.
