Horse More Important Than Western Actor

In announcing that three complete different Western movies will be shown in an Old Time Western Show at Warren Theatre on Nov. 11, George Robinson, manager, said yesterday that perhaps at this day and time people will like the horse in the old time western movie better than the star himself.

However, he added, a lot of credit must go to its owner. One of the all-time great horses, "Tarzan," belonged to Ken Maynard. There was also Buck Jones who would not make a movie without his horse, "Silver," and Tom Mix had his wonder horse, "Tony." Reb Russell also was at the top of the list with his horse, "Rebel," and the late Hoot Gibson, who was perhaps the greatest horseman of them all, rode different horses in the pictures he made.

Gibson, however, had a favorite horse, "Scout." Robinson said that he would ride this horse in one of the pictures to be shown at the Warren Theatre on Nov. 11.

Library News

By MRS. L. S. DANIEL, Librarian

Recently some of our readers have had to pay large fines on books which they have "passed around" among their friends without bringing them back to the library to be checked out properly. This practice can lead to the disappearance of the book and the necessity of paying the original cost of an expensive book. The person who has signed the card is held responsible and should return the book personally.

Please observe the rules of the library and enjoy reading our many books and wide selection of popular magazines. Books may be checked out for two weeks and magazines for two days.

Our readers of Mysteries continue to be faithful and interested. Some of them read to put themselves to sleep, some to solve the puzzles involved and some get a certain amount of excitement from this particular type of book. They all agree that mysteries are good entertainment.

Some of our recent Mysteries are:

"Swing Low, Sweet Harriet;" "Extreme Remedies;" "Johnny Goes West;" "Death and Taxes;" "Case With Three Husbands;" "Tall Building, 35;" "Twilight Man;" "Those Who Walk Away;" "The Tower;" "Sladd's Evil;" "Killer in the Street;" "Golden Trap;" "Postscript to Nightmare;" "The Man With Three Jaguars."

GARDEN TIME

How important is a hole in the ground? The contractor starts a new structure with a hole in the ground, as outlined by the architect; a well begins with a hole in the ground the divoteerdigs holes in the fairway with his irons; the race horse digs holes in the track for secure footing; and most of us end up in a hole in the ground.

All home gardeners and commercial plantmen prepare a hole in the ground, of one sort or another, to plant seed, bulbs, ornamental plants and fruit and nut trees. Fall is the time to do the job properly will, in many cases, determine the success or failure of the seed or plant to grow properly. Don't set a $10 plant in a 10 cent hole.

Perhaps more mistakes are made when planting shrubs, fruit and nut trees and grapevines. The shrubs, hollies, azaleas, etc., are either balled and burlapped or in containers. Fruit and nut trees and grapevines are usually received as bare-root stock and require more care when planting. Here are some simple, but important, guidelines to follow when preparing the hole for
