Dear Santa Claus, I am sorry I do not have capitals where they should be but we have not learned any yet.

I enjoyed what you gave me last Christmas. This Christmas I want a guitar and a pair of soft sole ready made boot moccasins (like these).

Love, Jay Johnson

Winners Announced

The Fine Arts Department of the Warrenton Junior Woman's Club sponsored a creative writing contest in Miss Anthony's three language classes at Mariam Boyd Elementary School and this week announces the contest winners.

The students were given the title, "What Is The Most Beautiful Thing In The World to You and Why?" Between 94 and 100 students participated in the contest.

First and second place winners were picked from each class. Miss Deborah Brown, an English major, judged the entries. She was assisted by Mrs. Linda Carter. First place winners were Melissa Exum, Gale Murray and Sheryl Aycock. Second place winners are Gary Campbell, Patricia Williams and Catherine Leffler. Each winner was presented a dollar bill.

A member of the committee said that some of these writings will be entered in the club's creative writing contest at the Fine Arts Festival in March.

Mrs. Joyce Aycock, Fine Arts chairman, thanks the fifth grade students and Miss Anthony for their cooperation in the contest.
