

Two School Buses In Road Mishaps

Two separate accidents involving school buses were reported late last week. Two drivers of autos were injured but none of the passengers on the buses.

According to Trooper M. B. Miller, a northbound auto driven by Arthur Henderson of Rt. 1, Manson, stopped in front of Northside school, just north of the Norlina town limits, to make a left turn and a school bus operated by Larry C. Richardson of Norlina, ran into the rear of the auto.

Henderson and his wife, a passenger in the auto, were injured in the accident and taken to Warren General Hospital. Miller estimated that 45 students were on the bus but none was injured.

Damages in the collision were estimated at $450 and Richardson was charged with following too closely.

Another Warren County school bus was involved in an accident on Thursday about two and a half miles south of Warrenton on Highway 58.

Miller stated that a bus operated by Sandy Darrell Richardson of Rt. 3, Warrenton, slowed to make a passenger stop, when a car driven by Scott Williams of Hollister, ran into the rear of the bus.

Williams was injured in the mishap and carried to Warren General Hospital but none of the occupants of the bus was hurt reported Trooper Miller.

Damages to the Williams auto were estimated at $1000 with damages to the bus amounting to about $50. Charges of following too closely were lodged against Williams.

Chamber Wants Water Line Funding

The Warren County Chamber of Commerce held a dinner meeting at The Carriage House on Monday night and had what President Bill Fleming called "the most constructive meeting since I've been in the Chamber." A lengthy business meeting with many accomplishments prompted his statement.

It was decided to distribute a monthly newsletter to members which would feature a questionnaire to get input from members.

New decals or emblems for the Warren County Chamber were determined to be needed.

The chamber was previously the Warrenton Chamber of Commerce.

A special guest of the meeting was Steve Norwood, representative of the Region K Council of Governments and director of aging, who presented a concept to the merchants that would allow discounts to senior citizens. After hearing the details of the concept, the chamber endorsed the idea and noted that no obligations were required on the part of merchants.

The group decided to send a letter to the United States

Department of Commerce expressing its concern over the water line grant refusal and expressing desire for quick approval of the line.

During the treasurer's report it was noted that the Chamber enjoyed the best financial situation ever and that 50 members had already paid dues in 1977.

President Fleming said that he was "enthusiastic over the willingness of members present to work." He added, "We may be accused of doing something wrong, but we'll not be accused of doing nothing."

Toro Tiller

Toro gives you a choice of tillers and equipment to do any tilling job. And the cost will be less than you think. What you harvest in your garden can pay for a good part of your investment. Also, since tillers are not used every week like lawn mowers, many neighbors buy a Toro tiller as a group and rotate the use of the machine.

Searchers Find Body Of Man In Kerr Lake

HENDERSON — Searchers found the body of Jerry Wayne Wilkins, 32, of Henderson Tuesday after more than two days of dragging Kerr Lake.

Wilkins was lost when his small fishing boat swamped Sunday. His 16-year-old cousin, Richard E. Reavis, Jr., made it to shore with the aid of a life jacket.

The body was found off Bullockville Park, about seven miles north of Henderson.

When the accident occurred, Reavis hailed a passing boat operated by Richard L. Jenks of Henderson. The two of them searched the area where the Wilkins' boat had turned over but found no sign of the man.

They went to the Tar Heel Marina at Satterwhite Point where they called the Vance County Rescue Squad.

The squad worked the rest of the day Sunday, all day Monday and part of Tuesday before finding Wilkins' body about 4 p. m.

Wilkins was a textile worker at the Harriet Henderson Cotton Mill. He was a native of Vance County and a member of Grace Baptist Church.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Betty S. Wilkins; a daughter, Miss Ginger K. Wilkins of the home; his mother, Mrs. Hilda T. Batton of Burlington; his father, Floyd H. Wilkins of Henderson and a sister, Mrs. Diane W. Underwood of Goldsboro.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete.
