

4-H Members Display Talent At Lions Den

By SUSAN CURRIE
Special 4-H Reporter
On Saturday, May 21, 1977, the Warren County Lions Den was the site for a great showing of 4-H talent and entertainment. This talent and entertainment ranged from pianists and poets to "fromps" and fancy creative dancers.

These were only a few of the many talents involved in the 21 acts performed at the Warren County 4-H Share-The-Fun Contest with 90 4-H'ers, leaders, parents and friends in attendance.

From all this showing of excellent talent, three of the most outstanding blue ribbon entries were chosen for top recognition. They are Tina Salmon, Pamela Currie, and Susan Currie of Wise-Paschall with their Dancing With Puppets Act; Lisa Reavis of Embro with a dramatic recitation of "The Creation," and The Oine Specialist, a gospel group singing "Soon And Very Soon" including Diane Butler, Patricia Hargrove, Joanna Harrison, Darolyn Alexander, Tina Harrison and Waretta Harrison on guitar. These 4-H'ers will compete in the North Central District "4-H Share-The-Fun" contest to be held at Smithfield-Selma High School on June 30.

Other blue ribbon talent and fun acts were Mary Harrison of Oine rendering a piano solo entitled, "Lead Me, Guide Me," The Haliwa Indian singers: Archie Lynch and Joseph Richardson with dancers, Robert Lynch, Faye Richardson, Mark Lynch, Norma Richardson, Roger Richardson and Daryl Richardson with "A Free Style War Dance" and "Alligator Dance," Sisters Sallie and Robin West of Golden Star with a tap dance called "Sweet Seasons;" Wanda Alexander, Allison Harrison, Percell Harrison, Marie Downey, Natalie Jones, and Joyce Butler another gospel group of Oine called The Heavenly Wonders with a song entitled, "All That I Need Is In Jesus;" and Alphonso Smith, John Hargrove, and Corey Brown, a trio of North Youth Improvement Club in a singing, dancing and acting number called "Enjoy Yourself."

Red Ribbon Talent and Fun acts were Elvelon Williams of Elam with a piano solo entitled, "Riding On A Mule;" Sylvia Carroll of Cool Spring with "An Original Poem and Skit;" Sandra Richardson, Sandy Richardson and Shella Richardson of Haliwa Indian Club with a "Creative Dance;" Lisa Leete of Wise-Paschall in a recitation entitled, "The Gospel According To You;" Kathleen Sellers, Bravetta Watson, Maxine Sellers, Wade Powell, Joyce Vick, and Ben Sellers of Northern Vaughan in a group dance; Harry Manson Leete of Wise-Paschall in a recitation entitled, "My Health House;" Kennedy Ben Richardson of Northern Vaughan in a "Puppetry Act;" and Karen Williams, Doris Ross, and Angela Ross of Elam singing a number entitled, "Pass It On."

Judges for the contest were Mrs. Janice Crump, Program Director for Cultural Arts Programs of Soul City and Mrs. Priscilla Hair of A. B. Hair, Carpets, Norlina. Presiding and master of ceremony for the contest was Daniel H. Bender of Ridgeway, president of Warren County 4-H Council.

Dressing room attendants were Mrs. Louise Fields and S. M. Cheston of Norlina. Photographer was Howard Jones of The Warren Record. Miss Emily R. Ballinger, Home Economics Agent supervised registration.

Glenn Woolard, 4-H Agent shared in the planning and implementation of the activity and George W. Koonce, 4-H agent served as activity coordinator for planning and implementation. The writer is your special correspondent for publicity and news coverage.

Each Generation Has Its Problems

By MRS. BERTHA FORTE
Each generation has its unique problems. And one for the middle-aged is getting along with aging parents—parents who now may be growing more dependent on their adult children.

Communicating with the older generation may be easier for you if you stop and think through what's happening to your parents. And it's not easy to realize what it might be like at their age—when you find you can no longer do everything you once did.

When you're in your mid-years, you're still full of plans for the future. So it's hard to see that your parents' future may hold fewer things of importance.

But try to put yourself in their shoes. Go out of your way to be patient. And most important—show them kindness based on understanding, concern and love. Your parents are bound to appreciate this and, in turn, may be more understanding of your needs, too.

Students Graduate From N.C. Colleges

Eight students from Warren County were among degree candidates for 1977 spring graduation at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

Those receiving degrees included the following: Warrenton: Sarah Edna Burton, A. B.; Opal Yolande Ellis, A. B.; and Frank Wills Hunter, B. S. Pharmacy.

Norlina: Patsy Burton Daniel, A. B.; Nancy Catherine Gooch, A. B. Journalism; and Dwight Lyman Scotten, Jr., A. B.

Macon: Martina Enola Goode, B. S., Dental Hygiene.

Soul City: S. Charmaine McKissick, A. B.

Four Warren County students have received degrees from Chowan College.

Wanda Larrette Richardson of Norlina received a one year secretarial science diploma, Magna Cum Laude, from Chowan College during graduation exercises earlier this month.

Raymond William King of Norlina received the Associate of Science degree from Chowan College during graduation exercises.

Donell Quintichette of Manson received the Associate in Fine Arts Degree.

Stewart Adams Satterwhite of Warrenton received the Associate of Science degree in absentia.

President Bruce, E. Whitaker conferred the degrees as the Baptist, coeducational, two-year college closed its 129th year. Speakers were the pastor of the Warsaw Baptist Church, Dr. L. Mack Thompson, for baccalaureate, and Dr. Gordon W. Blackwell, president emeritus of Furman University, for graduation. Dr. Thompson is a former pastor of the Warrenton Baptist Church.

Three area students were among 1,457 degree recipients during Appalachian State University's 77th spring commencement held recently at Boone.

Jerry Lee Ayscue of Norlina received a M.A.T. degree in economics and business; Billy A. Watson of Warrenton received a B.A. in anthropology and June Gregory Tillery of Henderson received a B.S.T. in library science.

North Carolina State University honored 154 students from 56 North Carolina counties earlier this month at the University's 88th annual commencement in Reynolds Coliseum.

A Warren County student was among those recognized for superior scholastic achievement and leadership. Their names and honors were listed in a special section of the commencement program. He was Peter T. Hight, a forestry major and Conger Scholarship winner. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Hight of Rt. 2, Macon.

NCSU Chancellor Joab L. Thomas praised the students for their achievements.

4-H Members Meet In Joint Session

By TINA SALMON
On Tuesday, March 15, at 7:30 p. m., the Wise-Paschall 4-H Club and the Oine 4-H Club met for a special safety program. The program was held at the Wise School building.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mathews. Mr. Mathews presented a safety program on mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, the heart massage and first aid for choking. He stressed the importance of not panicking in an emergency situation.

By using Resuscitory Anne he showed us how to give mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and the heart massage. He also showed the newest method of first aid for choking, the Heimlich Maneuver.

All members were allowed a chance to practice life-saving methods on Resuscitory Anne. The program was both enjoyable and instructive.

Family Reunion

Approximately 65 relatives gathered on the lawn of Mrs. Louise Wilson in Warren County on Sunday for a reunion of descendants of Elbert and Daisy Capps Roberson.

Nine-month old Elizabeth Mathews was registered as the youngest in attendance while Mrs. Anna Wilson was noted for traveling the greatest distance.

The family feasted on Brunswick stew prepared Sunday morning in the old family washpot on an open fire, heaps of fried chicken, country ham, vegetables, pies and cakes. Following a brief rest under the welcomed shade trees, a good game of softball kept the ice tea and lemonade jugs empty.

Mrs. Roberson and the late Mr. Roberson have 12 children, 30 grandchildren and 16 great-grandchildren.
