District Contest To Draw Hopefuls From Local Clubs

By GLENN WOOLARD
Extension Agent 4-H
Twenty-six Warren County 4-H members are among hundreds of 4-H'ers from 16 counties in the North Central District who will participate in the annual District 4-H Activity Day competition on June 30 at Smithfield-Seima High School.

The District 4-H Activity Day is being held to select winners to vie for top honors during North Carolina 4-H Congress in July at North Carolina State University, according to Glenn E. Woolard, County 4-H Agent. Similar events are being held at six other locations in the state.

The 4-H'ers will compete in some 30 events, ranging from archery, cooking, and sewing, to landscaping, automotive skill driving, crop production and soil, water and wildlife conservation.

The Warren County 4-H'ers who will participate in demonstrations and their programs are: Shawn Cheston, Archery; Ben Sellers and Pamela Kersey, Automotive Skill Driving; Derrick Cheston, Beef Char-

Laurens Scuttles Florida Plans

Laurens Glass has scuttled plans to build a new glass container plant in Florida and decided against building a plant in Leesburg, a central Florida town, in the foreseeable future.

Charles W. Bussey, Jr., Laurens president, said this week that Laurens had made a reassessment of the industry climate and had both now and in the future. Bussey said a highly significant factor in the decision "is the proliferation of restrictive container legislation being offered to voters throughout the United States." He pointed out that legislative trade at state and national levels were considered in making the decision.

The company said that expansion of its plants in Rushton, La., Laurens, S. C. and Henderson would permit its many customers in Florida, southern Georgia and Alabama to be served

Extension House Plans Lead To Family Comfort

Mrs. Julia Alston of Route 3, Warrenton (Mayflower Community) and five of her ten children are enjoying the comfort, convenience and beauty of their new home, built by Extension house plan number 75.

The house has three bedrooms, living room, kitchen and dining area, bath, a utility area and ample storage in each room.

Furniture for one of the bedrooms was refinished by Mrs. Alston and her son, Guy, who has 4-H projects in Home Environment and Woodworking. In addition to keeping his bedroom clean and orderly, he is also responsible for the well kept lawn.

Faye, one of the daughters has 4-H projects in Crafts, Independent Living For Young Adults and Babysitting. She is responsible for assisting others in duties of housekeeping, and in meal planning and preparation.

Mrs. Alston says "I never thought this could happen to me, building a new house; but I give credit to God and to the Extension Service, and all others who were concerned with this project." She added, "Me and the children are really proud of our new home."

Mrs. Alston is active in church and community affairs, and is president of the Mayflower Extension Homemakers Club.

Construction was done by Cooper and Watson General Contractors. Service of the Farmers Home Administration was used in the construction of Mrs. Alston's new house.

Local Student Is Named Page

Michael Rand Ross of Ebony, Va., has been selected by Speaker Carl J. Stewart, Jr., to serve as a Page in the North Carolina House of Representatives. He will serve from June 20, to June 24.

Ross was appointed by Representative William T. Watkins of the 13th district. Michael is a student at John Graham Senior High School and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ulysses Ross.

Report Received

From Employees

By G. W. KOONCE

Extension Agent, 4-H
In a letter received at the County 4-H Office, Barbara Kearney of Warrenton and Michelle Somerville of Embro, summer employees at Schaub 4-H Camp near Waynesville, sent this weekly report.

Michelle and I arrived at Camp Schaub 4-H Camp at approximately 2 p. m. on Saturday, June 11. It is now 8:55 p. m. I am quite exhausted. The ride to camp was quite scenic and enlightening. The camp itself is all you said it would be. (What did I say???) Do you have a group coming up during the summer? (Answer—I hope the Haliwa 4-H Club's interest in touring Cherokee Village materializes, if so, we want to stay overnight at Schaub).

Our dietitian ran out on us and there was a fire in the girl's bath house. We were assigned cleaning duties of the facilities. We are not sure of the longevity of our jobs, but we do intend to keep the faith. Sincerely — Barbara and Michelle.

extension agent, gave an informative talk about 4-H Congress, which is July 25-29.

Mrs. Mary Jordan, teacher at John Graham High School, gave a very enjoyable and informative program on Public Speaking. Jan Jordan, Lisa Reavis and Shirley Hudgins assisted her by presenting a skit on the do's and don'ts of Public Speaking. Mrs. Jordan gave a follow-up on the skit afterwards.

Mr. Koonce discussed special interest groups in 4-H and the meeting was adjourned.

Lynch Represents County At Meet On State Campus

Each year the N. C. Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts, N. C. Chapter of the Soil Conservation Society of America and the N. C. Soil and Water Conservation Commission sponsor a Resource Conservation Workshop for high school students. One student from each of the 100 counties may attend the workshop.

Steve Lynch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Lynch from Norlina, represented the Warren Soil and Water Conservation District at the annual workshop held on the N. C. State campus, June 13-June 17. The workshop covered subjects such as North Carolina soils and their management, establishment of conservation practices, forest management and many others. On Friday after a week of classes, field trips and entertainment, a short examination was given on the subjects covered. Then awards and short talks by representatives of cooperating agencies were given.

The Warren Soil and Water Conservation felt that this is one method in which they can effectively further the soil and water conservation concept by stimulating interested young students to pursue conservation careers, to practice good conservation measures, or to become staunch advocates of conservation.

Hawkins Is Named Outstanding Pupil

Anthony Tyrone Hawkins, son of Charles and Odessa Hawkins of Route 3, Littleton, received an award for best-all-around for 1976-77 in his kindergarten class at Vaughan Elementary School. Mrs. Christmas was his kindergarten teacher.
