Senior Social Club Members Share Fun

By G. ELTON COOKE
On Thursday, July 28, the Norlina Senior Social Club met at the Norlina Baptist Church. Sixty-one members and guests were present. Mrs. Joyce Mabry, club president, gave a devotional, and officiated. Five door prizes were drawn.

Mrs. Mabry read letters of thanks from the Durham Methodist Retirement Home and from the Durham Walk and Talk Club and the Rev. Millard Warren for the club's band program.

Several weeks ago, the Norlina Senior Social Club Band went to Durham to entertain two retirement groups. The theme and costume motif was that of Hee Haw. Featured as the Hee Haw reporter was Mrs. Joyce Mabry; as Junior Samples was Oscar Baker accompanied by Lulu, or Mrs. Martha Driffin. Grandpa Jones was impersonated by B. A. Thaxton, who was assisted by Mrs. Ellen Moseley as Ramona. They gave their recipe for the day.

The four gossips were Mrs. Estelle Hicks, Mrs. Studie Coleman, Mrs. Edith Comer and Mrs. L. R. Harris. Each of these routines were interludes between each selection the band played.

The Alley Cat Parade accompanied by Mrs. Gladys Perkinson featured four Warren County cats with ribbons on their tails, and their trainers were Mrs. Louise Haithcock, Mrs. Helen Whitmore, Mrs. Ophelia Pearce, and Mrs. Sue Felts.

Following their parade, the Indian maiden, Red Wing, did her dance, assisted by Mrs. Virginia Perkinson and Mrs. Bessie Bartholomew on the harmonicas and Mrs. Hazel Norwood on the guitar. Mrs. Gladys Perkinson, Mrs. Emma Hicks and the Rev. Mr. Cooke helped with the words.

The last routine was the presentation of Warren County's Biggest Chicken, Big Millard, played by Mrs. Ophelia Pearce. She was chained and led by Bozo, Mrs. Mollie Haithcock, and accompanied by Ozzie (Mrs. Louise Haithcock) and Harriet. The final selection was "Y'all Come," an invitation to the audiences to come visit Norlina.

Mrs. Mabry read letters of appreciation from the two groups the band entertained. She also shared invitations from several other senior citizen clubs and homes, and plans to fulfill the engagements were made for September or during cooler weather.

The meeting Thursday was interspersed with hymns and the birthday celebrants were recognized and serenaded.

Slides of the trip to Washington, D. C., were enjoyed by all.

The Rev. Robert Rogers of the Wise Baptist Church, assisted by his wife, entertained the group by exposing all the men's feet for a group of select judges to identify. Mrs. Estelle Hicks won an award. Mrs. Lucille Jordan was a cohort in the amusing scheme.

Mrs. Ora Moore was hostess. Mrs. Mamie Weaver and Mrs. Mae Shearin assisted. The refreshments were bountiful and very tasty.

The next meeting will be a picnic. It will be at Kerr Lake, Kimball's Point, in the first shelter at 3 p. m. Games will be played, featuring The Family Feud, based upon a survey taken Thursday from the 61 present. Dinner will be picnic style at about 5 p. m. All members are encouraged to come. The date is Thursday, August 18.

Last week the band had a picnic at the home of Mrs. Joyce Mabry. For all the practice sessions, and for the several performances it presented, they treated themselves to a special picnic dinner, all bringing something to add to the menu. All of the band members but about three were present, and some brought family members.

The game, "Heavy, Heavy, Hangs Over Thy Forehead" was played, requiring Mrs. Cornelia Wiggins to get on her knees to propose to Oscar Baker, Mrs. Ora Moore to hopscotch, Mrs. Ophelia Pearce to crow and Oscar Baker to talk to a ceramic mule. Food and fellowship were great.

Circle Meets In Scotten Home

Circle No. 2 of the United Methodist Women met Monday night at the home of Mrs. Dwight Scotten with Mrs. W. H. Perkinson as co-hostess. Mrs. Scotten gave the devotional message.

Mrs. George Read gave the program, "I Believe in Life." Mrs. W. S. Hicks presided over the business session.

Delicious refreshments of punch and party dainties were served to the 11 members and one guest.

The September meeting will be at the home of Mrs. A. J. Hundley.

David Van Buren, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Van Buren of the Warrenton-Norlina Road, caught this five pound bass Monday while fishing in Mustian's Pond. The 12-year-old youngster was fishing in the company of his nine-year-old brother, John, when the catch was made.

town at no further cost.

There are so many ways that trained personnel can save a town money or find new sources of revenue, that his company is willing to make this guarantee, based on its experiences with other small towns, Swearingen said. His company, he said, has just signed a contract with Snow Hill in Green County, and at present is working at Louisburg and Wake Forest.

The commissioners told Swearingen that they would like to check with other towns before entering into a contract, and that following such investigation they would contact him for further study.

Roy Futrell of the Water Department, told the commissioners that one of the town's pumps was pumping sand and would need a strainer. After being told that the strainer and its placement would cost $500, and a little grumbling at the unpleasant news, the commissioners authorized Futrell to have the strainer installed.

The town authorized Leary Paint Company to inspect, weld, paint and otherwise take necessary steps to see that the interior of the Norlina water tank is in good condition, at a cost of $1800. The tank is under a ten-year warranty with the provision that any necessary repairs be made on the tank interior each three years.

The commissioners expressed some concern over New Car Transfer trucks traveling over Division Street since their trucks hauling new cars, at the rate of 24 trucks a day, can not pass under the 401 underpass. If it was suggested that the company be written a letter, explaining the difficulty and asking that the company re-route its truck so as not to pass through Norlina.

Ellis Fleming, Roy Gup-ton, Prince Burwell, Joe Jones, Leon Paynter, Rosetta Richardson, Lenwood Bullock, Samuel Alston, Darlene Mills, Mary Myrick, Lena Bullock, Walter Hawkins, George Jenkins, Maggie Perry, Helen Pitchford.

Nau Family Reunion Draws German Kin

Six family members from West Germany were on hand in Warren County last weekend as members of the Nau family from across the United States gathered for a family reunion.

The family, prominent in the Lutheran Church, has provided several ministers to the church. One family member, Dr. Henry Nau, was the first missionary of his church to India.

The reunion was organized by the Rev. John Henry Nau, oldest of four Nau brothers who migrated to America. He is a resident of Wisconsin. Conrad, the youngest brother, and last to arrive in this country, lives in the Ridgeway Community with his wife, Louise.

The Rev. David Dudley, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Ridgeway, said the reunion began Saturday afternoon with registration and refreshments, and an opening devotional by the Rev. Paul Reuter of Conover. During the afternoon an introductory session was held. Ladies of St. Paul's Church served the evening meal Saturday. On Sunday a service was held at St. Paul's during which the Rev. John S. Nau of Hattiesburg, Miss., spoke on a topic of "Roots and Wings." He delivered the sermon in both English and German which reminded those attending of the unity of Christianity.

At least 105 family members attended a buffet luncheon at Henderson's Holiday Inn Sunday where German guests showed film of Marburg and Wiesbaden on the Rhine River, where they make their homes. They also pictured current day German life.

From Ridgeway the visiting Germans made their way to New York by way of Williamsburg and Jamestown, Va., and Washington, D. C.
