

Warrenton Woman Elected President Of District 14

Mrs. L. O. Robertson, Jr., of Warrenton was elected president of District 14 at the annual Fall Meeting of the 14th district of the North Carolina Federation of Women's Clubs (NCDWC) held at the Norlina Baptist Church on October 18.

Her election makes two Warren County women to hold the office in succession. Mrs. G. W. King of Macon is immediate past president. Other officers elected included Mrs. Julia Carr of Franklinton, vice-president; Ms. Priscilla Davis of Roanoke Rapids, Junior Director; Mrs. Carroll Oakley of Henderson, treasurer; and Mrs. G. W. King of Macon, parliamentarian. The president selects her secretary and Mrs. Robertson named Mrs. Pete Fleming of Norlina as secretary.

The day, beset with awards and speeches from NCFWC officers, began with a coffee hour hosted by the Norlina Junior Woman's club.

Mrs. G. W. King presided over an assembly and the women were welcomed by Mrs. L. O. Robertson, Jr., of the Norlina Woman's Club. The Rev. G. Elton Cooke gave the invocation and the Rev. Charles Nathan Burgess rendered a solo.

Mrs. L. Murrie Lee, third vice-president of the NCFWC, gave a "Recipe for Clubwoman Cake" in her speech comparing the ingredients of a cake with ingredients of the ideal clubwoman.

Mrs. James W. Johnson, president of the NCFWC, spoke on "Bloom Where You Plant," and compared projects that help within a community to plants that bloom. She noted that projects "blooming" were from the heart.

Mrs. Henry Hull of the Oxford Woman's Club held a memorial service.

Mrs. G. W. King was then recognized and received one of the highest honors of the day. She was named honorary junior of the junior clubs in the district and presented a cross-stitch picture of the Junior emblem and flowers.

Following the assembly, a luncheon was served by the Norlina Woman's Club.

During the luncheon awards were presented for outstanding achievement in club work. The Warrenton Junior Woman's Club won three awards and the Macon Woman's Club won two. The Henderson Junior Woman's Club carried home most of the awards.

The Warrenton Juniors won the Julia C. Carrington award for "Best in Home Life;" the Sue Terry award for "Help-a-Home;" and the Nell C. Powell tray for "Leadership in the community."

The Macon Woman's Club won the Lemme Jordan award for "City Beautification" and the Mamie King award for "Help" with shut-ins.

Mrs. L. O. Robertson, Jr., of the Norlina Woman's Club received the honor award of the day when she was named district winner of the Bryant Citizenship award. The award is on an individual basis and makes her eligible to compete with the 15 other districts throughout the state for the state citizenship award.

A painting offered by Mrs. Maggie Hayes of Norlina was used for the art fund and won by Mamie King of Macon.

The meeting, attended by 103 women of the district, closed with the collect.

Longer Lives

The Health Insurance Institute says married men live longer than single men.

Mrs. L. O. Robertson, Jr., holds Citizenship Award she received as a district winner at the annual Fall Meeting of the 14th District held in Norlina last week. She will now compete on the state level.

Mrs. G. W. King (foreground) of the Macon Woman's Club is named Honorary Junior during the annual Fall Meeting of District 14 on October 18. Mrs. James W. Johnson, N.C.F.W.C. President, seems pleased with the honor.

Mrs. Elaine Coleman, Mrs. Eleanor Fuller and Mrs. Janet Harris (left to right) display silver awards presented the Warrenton Junior Woman's Club during an awards program at the Fall Meeting of District 14.
