Volunteers and the Adopt-A-School program were the main topics of discussion at the March 18 meeting of the Community Schools Advisory Council. The council met at the Carriage House Restaurant for dinner, with Mary Hunter, Community School director, presiding. The first item of business following the meal was to elect a secretary for the council. Mrs. Eva Howell was elected to fill that office. Mrs. Hunter then provided the group with an update on the activities and accomplishments that have taken place during the 1981-82 school year.

The remainder of the program was devoted to an overview of Warren County Schools' Adopt-A-School program, which encourages the involvement of volunteers (individuals, business and industry, civic and church groups) in the schools.

The council members were given specific examples of "adoptions" that had taken place during the present school year. As a means of demonstration, two of the winners in the Warren County Schools Storytelling Contest entertained the group with their stories.

Russell Norwood told the winning story that he wrote, "The Imitation Haunted House," followed by Carol Swain and her version of "The Creation," by James Weldon Johnson. The Storytelling contest in which Norwood and Swain participated was "adopted" by Branch Banking and Trust Co., which provided savings accounts of varying amounts to the winners.

Dog In Highway

Results In Wreck

Efforts to avoid hitting a dog resulted in E. B. Rogers, 54, of Warrenton damaging his station wagon early Saturday night, according to State Trooper Robert Redmond. No charges were filed, but damages in the 6:30 accident were estimated at $850.

Redmond said that in swerving to miss hitting the dog, Rogers' vehicle ran into the right shoulder of the road, crossed a ditch and struck a ditchbank on U. S. No. 1 about two miles from Warrenton. No personal injuries resulted, according to the patrolman.
