Henderson Tournament Plans Are Announced

The 26th annual Henderson Invitational Golf Tournament will be held May 1-2 at the Henderson Country Club.

The Henderson Invitational, one of the longest-running amateur events in the state, annually features some of the area's top golfers.

This field this year will be open to 176 players, who will be divided into 11 flights on the basis of their first-day scores.

An added feature this year will be a special "Super Ball" event for early arrivals on Friday, April 30.

General chairman for the tournament is Preston Powers.

Basic Chemistry Course Offered Vance-Granville

Due to new job openings in the Vance-Granville Community College service area, the school will continue its offering of a basic chemistry course during the spring quarter.

The course is designed to provide individuals with occupational skills needed for a number of employment opportunities at new, existing and expanding industries in the area. The instruction should be particularly helpful to employees or potential employees who work or plan to work in the areas of quality control and production, according to Daniel W. Guin, director of the Industry Services Division at VGCC.

The course likewise should benefit Licensed Practical Nurses who plan to pursue their RN certification at certain institutions, Guin added.

Eleven weeks in length, classes will be taught on Mondays and Wednesdays from 7 to 10 p. m., March 29-June 27, in room 5110 (chemistry lab) on the VGCC campus. The only costs to students will be an $8.00 registration fee plus the cost of text books.

To pre-register for the course, interested persons should call 492-2061 or 693-4088, Ext. 290.

Revolution On The Roads

The rate of change in the size, type, performance and number of vehicles on the nation's highways will be substantially different in coming years, threatening a revolution in our transportation system. Already, cars are smaller and slower, trucks are bigger and faster, and the combination could be dangerous.
