Retiring Lawmaker Is Honored

Congressman L. H. Fountain was honored recently by The North Carolina Democratic Club of Washington, D. C.

At the gala reception, which was held on Capitol Hill in the Merchant Marine Committee Blue Room, Congressman Fountain was praised by a number of spokesmen for his 30 years of outstanding service to the people of North Carolina's Second District, the state and the nation.

Bob Canavan, president of the club, presented Congressman Fountain with a lovely pictorial book of Washington on behalf of The North Carolina Democratic Club.

In attendance at the reception - which drew the largest crowd in years - were several prominent North Carolinians and others from government and from the private sector.

Congressman Charlie Whitley of North Carolina and Congressman Jack Brooks, chairman of the important House Committee on Government Operations, spoke in praise of Congressman Fountain's distinguished career of public service.

Among other dignitaries attending the event were Rep. Walter Jones and Rep. Ike Andrews of North Carolina, former Congressmen Horace Kornegay and Dave Henderson, and Congressmen-elect Tim Valentine and Robin Britt.

In his remarks, Congressman Fountain thanked the club and went on to discuss some of the highlights of his career as well as his hopes for the future of North Carolina and the nation.
