Graduate Is Saluted

Adrian Brantley Davis, 1985 graduate of Warren County High School, will be featured in WTVD-TV Channel 11 "Salute to the Best of the Class of 1985."

Co-sponsored by WTVD and General Motors Company, "Best of the Class" is designed to foster academic excellence by congratulating valedictorians and presenting the achievers as positive role models for other youth.

Davis is one of 70 valedictorians from public and private high schools within the 22-county viewing area to be shown in a series of 60-second tributes. The tributes began airing on June 17. Each student is highlighted individually.

The television station sponsored a luncheon on Saturday for the honorees, featuring Dr. LeRoy Walker, chancellor of North Carolina Central University as guest speaker. Parents and guidance counselors also attended a luncheon and heard remarks by Paul Bures, WTVD president and general manager, and Chrystle Swain, WTVD community relations manager.
