When a man makes an humble beginning and rises to wealth and distinction, he is pointed out by his fellow-men as a model self-made man. If a woman commences life as a chamber-maid, or any other position in the humbler walks of life, and afterwards rises in the world, the rest of womankind never forgive her. Why is it so?

The board of county commissioners met last Monday. There was very little done besides the auditing of a large number of accounts, attending to the county poor and outside paupers, and there seemed to be an unusual number of the latter. The opening of the bids for the overseer of the poor was laid over till next meeting. There are nine or ten applicants and there is no telling how many more will put in before the next meeting.
