Washington Letter.

(From Our Regular Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11, '88.

Ever since the announcement of the Committee, there have been many complaining members. Speaker Carlisle has, however, done well in the general verdict, and from the make-up of the committee, dispatch of business may be looked for in the way of early reports from the committees. The members of the present Congress who served in the last Congress have fared well in the assignments and in almost every instance stand high up in their committees. In order to give the committee an opportunity to organize and have bills assigned to the individual members, an adjournment was taken immediately after the announcement on Thursday until Monday. There is no want of material in the way of bills to act on, as there have been nearly 3,000 already introduced, there being 902 introduced the first day that the House met after the holidays. Many of these are bills that have been introduced every Congress for years past and most of them will share the same fate this year that they have in the past—die in committee. Some few unjust bills of a private character manage to escape the close scrutiny usually given them and are approved, but considering the number without merit that are introduced very few pass. The Committee on Claims this session however, is composed of men of experience in these affairs, some of them having been on the same committee last Congress and they will see that no bill savoring of jobbery gets out of the committee room. Lanham, of Texas is the chairman and he is one of the most active and sterling members of the House, promptness, thoroughness, and strict integrity are expected to characterize the work of that very important committee.

In the Senate, John Sherman made his tariff speech as I stated in a previous letter he would probably do. It was a strong argument of its kind and severely criticised the President's recommendations as contained in his message, but it received a close dissection at the hands of Senator Voorhees. The closest attention was given by all the Senators present, and by the crowded galleries, and the verdict seemed to be that Voorhees' reply added very much to his prospects for second place on the ticket. The contest between the gladiators has just begun but they are fast warming up to the importance of the subject and before long will be dealing telling blows in behalf of their respective sides.

A strong effort will be made this session to pass the Blair Educational bill. The members, especially from the South, are receiving many letters urging them to vote for it, and the advocates of the bill are claiming that unless the House will pass it, the states of Virginia and North Carolina will both be lost to the Democrats. The Democratic members, however, from these States are not ready to admit such is the case. What they are mostly interested in is the repeal of the tobacco tax, and they argue that the failure to pass such a repealing act will more than anything else draw from the parties' strength in those States. The advocates of the measure to repeal the tax are rapidly gaining strength in the House and as many Republicans favor such legislation, the passage of the bill may be looked for.

No bills have been reported on as yet by the committees and although many important measures have been introduced, still as they all are very much modified or altered in committee before being brought before the House for action, it is exceedingly difficult to give any reliable expression of the sentiment that may exist concerning them. Certain it is that the whole Democratic side of the House is willing to make material changes in existing laws favorable to the people generally, and the Republicans say that they do not propose to be overthrown in that particular by their opponents.

Xmas has come and gone. Parties and candy-stews were, I believe, the main amusements of the young. The debating society here gave one which was pronounced a success and very enjoyable.

The great event of the holidays was an oyster dinner given by the Farmers' Club. They obtained the use of the church for speaking, and had the dinner at the house adjacent owned by the joint stock academy company. The whole thing was a magnificent success and did credit to the managers. The cooking committee fell every one bountifully with oysters and turkey. All ate hearty and enjoyed it seemingly immensely. It was a disappointment that Col. Withers, who was invited and booked for a speech could not be on hand. The club is on rising ground here now and adding strength at every meeting. At their last meeting they appointed Rev. T. H. Walker to represent them at the Farmers' Convention at Greensboro, also appointed a committee to meet the Danville Tobacco Association. Farmers of Caswell ought to take hold of all these things. Let us hear from some other clubs.

Rainy, hot weather brings much sickness like pneumonia, pleurisy and the like. Several cases in the community.

A Lady's Perfect Companion

PAINLESS CHILD-BIRTH, a new book by Dr. John H. Dyer, one of New York's most skillful physicians, shows that pain is not necessary in childbirth, but results from causes easily understood and overcome. It clearly proves that any woman may become a mother without suffering any pain whatever. It also tells how to overcome and prevent morning sickness, swollen limbs, and all other evils attending pregnancy. It is reliable and highly endorsed by physicians everywhere as the wife's true private companion. Cut this out: it will save you great pain, and possibly your life. Send two-cent stamp for descriptive circular, testimonials, and confidential letter sent in sealed envelope. Address FRANK THOMAS & Co., Publishers, Baltimore, Md.

The Exchange Warehouse, Danville, Va., Jordan & Bernard, proprietors, not only beat the average made by all the other nine Warehouses of that market (109 1-3) one dollar and ninety-nine and a third cents, but adds new lustre to its glory by excelling largely the average made in the sale of samples exhibited at the late tobacco fair. While the average for the entire sales of all the tobacco exhibited by all the warehouses was $40.53, the Exchange Warehouse made for its large number of exhibits of fillers, smokers, cutters and wrappers the handsome average of $55.88 per hundred. Who'll beat it.

HOW DO WE DIE OUR GRAVES?

We must eat or we cannot live. This we all know. But do we all know that we die by eating? It is not we die our graves with our food. How foolish this sounds, but it is fearfully true. We are hurried at the approach of the cholera and yellow fever, yet there is a disease constantly at our doors and in our houses far more dangerous and destructive. Most people have in their own stomachs a poison, more slow but quite as fatal as the germs of those maladies which sweep men into eternity by thousands without warning in the times of great epidemics. But it is a mercy that, if we are watchful, we can tell when we are ill-treated. The following are among the symptoms, yet they do not always necessarily appear in the same order, nor are they always the signs in different cases. There is a dull and heavy feeling; a bad taste in the mouth, especially in the morning; the appetite is changeable, sometimes poor and again it seems as though the patient could not eat enough, and occasionally no appetite at all; fullness and sluggishness of the mind; no ambition to study or work; more or less headache and heaviness in the head; dizziness on rising to the feet or moving suddenly; furred and coated tongue; a sense of a lead on the stomach that nothing removes; hot and dry skin as in cholera; yellow tinge in the eyes; scanty and high-colored urine; sour taste in the mouth, frequently attended by palpitation of the heart; impaired vision, with spots that seem to be swimming in the air before the eyes; a cough, with a greenish-colored expectoration; poor appetite; red; a white slime about the teeth and gums; hands and feet cold and clammy; irritable temper and bowels bound up and constipated. This disease has puzzled the physicians and still puzzles them. It is the consequence of ailments and yet the most complicated and mysterious. Sometimes it is treated as consumption, sometimes as liver complaint, and then again as malaria and even heart disease. But its real nature is that of constipation and dyspepsia. It arises in the digestive organs and soon affects all the others through the corrupted and poisoned blood. Often the whole body—including the nervous system—is literally starved, even when there is no indication to tell the sad story. Experience has shown that there is put one remedy that can certainly cure this disease in all its stages namely, Shaker Extract of Roots or Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup. I never fails but, nevertheless, no time should be lost in trying other so-called remedies, for they will do no good. Get this great vegetable preparation (discovered by a venerable nurse whose name in a house hold word is Germany) and be sure to get the genuine article. GIVEN UP BY MANY DOCTORS. Shaker Extract of Roots or Seigel's Syrup has raised me to good health after seven doctors had given me up to die with consumption. So writes R. F. Grace, Kirkmanville, Tebb Co., Ky.

HE BECAME OF IT JUST IN TIME. "I had been about given up to die with dyspepsia when I first saw the advertisement of Shaker Extract of Roots or Seigel's Syrup. After using four bottles I was able to attend to my business as well as ever. I know of several cases of children and fever that have been cured by it." So writes Mr. Theo. Pullum, of Taylor, Georgia Co., Ala.

WORTH TEN DOLLARS A BOTTLE. Mr. Thomas P. Evans, of the firm of Evans & Sons, Merchants, Hometown, Accomack Co., Va., writes that he had been sick with digestive disorders for many years and had tried many physicians and medicines without benefit. He began to use Shaker Extract of Roots or Seigel's Syrup about the 1st of Jan. 1887, and was so much better in three weeks that he considered himself practically a well man. He adds "I have at this time no bottle on hand and if I could not get any more I would not take a cent more bill for it." All druggists or Address A. J. White, Limited, 57 West 38th St. N. Y.
