Crotalaria

This is a new summer leguminous plant to North Carolina. It makes a rank growth, one of the very best cover crops. It is not a forage crop, since stock do not eat it readily. It is well suited to the soils of this section and is a fine soil builder. Thousands of acres are grown in South Georgia and Florida.

It may be planted in groves, orchards and lands resting from previous crops. It is planted in the spring, either in rows or broadcast. Inoculation is not necessary. It grows from four to six feet high.

The editor has a pound of the seed and any farmer who will give it an honest trial may get some to test out. The seed cost 60 cents a pound, but in hundred pound lots will cost from 30 to 35 cents per pound. Most seed houses sell them.

OBITUARY

On the morning of January the eighth, dawn broke just in time to light the home-going of Mrs. S. J. Williams, aged 83, of Poplar Springs. With desolate hearts we sat beside the silent sea of death and watched that frail bark set sail for other shores, brighter far than these. Mrs. Williams has been in ill health for several years with the afflictions of old age. The numberless fragrant deeds and beautiful words of her life have touched upon thousands of chords in human hearts, that will vibrate with gladness and gratitude throughout eternity. She was ever ready to help the needy and "God loveth a cheerful giver." No alabaster box of hers was too precious to break upon the bleeding heart of humanity. She always had a smile for everyone, and a kind word. Today, these rare qualities are yet playing upon the chords of our hearts as we remember her, and methinks I can hear them all melt mysteriously into one heavenly strain. Surely, from Heaven's shores, she would answer us who follow after, that our real home awaits us there and that an All-Wise Father will some day explain the meaning of every bitter tear.

"What though the way be rough and dark? Just on the other side."

I fear no wind or tide; For loved ones wait my little barque. The deceased leaves to mourn her loss, 5 children: Mr. C. P. Williams, of Zebulon; Mr. W. T. Williams and Mrs. C. S. Perry, both of Poplar Springs; Mr. E. B. Williams of Bunn; Mrs. C. N. Allen of Garner, 3 children, Mrs. Arthur Collier of Cedar Rock, Mrs. C. V. Beddingfield of Bunn, and an infant boy, preceded the deceased to the grave. 32 grandchildren, 4 great grandchildren, and one sister, Mrs. J. C. White, of Bunn, and a host of friends survive. She was well known throughout this county.

The pall bearers and floral bearers were grandchildren. She was laid to rest beside her husband, who died January 26, 1907, there to rest until the resurrection morn.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Simpson and family of Raleigh, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Terry and family.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Duke and family of Wendell spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Faulkner and family.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Jacobs of Wendell spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Terry and family.

Success consists not of getting, but of doing.

Syrian Cucumbers.

We read of an Oklahoma man who is making money by raising Syrian cucumbers and selling the seed. The Syrian cucumbers are really better and crisper than the American kind. So is Syrian eggplant. Mr. A. D. Antone's garden proved this to us last summer. He had these vegetables in abundance and shared with his neighbors.

Owing to obituary notices, we find it impossible to get the Bunn School news in this week's Record. We hope to be able to publish all school news hereafter. However, since we are trying to give the people a real weekly newspaper, we shall have to ask our correspondents to put their news in the briefest space possible.

CHILDREN CRY FOR IT

CHILDREN hate to take medicine as a rule, but every child loves the taste of Castoria. This pure vegetable preparation is just as good as it tastes, just as bland and just as harmless as the recipe reads.

When Baby's cry warns of colic, a few drops of Castoria have him soothed, asleep again in a jiffy. Nothing is more valuable in diarrhea. When coated tongue or bad breath tell of constipation, invoke its gentle aid to cleanse and regulate a child's bowels. In colds or children's diseases, you should use it to keep the system from clogging.

Castoria is sold in every drug store; the genuine always bears Chas. H. Fletcher's signature.
