Our Weekly Sermon

THE NATION'S PULSE
 Righteousness exalteth a nation;
 but sin is a reproach to any people.
 Proverbs 14:34.

Many things do not constitute a wrong in themselves until they displace something of greater value. Many amusements are morally legitimate, but if they keep us from Church they do us amoral injury. The Church is the pulse of national righteousness. It means hospitals, colleges, civic organizations and national government; it means better schools, cleaner politics, purer social life; it means law and order and respect for those ideals that make a nation great; it means the reformation of individual life; it is the voice of God in the midst of the people, calling them up and on. There is danger of that voice being silenced with the clatter of our materialism. Let us think of all the Church has done, of all it means today, and then give its sacred influences first place in our hearts and minds.

EDITORIAL

A MEAN "MEANS"

One of the most peculiar things we have noticed lately is that any woman in these United States would trust Gaston Means enough to turn over any amount to him. His record has been published often enough and is sufficiently unsavory it seems to us, to warn folks away from him.

We have often heard of the meanest man, but perhaps the plural significance of "Means" expresses just that idea in a different way. In the time of Christ on earth, people possessed of demons were lunties. Some reports intimate that Means is crazy. After all, we rather think any one who goes beyond a certain limit in conduct or deed must be "beside" himself, which is another way of saying he is crazy. Such lunacy, however, does not excuse any one before his Creator, and ought not before the law.

CATHOLIC CANDIDATE

We appreciate the letter of approval by our correspondent, Mr. C. B. Hodge in another column. While we are prohibition to the heart, yet that alone would not determine the way we cast our vote. Just being a Catholic will not lose our support to any candidate. We want to say once again we believe the liquor question is a moral question. Many leaders in the Catholic church approve of the use of drink. Let it be Protestant of Catholic, we have never and will never vote for any one opposed to the 18th Amendment if there is any one else running who is morally fit to hold office and who favors law enforcement in this respect. We will not vote nor support any man for office who is immoral in any respect if we know it, provided his opponent is not more immoral. If both are evil, we will try to choose the lesser.

PRINCIPAL VS. POLITICS

It is delightful to be complimented for doing the thing one wants to do. In Raleigh Monday Prof Thomas commended us for publishing so much material of interest to farmers, sent out by the extension service of State College. And here we have been feeling no end grateful to the department for furnishing us so much good material. For the thing we desire with all our hearts is to make The Record a paper that will be helpful to our farmers. We know how much we depend upon them, and that our success is well-nigh impossible unless they succeed. And aside from any personal interest, we do want to see this section of our state become noted for its farms and its farmers. Zebulon will probably never be a city; but it can be one of the very best little country towns in this state or any other. And we ask nothing better than to help in this.

ANNOUNCEMENT

I hereby announce myself candidate for county treasurer, subject to the Democratic Primary of June 4th.

WHISKEY HERE TO STAY

Judge Meekins said the other day that we will always have prohibition. It may sound prosaic to many, and shocking to others, but we likewise believe we shall always have intoxicating drink. For centuries there have been laws against stealing, murder and other crimes, but people still steal and kill. Prohibition of any evil has never stopped it and never will. The best we may expect is to control it in some measure. As long as we have evil men and laws, violations will not cease. An argument to repeal the 18th. amendment is a call to repeal every law of the land against every crime prohibited, or punished by the intention of such law.

We believe the judge is right, but the righteous must not forget that evil cannot be legislated out of the land. "Eternal vigilance is the price of everything. And, too, "when the wicked rule the righteous mourn."

JUDGE RHODES

Our readers will find the announcement in this issue of the Record of Judge W. H. Rhodes as a candidate to succeed himself as judge of the Little River recorder's court. He has been judge of our court for sometime and the people have had an opportunity to learn his attitude towards the law and its breakers. While we do not propose to actively support any candidate for office through the columns of this paper, yet we do endorse very heartily the attitude Judge Rhodes in treating all before his court with impartiality whether they are white or color.

In the court of this week, white men were found guilty of breaking, he expressed his regret having to send them to the road their deed, yet he said he could do otherwise with a due sense of oath and his duty to administer justice impartially. He mentioned the fact that he had sent two men to the roads a short time for perhaps a lesser crime in sight of the law. We fully with this attitude of an officer of law. We, too, regret seeing neighbors suffer, but a worse is to have the law partially or justly administered. A judiciary is a just and impartial one.

LACK OF HAY IS POOR DAIRY FAULT

A hay mow filled with nothing but air by March 1 is too common occurrence in North Carolina and fatal to success in dairy farming. "A dairyman had better have much hay than too little," say dairy extension specialists at College. "This means that a acreage should be put to use during the spring and summer that each cow will have at least tons for feed next winter. Some the cows may not need all of this, especially if they get plenty of other feed but it is best to have a little left over by the end of February. The difference will be seen in the mow pile."

Mr. Arey finds from his work with the progressive dairymen of North Carolina that those who have a balance on the profit side of the ledger usually provide plenty of hay.

If a person is short on pasture hay, it may be advisable to plan small acreage to sudan grass and millet.

Good grazing can be secured from sudan grass and millet within six weeks to two months from the time of seeding.

HUNTING LICENSES

Washington.—More than 6,900,000 hunting licenses for taking wild game were issued to sportsmen throughout the United States and Alaska in the season of 1929-1930. Including receipts from combined hunting and fishing licenses, but not those from licenses issued for fishing only, the revenue to the states amounted to more than $10,000,000.

Grow More Food

Governor Gardner suggests that all who own idle land donate its use this summer to those who have none, for the growing of food, and that manual labor be exchanged for plowing, when necessary. He urges that all make every possible effort to provide for next winter, which may be severe, and concludes with the following:

"Manly self help will protect us from having to depend on the bitter bread of charity. My idea is to trust the government to do what it can. But to remember that our safety and our well-being next winter depend most largely upon what we shall do this spring and summer. We can provide for ourselves and our families, if we will do so."

THIS, THAT AND THE OTHER

(Mrs. Theo. B. Davis.)

Nothing that I have read for a long time seems to me so beautiful and soothing as the verses following. They sound exactly as if meant for us of the present day; yet they were written 60 years ago by John G. Whittier. Read them, if you read nothing else in this paper. And may they help to take from your souls the strain and stress, as they have helped to do from mine.

Dear Lord and Father of mankind
 Forgive our feverish ways;
 Reclothe us in our rightful mind;
 In purer lives they service find,
 In purer lives thy service find,
 In deeper reverence, praise.

Drop thy still dews of quietness,
 Till all our strivings cease;
 Take from our souls the strain and stress,
 And let our ordered lives confess
 The beauty of thy peace.

Breathe through the heats of our desire
 Thy coolness and thy balm;
 Let sense be dumb, let flesh and retire;
 Speak through the earthquake, wind and fire,
 O still small voice of calm!

ADVERS' FORUM

Theo. B. Davis,
 Zebulon Record,
 Zebulon, N. C.

Sir:

I am very much impressed by the content of the editor, in last week's issue, pledging his vote for Mr. Garner for president, and thought time that it would be fine if I could nominate a good Southern man (as I feel like that is the best) and there would be no fault I find with Mr. Garner's stand on our Federal Constitution. As we need a man that would pledge himself to support it, I understand Mr. Garner has done. That alone ought to be the nation's Christian vote. I could not afford to vote for Mr. Garner in 1928 because he is a Catholic and I think it would be indeed fortunate for the American voter to give the highest position at their hand to a Roman Catholic. I was thinking this morning that it is sad enough to be hungry without a yoke around your neck, and a yoke that is familiar with the history of Rome knows something about the Roman yoke. So let's join hands with the editor in praising Hon. John Garner for his nomination.

C. B. Hodge.

CHURCH MEMORIAL DAY

On the 4th Sunday in this month Wakefield Baptist church will hold a service in memory of the dead who lie in the church cemetery. All who have relatives at a distance are asked to write them about this service, that they may, if possible, be present, or send flowers. The Philathea class has charge of the day's program and will see that flowers are arranged in the church and afterwards taken to the graves for which they were meant. This class urges that all owners of plots in the cemetery see that they are cleaned and in order by the night of May 27.

The pastor will preach at 11:00 a. m. on "God's call to Reward." There will be special music.

This day will also mark the beginning of revival services at Wakefield. Rev. C. B. Howard will assist the pastor. Preaching will be at 3:00 and 8:00 p. m. each day.

WAKEFIELD W. M. S.

The W. M. S. of Wakefield church held a postponed meeting on Monday p. m. Devotional was led by Mrs. D. S. Joyner. The program was in charge of Mrs. C. H. Chamblee, who spoke on East and West. Mrs. Mamie Kimball spoke on China of Today, and Mrs. A. S. Bridges on Giving Christ to China. Messrs. E. H. Green and T. C. Pippin told of Japan and Japan's need of Christ.

In the business session it was decided to clean the church before the protracted meeting begins. It was also decided that prayer meetings be held in preparation for the revival and that a twilight service be held at the church next Sunday evening.

PHILATHEA CLASS MEETS

On Friday night, May 6, the Wakefield Philathea class met at the home of Mrs. Alan Pippin in Zebulon, with a good attendance. Mrs. J. H. Fowler, of Zebulon, gave a most interesting discussion of the characters depicted in recent Sunday School lessons.

The business session was presided over by Mrs. C. B. Pace.

The class made plans for Memorial Day, on May 28.

At the adjournment, the hostess served refreshments and a social hour was enjoyed.

Don't let the weevils take your crop

IT wasn't much use to plant cotton if the boll weevils are going to get most of it. All reports indicate that the weevils mean business this year. The warm winter, the late damp spring, the possibility of a wet summer, all point to a very heavy infestation.

A late crop won't stand much chance. If you can set your crop ahead of the weevils, you will be reasonably safe.

If there is one thing that will pick your cotton up and push it right past the weevils, it is Chilean Nitrate. Nothing takes its place for side-dressing cotton. While 200 pounds would be better, put on 100 pounds per acre right after chopping. That may prove enough. If not you can come along with 50 to 100 pounds more later in the summer.

Be sure you get Chilean. Specify Chilean to your dealer. He has it or can get it immediately. See him now!
