The South's Disadvantage.

A pension outlay approximating $200,000,000 a year half a century after the war—after four-fifths of the veterans really entitled to a place on the rolls have passed away—more than ever exemplifies the futility of preaching national economy in face of the existing community of interest in Congress. The postoffice appropriation bill that followed the pension bill through the Senate had a total of $283,000,000, and was the cause of some discussion, but the postal service pays for itself and hence the appropriation imposes no burden on the taxpayer, while the pension bill, every dollar of which is a drag on the Treasury, went through "without discussion and without protest."

The addition of $45,000,000 a year to the cost of pensions by action of the present Congress was only made possible by the changed attitude of the South on the subject. Formerly the Southern members demurred in principle—customarily by refraining from voting on pension measures—to the practice of taxing their section for pensions that went to the people of the North. But once they got into power, the Southern abandoned their position in order to enable their Northern party brethren to divide the pension vote. The other day a member from the South reminded Chairman Fitzgerald of the tendency of Congress to legislate in the interest of the North, but what once would have been a home thrust has lost its force—it has become a case of the kettle calling the pot black.

The pension system has taken upward of a billion dollars out of the South, and today the toll is about $70,000,000 a year, with a strong upward tendency. Of the $45,000,000 tacked on to pensions on motion of the majority side of the present House, nearly a third falls on the South. It was the South's contribution to the Northern Democracy's campaign fund, but it appears to have gone amiss; anyhow, the party vote fell below that of four years ago. By what process of calculation was the conclusion reached that the South's $12,000,000 or $15,000,000 would offset the $35,000,000 or more that at the same time inured to the advantage of the party that always had controlled the bulk of the pension vote?

We still hear the Southern impoverishment growing out of the ravages of the civil war, and we can expect to hear the same plaint just as long as the South's political economists evince a growing disposition to throw good money after bad. The South is making some headway despite its heavy handicap, but it would be doing better had it demanded from its representatives a clear demonstration either that the pensioners were fairly and justly entitled to an increase, or that the South should get a quid pro quo—a run for its money.—Washington Post.

Card of Thanks.

Editor The Graphic:
Through the columns of The Graphic allow me to publicly express to the good people of Nashville my sincere and grateful appreciation of their many kindnesses and courtesies shown during the recent sudden illness and death of my mother, Mrs. Jennie Harper. For their many expressions of sympathy and tender solicitude for mother and myself and members of our family we shall always feel sensibly appreciative.
Very Sincerely, her son
WILL G. HARPER,

Inauguration costs $73,000.
Woodrow Wilson's inauguration as president of the United States cost approximately $73,000. The expenditures of the citizens' inaugural committee was about 48,000 while the receipts from all sources were approximately $31,000. The deficit of $14,000 will be made up from the guarantee fund of $88,000 which was subscribed in Washington. The joint congressional inaugural committee spent about $25,000 appropriated by congress.

WANTED!—Several good men to work the book business on the note plan. $15.00 allowed for weekly expenses. For particulars apply to C. E. HEDGEPEETH, Nashville, N. C.

MINNEAPOLIS LADY BADLY SCALDED WHILE COOKING.

While preparing dinner a young Minneapolis wife had the misfortune to scald her hand so badly that over half the skin came off. She was alone at the time and rushed over to her neighbor's for help. This neighbor promptly applied Allen's Ulcerine Salve and in ten days the hand was completely healed without a scar.

This salve is one of the oldest remedies in America and since 1869 it has been known as the only salve powerful enough to cure chronic ulcers and old sores of long standing. Because it is so powerful, it will heal burns and scalds without a scar in a remarkably short time.

Allen's Ulcerine Salve heals from the bottom up and draws out the poisons. If applied on new cut and sores it heals in one-third the time that common salve and liniments take. Sold by The Nashville Drug Co., and other leading druggists.

The Graphic, $100. per year.

SALE OF REAL ESTATE.

Under a judgement, or order of sale, made by Jas. R. Gaskill, Esq., referee, 21 February, 1913, in re. Parker & Chappell, bankrupts, the undersigned trustee will sell at public auction for cash, at the court house door in Nashville, on Tuesday, March 25th, 1913, the two adjoining tracts of land, upon which H. E. Chappell now resides, lying in the county of Nash, about two or three miles from Nashville, conveyed to him by C. M. Boddie, one containing two acres more or less, by deed registered in Book 132 at Page 378, the other, containing 33 1/2 acres more or less, by deed registered in Book 162 at Page 91, the said sale to be made subject to a certain trust deed executed by H. E. Chappell and wife to J. P. Bunn, registered in Book 175 at Page 644, and subject to the said H. E. Chappell's homestead in the premises which has been allotted to him. That is, the trustee in bankruptcy will sell all the said land not covered by said homestead, and also the reversionary interest or estate in the homestead.

There has been allotted to the said H. E. Chappell, bankrupt, as his homestead, the dwelling house in which he lives, all of it except three rooms, namely the eastern octagon room down stairs, the room above that, and the other communicating room up stairs, and two acres of land embracing the well and stables, bounded on the west by a north and south line running from a stake on the public road opposite a three prong apple tree, from said stake through said tree in a north course 70 yards to a stake, thence in an eastern direction, parallel with the public road, 140 yards to a stake, thence south 70 yards to a stake on the public road, thence with the public road, 140 yards to the first station, there being reserved with the three excepted rooms the right of ingress, and egress, and the right to use the well, the dwelling house being upon the above described parcel of homestead land 70 by 140 yards. This 22nd, Feb. 1913.
