JOHN M. OGLESBY, City Editor.
 CONCORD, N. C., JUNE 10, 1910

Saint John's Day at the Oxford Orphanage.
 On Friday, June 24th, in the ample oak grove of the Oxford Orphanage the annual celebration of Saint John's Day will take place. The occasion seems to grow in interest from year to year. If conditions are favorable, it is likely that between seven and ten thousand of our people will gather in Oxford for the celebration.

A special session of the Grand Lodge of Masons of North Carolina will be held about noon and, very soon thereafter, the exercises set in the grove will begin. Unless something prevents, Grand Master Richard N. Hackett will preside.
 Mr. W. R. Ballou, of Oxford, will deliver the address of welcome.
 Grand Master Hackett has announced the appointment of Rev. Plato Durham, of Concord, as orator of the day.

The children of the Oxford Orphanage, with their sweet singing and their open air concert in the afternoon, will contribute no little to the enjoyment and profit of the occasion.
 Some of the visitors to Oxford will doubtless prefer to carry baskets and enjoy their dinner in good old-fashioned picnic style.
 An abundance of pure ice water will be provided.
 From stands on the grounds barbecue dinner, sandwiches, other lunches, fruits, ice cream, lemonade, etc., will be provided.

The Seaboard Air Line plans to again operate excursion trains from Raleigh, Durham, Weldon and Henderson. Besides the usual increased equipment and attractive special rates on regular trains, which are run on schedules most convenient for the people east of Oxford, the Southern Railway will operate an excursion train from Greensboro. This train will leave Greensboro at 7:30 a. m. and reach Oxford about 10:45 a. m. Returning it will leave Oxford at 4:30 p. m. and arrive in Greensboro about 7:45 p. m.
 The Oxford Orphanage, one of the greatest institutions in our commonwealth, its three hundred and thirty children, the meeting of the Grand Lodge of Masons, the splendid speaking, the sweet singing, the afternoon concert, the out of doors picnic feature, the fine fellowship—these are some of the attractions of this celebration. And the convenient excursions and low rates will be but added inducements for many of our people to go to Oxford Friday, June 24th.

Sheriffs Should do Duty.
 Greensboro News.
 In closing his reference to the internal revenue laws, together with their relation to the so-called sidewalk prohibition laws, Judge Boyd said: "The obligation to suppress such violations of law rests upon the sheriff of a county, as much as upon a federal official, and no honest county official can sit in the face of his state law and say it is none of his business to interfere with lawbreakers. A sheriff who takes that position should get out of office or his constituents should kick him out, or, as Mr. Roosevelt said of the government of Egypt, 'If England will not administer the laws there, she should get out and make room for some power that will insure peace and safety to its citizens or to the natives of Egypt.' If all of the sheriffs would do their duty as earnestly and zealously as the few revenue officials there would not be an illicit distillery in the state of North Carolina, in my opinion. However I am glad to be able to say that, in many instances, the sheriffs seem to be doing their duties in this particular, though I regret to say that the information from many counties is directly the contrary."

Chairman Woodson, of the Rowan Democratic committee has deserved well of the entire state for injecting real humor into the rather strenuous campaign now in progress. His congratulations to Chairman Sims, of the Republican county committee will elicit many a smile from Murphy to Manteo.—Charlotte Observer.
 Somehow or other the unexpected never happens to those who are expecting it.

FAMOUS MERIWETHER CASE.

Death of James R. Branch and the Charges It Involved.
 The most famous case of hazing in the history of the Naval Academy was what is known as the "Meriwether case," so called, on account of the fist fight between Midshipman Minor Meriwether and Midshipman James R. Branch. As a result of this fight it was alleged that Branch received injuries from which he died on Nov. 7, 1905, and Meriwether was court-martialed on three charges, viz., manslaughter, violation of the third clause of the Eighth Article for the government of the navy, and conduct to the prejudice of good order and discipline.
 Meriwether was acquitted of the first charge, but found guilty of the second, which was that he insulted and subsequently assaulted a fellow midshipman, and also of the third clause, to the prejudice of good order and discipline. In regard to the charges of manslaughter it was stated by the medical witnesses that the injuries alleged to have caused Branch's death might have been caused by a fall several having occurred during the fight. Meriwether was sentenced to be reprimanded and confined to the limits of the naval academy for a period of one year.

At Bignon's.
 Many American visitors to Paris are acquainted at Bignon's, a restaurant where no prices were set down on the bill of fare. The guest had the artistic satisfaction of dining in ignorance of what the expense would be, but he was very likely to discover when he received his bill that ignorance is, indeed, bliss.
 A stranger dining there in April ordered a melon.
 "What?" he exclaimed, when his bill was presented to him "Thirty francs for a melon? You are joking."
 "Monseur," said Bignon, "if you can find me three or four at the same price, I will buy them."
 "Fifteen francs for a peach?" said a Russian prince on another occasion. "They must be very scarce."
 "It isn't the peaches that are scarce, your highness, it is princes," replied Bignon.
 "Monseur Bignon, a red herring at two and a half francs? Isn't that exorbitant?" asked another customer.
 "It is in your interest, monseur. My prices are the barrier I have established between classes. Why do you come here? To be among yourselves. If I change my prices the house would be invaded and you would all leave."
 Another patron complained of a sauce. "Did you dine here last evening?" asked Bignon.
 "No."
 "Ah, that is the trouble! You spoiled your taste in some other restaurant."

Breaking the Steers.
 During an Old Home Week celebration in a small town in New Hampshire there were present a learned judge from a Western city, a professor from Boston and a United States Senator. Grave and austere of manner, as became their age and honors, they addressed each other by the titles which belonged to their several stations. But they had been schoolmates, and when the Senator told a story of school-days the accumulated ice of forty years thawed in a burst of laughter, and they were John and Bill and Horace once more. The Dellmeator repeats one of their stories:
 "Bill, do you remember breaking the steers?" laughed Horace.
 "Now that's between you and me, Horace."
 "No secrets here," said John. "Out with it!"
 "One summer one of Bill's steers got mired in the swamp and was killed. Bill wasn't going to miss the fun of breaking the steers, so the next winter he yoked himself up with the one that was left. I met them coming down over the crust like Sam Hill. Bill yelled between gasps. 'Stop us! Stop us! We're running away! I cornered them in an angle of the wall. As soon as Bill got breath enough, he said, 'For goodness' sake, Horace, unyoke the other steer!'"

Reforming the Head Hunters.
 A curious development is in steady progress in the Solomon Islands, the group of the South Pacific which lies to the West of New Guinea, whose people have earned such unenviable notoriety as head hunters. The young men of the tribes in three fertile and beautiful islands are abandoning the historic pursuit which has made them dreaded for centuries in the South Sea and are taking to the copra industry. Copra, which is the dried interior of the coconut, is valued commercially for the oil which can be pressed from it, and some of the young Solomon Islanders are now accumulating considerable wealth by extracting it, though the older generation to whom head hunting is still the only profession for a gentleman, are said to look down upon them as being in "huda."

Another Boxer Uprising is Feared.
 Baltimore Sun.
 Alarming reports from Peking indicate a renewal of the anti-foreign Boxer uprising of ten years ago, Nanking, on the Yangtze river, being this time the chief center. Formerly the capital of China, Nanking has long regarded Peking and the Manchú dynasty, as well as the foreigner, with aversion. Its population, numbering some 450,000 souls, has now become turbulent and threatens violence to all "foreign devils" within the city's limits. Menacing placards posted along the streets call upon the people to rise and slaughter the odious foreigners. Today, the date of the opening of the Nanking exposition, has been chosen for the opening of hostilities. Ostensibly, like the Boxer trouble, an anti-Manchú uprising, the movement is said to be really directed mainly against foreign missionaries, merchants and visitors, with the idea that now is the time for the Chinese patriot to recover what has passed into alien hands.
 So far no murders are reported, only acts of insult and menace. The country is flooded with warnings from a mysterious "revolutionary" board of war to the effect that aliens must depart. Foreign consuls, much impressed by the native attitude, are giving their consulars similar advice. A general exodus is accordingly in preparation and there is some speculation that the storm should burst before all foreigners reach shelter. There are happy numerous warships of various nationalities in the Yangtze river, or in easy reach of it; among the rest, several American vessels. These will be able to protect fugitives from violence and afford means of escape.
 Unfortunately the interest is not confined to the province of Kiangsu, of which Nanking is the chief town, but extends to Chi-li and other provinces. The anti-foreign feeling is general, and observers in many parts of the empire have called attention to its increase and to the dangers it portends.

SPENDING THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS EXPERIMENTING

The Scientist Made a Great Discovery.
 When a man is in doubt it becomes his duty to investigate and when proof is piled upon proof it is time to be convinced. There is nothing in life so valuable as good health. The reporter of this article personally knows of several people here that are rapidly regarding their health because they investigated the proofs produced by the Root Juice people and were convinced. We positively know that an eminent scientist devoted several years of his life to hard study and spent over ten thousand dollars experimenting before the afflicted were permitted to try his great discovery, which is now curing people all over the country, after all others remedies had failed. If you blurt and belch some cases; if your feet lay heavy on the stomach; if you have any symptoms of indigestion, we honestly believe that one dose of Root Juice will convince you of its wonderful merits. Root Juice soothes and leads the mucous lining of the stomach, bowels and bladder and at the same time heals and strengthens the liver and kidneys. It prevents fermentation of food in the stomach and bowels and stops formation of acid by causing the digestive fluids to be supplied in sufficient quantities in natural way and exerts the liver and kidneys. Health and strength the liver and kidneys tend to do. The blood will soon be filtered of all impurities and most rich blood will be made to nourish the whole body. Poor, weak women and dyspeptic, backaching, rheumatic men, take this advice before it is too late. Go immediately and get a bottle of Root Juice. Now on sale, $1 a bottle, or three bottles for $2.50 at Marston's drug store.

HOW TO CURE RHEUMATISM.
 It is an Internal Disease And Requires An Internal Remedy.
 The cause of rheumatism and kindred diseases is an excess of uric acid in the blood. To cure this terrible disease this acid must be expelled and the system so regulated that no more acid will be formed in excessive quantities. Rheumatism is an internal disease and requires an internal remedy. Rubbing with oils and liniments will not cure, affords only temporary relief at best, causes you to delay the proper treatment, and allows the malady to get a finer hold on you. Liniments may ease pain, but they will no more cure Rheumatism than paint will change the fiber of rotten wood.
 Science has at last discovered a perfect and complete cure, which is called "Rheumacide." Tested in hundreds of cases, it has affected the most marvelous cures; we believe it will cure you. Rheumacide "gets at the joints from the inside," sweats the poisons out of the system, tones up the stomach, regulates the liver and kidneys and makes you well all over. Rheumacide "strikes the root of the disease and removes its cause." This splendid remedy is sold by druggists and dealers generally at 50¢ and $1 a bottle. In tablet form a 25¢ and 50¢ a package. Get a bottle today. Booklet free if you write to Bobbitt Chemical Co., Baltimore, Md.

Scared into Sound Health.
 Mr. B. F. Kelley, Springfield, Ill., writes: "A year ago I began to be troubled with my kidneys and bladder which grew worse until I became alarmed at my condition. I suffered also with dull heavy headaches and the action of my bladder was annoying and painful. I read of Foley's Kidney Pills and after taking them a few weeks the headaches left me, the action of my bladder was again normal, and I was free from all distress." Cabarrus Drug Co.

What a Summer Cold May Do.
 A summer cold if neglected is just as apt to develop into bronchitis or pneumonia as at any other season. Do not neglect it. Take Foley's Honey and Tar promptly. It loosens the cough, soothes and heals the inflamed air passages, and expels the cold in the system. Cabarrus Drug Co.
