

LETTER FROM MISS TUTTLE.

Another Interesting Letter from the Missionary to China.

Miss Julia Judson Tuttle, missionary to China, from whom we have published several most interesting letters about conditions in China and the work there, recently wrote another letter, this time to the Light Bearers of Central Methodist Church here. The following is the letter in full:

Dear Light Bearers:—Doubtless this will be a dull letter as I am writing it at a time when I do not feel bright enough to study Chinese characters. However, one finds that to get letters written at all one must utilize all sorts of inauspicious moments.

Be it said to the weather's credit that it is not to blame for my stupidity—I can hardly say "I am under the weather." The sun has been smiling his brightest for the last four or five days, the air is fine, the birds are singing—I believe you still class English sparrows, crows and magpies among the singing birds—and the flowers and grass are doing their best to cover mother earth with beauty wherever they have the right a way. In our McTeire compound it is quite pretty and green. Two of the teachers seem to revel in the cultivation of flowers, and they, with a number of the students who have caught the desire have a number of beds of violets, pansies, daisies, hyacinths and daffodils. The dandelions are running an independent business, unaided, unhelped, but, as you see, not unsung, for I insist on calling attention to their glowing beauty and their broad democratic principles.

Though I have the flowers all about me I am afraid I am not a born gardener. I prefer spending my odd moments in the swing which I pump until I lie among the branches, or down along the water front on the Bund where the tidal waves splash and curl on the rock barriers. I never tire of the sound of waters or the busy, strange life that goes on over the face of it.

The varied life of Shanghai makes itself known as much on the water as in the streets for it seems that every style of "ship" is to be seen. Its nationality not only has its own flag to float in the breezes but also has its special style of boat. It is intensely interesting to watch the row and sailboats and the business-like little launches cutting around among schooners, tugs, merchant and war vessels.

On gala days all vessels in port "dress ship" i. e., rig up in the flags of all nations, and it is very, very beautiful to see these many colored, many designed pennants floating out their message of brotherhood.

But enough of how I pass my leisure. Here's to hard labor! As one's residence lengthens out the plot thickens—every week brings new responsibilities without adding a single minute to the calendar for the accomplishing of them. Just at present I am reviewing for our third quarter's examinations and spending much time in making out questions to help the students find their way out of the labyrinth when the final test comes.

Mr. Fletcher Brackman, who is doing so much for the students of China, gave us an interesting report of his recent visit to Japan where there are about four thousand Chinese students. He said that he had never before seen such a deep earnestness among young men; and that practically all of the bodies of young men he addressed sanctioned the superiority of the Christian religion and admitted that it was the one thing which would save China. Great numbers professed Christ as a personal Savior. His report from Korea was very encouraging also, but the Koreans are naturally a more demonstrative people.

The students here in McTeire are doing some earnest thinking. About one third I suppose are professing Christians while the greatest number are friendly to our faith—only three or four who are antagonistic. Quite a few are held back from church membership by their heathen parents. We are praying that all of our girls may have a personal knowledge of Christ before the summer vacation. Join us in this prayer.

Our girls, coming from influential homes, will have much to do in the making of the new China and we can do so long to teach them wisely. It is a pleasant but not an easy place to work. One continually feels the need of divine guidance. I am glad to remember that many prayers in the home land ascend with mine for this great land. I wish you might know some of the girls. They are pretty and sweet and full of life and fun. Only this afternoon I spent a very pleasant hour with them and was again reminded of how like American girls they are when they have once been thrown with foreigners.

My love and best wishes to each of you young women and girls; may our Father bless you!
Yours,
LELIA JUDSON TUTTLE.

LETTER FROM MRS. R. A. BROWN

Writes Most Interestingly of Her Western Trip and Visits.

Dear Mr. Editor:—As I always read and enjoy the letters written by the good people of dear old Concord when they take a trip away from home, I felt that perhaps others would also enjoy a communication from me regarding my trip.

On June 2nd I left Concord for a visit to various places of the North. My first stop was at historic old Lynchburg, where I spent a most delightful week with my friends, Rev. and Mrs. C. L. T. Fischer. Its exceedingly hilly location, central position on various railroad systems, its modern appearance and the thrift of its people, together with its historical surroundings impressed and pleased me very much. It is a charm possessed by no other city in the South. It will be remembered that the largest of the Randolph-Macon Women's Colleges is located here. I attended its commencement and out of its 500 pupils, 46 received diplomas.

In every direction one rides, walks or travels, one is on historic ground, where the mighty armies of the Great War moved, 1861 to 1865.

The elegant homes, beautiful surroundings, fine gardens, orchards and vineyards; the peaceful hills and meadows, bring to me only pleasant recollections of my delightful stay there, and I gladly say, "Long live Lynchburg, the grand old city of grand old Virginia."

Over the Norfolk and Western I sped on over battlefield after battlefield, through the coal fields of the Appalachian Range, bound for Columbus, Ohio, the capital city of the "Buckeye State." At Columbus I spent a very pleasant week with the Rev. H. N. Miller's family, whose wife was Miss Cora Patterson, of China Grove, N. C. The Doctor is pastor of the First English Lutheran church, of the city, and has a very commodious and comfortable parsonage, as his home. His congregation is about to build a new and very elegant church that will cost between $30,000 and $40,000.

I have been very much surprised at the great strength of the Lutheran church in Ohio. There are 28 Lutheran churches in Columbus, Toledo, I am told has 20 Lutheran congregations and Cleveland, where I also spent a week, has 31. There are 200,000 Lutheran church members in Ohio.

Columbus is very centrally located and is modern in every sense of the word.

High Street, the principal thoroughfare, is the most beautifully lighted street I ever saw. Its stores are elegant, its factories mighty affairs, and it is a railroad center of unusual excellence. Its fine Union Station is an ornament to the city and every facility to make travel pleasant is afforded. One cannot help but be impressed with the thrift and evidences of wealth everywhere. The hurry and bustle impresses everyone that comes here from the Sunny South. Everybody moves fast and time and machinery are used to the utmost in carrying on the work of man.

The people here every where been quite kind to me and I have been received on all sides and by all classes with a courtesy that has somewhat surprised me, but it makes my stay very pleasant.

MRS. R. A. BROWN.

Not all of Double Track Completed.

The Charlotte Observer says the double tracking of the Southern is now complete from Charlotte to a point two miles north of Greensboro. This is practically so, but we call attention to the fact that there is no double track from the Buffalo mill here to the Coddle Creek bridge, a distance of about five miles.

Fitz Thinks it Will be Greatest Fight of All.

Bob Fitzsimmons, ex-champion heavyweight, arrived in Seattle yesterday on his way to Reno to see the Jeffries-Johnson fight. Fitzsimmons hopes that Jeffries will win and believes that he will if he is in good condition.

"You'll see a fight that is a fight," said Fitzsimmons. "Jeffries never has hit a man as hard as he can, but he will not be under restraint with Johnson. When Johnson faces the only man who ever beat me fairly and honestly, he will have the toughest argument of his career."

What President Taft Says About the Sane Fourth Movement.

I am heartily in sympathy with the movement to rid the celebration of our country's natal day of those distressing accidents that might be avoided and are merely due to a recklessness against which the public protest cannot be too emphatic.

WILLIAM H. TAFT.

BISHOP KILGO'S ADDRESS.

Speaks to Thousands At Annual Meeting of Baptist Orphanage at Thomasville.

Thousands were in attendance in Thomasville Wednesday at the annual meeting of the Baptist orphanage. Bishop John C. Kilgo who delivered the address spoke of the orphanage and its work and declared that in supporting such institutions the American people would work out their salvation from the curse of rapidly accumulating wealth, says the correspondent of the Charlotte Observer. The spirit of benevolence, he said, was the safety valve of the republic. The age is characterized by a perfect mania for ease and extravagant comfort. He spoke of the five hundred millions invested in automobiles, and although finding fault with no man who could afford this form of pleasure, he deplored the fact that wage-earners are mortgaging their very homes to own a pleasure machine.

To check this insanity was the spirit that founded orphanages, hospitals, colleges. The bishop said he doubted not at all that many a Methodist had been saved from hell by the collection box; and a few Baptists too. The orphanage was not the work of literary circles, but was the work of God's Church. The Church, he declared, had done all that is worth while in the world. This age, he said, was witnessing a gentle, refined, skepticism, one that insinuated in its criticism of the Church and suggested in its inquiry. Somebody wrote a series of magazine articles recently and asked what was the matter with the Church, and declared that unless the ministry raised its standard of intellectuality, the Church would lose its hold on the people. The bishop laughed to scorn this idea and declared on the Sabbath and did not go to church, it was not because they were intellectually superior to the preachers. A generation could hardly be termed intellectual that found delight in "Tribly," "Ships That Pass in the Night," and "The One Woman" to the exclusion of nobler works. He declared that the age was not one of intellectual effort but rather of intellectual ease and play. The ministry had ever stood on the firing line, fighting the battles of humanity. The great reader and the deep thinker of the times was the minister. Rather than being superior to the pulpit the people today are the reverse so that the minister finds it necessary to so preach that his hearers will be able to take it in. He declared that the people of God are indeed the salt of the earth, the light of the world and that the business of the world is carried on by church members. And he said that when faith decayed, all else would decay. He closed with an appeal to his hearers to get themselves in line with the Church and to give to its enterprises their lives and money and influence.

The address, like all the bishop says, was surpassingly able and held the hundreds who heard it with a power that was unbroken. Frequent applause swept over the vast crowd.

Facts in Life of Late Senator John W. Daniel.

Born at Lynchburg, Va., September 5, 1842.

Served in the Confederate Army of Northern Virginia throughout the Civil War, and was wounded four times.

Became adjutant general on General Early's staff.

Studied law at the University of Virginia in 1865-66, and was admitted to the bar in the latter year.

Served in the Virginia House of Delegates in 1869-72.

Member of the State Senate in 1875-81.

Presidential elector in 1876.

Defeated for Governor of Virginia in 1881.

Member of Congress, 1885-87.

United States Senator since 1887.

The world expects a man to make a fool of himself over a woman, but it never forgives a woman who makes a fool of herself over a man.

Your Bank Deposits and Our Best Service is Yours.

Thirteen Years of Successful Experience.

Paid in Capital ..... $100,000.00

Earned Surplus and Undivided Profit... 50,000.00

With Resources over..... 700,000.00

All combined to equip us to serve you. We want a large number of new accounts—small accounts as well as large ones welcomed.

The Cabarrus Savings Bank.

YOUNG MAN LEAVES HOME.

Sixteen-year-old Son of Mr. W. H. Heglar, of No. 1 Township, Left Home Last Monday and Has Not Been Heard from—Had Appendicitis and Feared an Operation, it is Thought.

Pratt, the 16-year-old son of Mr. W. H. Heglar, of No. 1 township, rural mail carrier on route No. 6 from Concord, left his home last Monday afternoon, and although every effort has been made to trace him, nothing has been heard as to his whereabouts.

The young man has had several attacks of appendicitis, from each of which he so far recovered as to attend to his usual work on the farm. Several days ago he had another attack and his parents had decided to send him to a hospital for an operation. The fear of an operation, it is thought, was the reason for his running away, as no other reason is known. He has had four or five attacks of appendicitis in the past 18 months. Last Monday afternoon he left his work in the field and started out walking toward Charlotte. He was seen to pass Harrisburg about 4 o'clock and Newells an hour or so later. The police force in Charlotte were notified, but after a diligent search they have been unable to find him. Mr. Tom Heglar went to Charlotte and spent several days looking for him, but could find no trace of him whatever. Mr. Heglar returned to Concord Wednesday night.

Pratt will be sixteen years old in August. He is 5 feet and 6 inches high and weighs 125 pounds. He has black hair, dark brown eyes, is dark skinned and right badly sunburned. He leans slightly forward and to the right when walking, caused by appendicitis. When he left home he had on a new suit of light clothes, light hat, black socks and low shoes.

He was last seen in Charlotte Tuesday night, June 28, and there is no further trace of him. It is thought he may be somewhere down the Seaboard Air Line from Charlotte, or in South Carolina at some of the plants of the Southern Power Co.

Mr. Heglar and family are greatly disturbed about the disappearance of their son, as it is feared he may be ill somewhere. He will greatly appreciate any information concerning him. Address him at Concord, N. C., R. F. D. No. 6, or wire him here.

You never really know a woman until after you have married her, and then the knowledge isn't much use to you.

To know thyself is wisdom; to know how not to impart that knowledge to others—that's cleverness.

STRENGTH

WITHOUT HURTING THE GROWTH OF YOUR BUSINESS IS A KNotty PROBLEM—YET WITHOUT DOUBT A CHECKING ACCOUNT WILL HELP PICKING OUT THE UNNECESSARY EXPENSES BY LOOKING OVER THE STUBS OF YOUR CHECK BOOK WILL ENABLE YOU TO KEEP A CLOSER TAB ON WASTE OPEN YOUR ACCOUNT HERE.

4 Per Cent Interest Paid on Time Deposits.

CONCORD NATIONAL BANK

Capital $100,000 Surplus $30,000

ASSESSMENT.

The Cabarrus Mutual Fire Insurance Assessment for May is due and payable at the Concord National Bank within sixty days from May 1st, 1910.

JNO. K. PATTERSON, Sec.-Treas.

6-19.

WHO IS S. J. BARROW?

Visited His Son in Asheville and Left May 11 for His Home and Has Not Been Heard From.

In its issue of Thursday the Asheville Gazette-News has the following: After a visit to his son, M. B. Barrow, who resides here, and leaving Asheville May 11 for his home in Concord, S. J. Barrow, who is employed in a cotton mill at that place, has disappeared, and his family, after making diligent search, are unable to discover his whereabouts.

Mr. Barrow, who lives with two daughters in Concord, came here in the spring for a short visit to his son and left here with the intention of returning to his home. But he did not arrive at his home and his family, fearing that he had met with foul play, instituted inquiries throughout this section of the country but could learn nothing of him. There are relatives of the family residing in one of the western States, but inquiries in that direction brought no results.

Mr. Barrow is about 55 years of age, apparently in sound health, and no motive is known for a voluntary disappearance. He carried some money when he went away but just how much is not known. The family is doing all in its power to locate him and any information about him will be gratefully received.

Mr. W. C. Correll Got the Sewing Machine.

The auction sale at the Concord Furniture Co. came to a close yesterday afternoon. A large number of people visited the store during the sale and the management is well pleased with the results. The Standard sewing machine which was auctioned off was won by Mr. W. C. Correll, whose bid was $18.

Will Demand Chariton.

The Foreign Minister at Rome has definitely decided to demand the extradition from the United States of Porter Chariton, who confessed in New Jersey to killing his wife near Lake Como.

See The Times for Job Printing.

TOIL IN THE OLD NORTH STATE.

By a Concord Matron.

In seeking your fortunes, boys, Never go West for riches or joys, That lie so near through the open gate For those who toil in the Old North State.

From Georgia to Kansas you may roam But give me my Carolina home, Yes, Carolina I'll sing of thee, The sweetest land in the world to me.

Ye sons of men, now answer the call Your own Southland extends to all, Gladly give to her your strength and wait Content to toil in the Old North State.

No brighter place where the sun doth shine Rivers and valleys and long leaf pines, No lovelier clime where birds do mate Than in the mountains of the Old North State.

McGeachy-Harding.

Invitations have been received here announcing the coming marriage of Miss Irving Harding, daughter of Prof. C. R. Harding, of Davidson, and Rev. A. A. McGeachy, of Charlotte, which will take place in the Presbyterian church at Davidson on Thursday, July 14, at 9 o'clock. Miss Harding is a niece of Mrs. W. J. Montgomery, of Concord.

Notice.

There will be a meeting of the executive committee of the Sunday School Association of No. 12 township Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at Epworth Methodist church.

C. A. ISENHOUR, Chm'n.

Heat in Philadelphia Cause of Six Deaths.

Six deaths from the heat occurred in Philadelphia Thursday. Five were children and the other an aged woman. The maximum temperature for the day was 90 degrees until 4:15 o'clock. The mean temperature was 82 degrees, seven degrees above normal.

You can turn a crank down, but he always turns up.

How About Your Summer Shoes?

Have you tried the SELBY for ladies? If not, you are missing a real treat these warm days. We have all the leading styles, such as Black Suede, Patent, Gun Metal, Tans Vici, ankle and instep straps Pumps and Oxfords in all sizes.

Prices run from $2.50 to $4.00

Nice, cool Vici one-strap Oxfords.....$2.00
Cheaper grades.....$1.25 and $1.50
Misses' patent, gun metal, tan and vici ankle strap Pumps from.....$1.25 to $2.25
Same in children's.....75c, 90c, $1.00 to $1.50
Infants' from.....25c to $1.00
All sizes barefoot Sandals...50c, 75c, 90c, $1 to $1.25

No better shoes made and the price is cheaper than you can buy the same quality anywhere. It is a pleasure to show them to you.

H. L. Parks & Co.