MY PLEASANT NEWS.

Opening of the Educational Institutions—Fine Health Record—The New Church at Cold Springs—Successful Meeting at Center—Personal Items.

At last we are at the end of the usual summer dullness. The Collegiate Institute begins the new session tomorrow and Mont Amosa Seminary Thursday opens for work. Already students are beginning to arrive and indications point toward a most favorable opening for these well known institutions. Capt. Stuart E. Brown arrived last Thursday. Capt. Brown succeeds Capt. Porcher as commandant of cadets at the Institute. He is a graduate of V. M. I. and came with highest recommendations. The Institute is to be congratulated upon securing his services, since he received many flattering offers from other institutions.

Mr. Pleasant is noted for its health record, and especially has the record been exceedingly high during the summer. We fear, however, that this fine record will soon be broken. We are entering that peculiar season of the year when an epidemic becomes prevalent, one for which our physicians (and we do not mean to reflect upon their professional skill) are unable to prescribe with any apparent degree of success. It is commonly called "home-sickness" and is especially contagious among students.

Rev. N. R. Richardson has closed a most successful meeting at Center Grove. As a visible result fourteen were added to the church roll, making a total of fifty-five during the confessional year.

Friendship church is now completed ready for the painters.

Cold Springs congregation are progressing nicely with their new church. More than half the brick have already been placed on the ground.

Prof. J. B. Moore addressed the congregation at the Methodist church Sunday morning on the subject of Missions. He selected as a base for his remarks "Fields, Facts and Figures." It was a practical and interesting discussion of the work now being done by the M. E. Church, South, in the various mission fields.

Miss Mildred Carpenter, of Concord, is visiting her sister, Mrs. J. P. Miller.

Miss Ada Isenhour began teaching a short subscription school in the graded school building this morning.

Miss Maggie Barnhardt, of Plover Mills, spent Sunday with Miss Lena Barringer.

Rev. Lester Miller and Mr. W. S. Hartwell have gone to the western part of the State for a ten days' out door vacation.

Miss Margaret McAllister leaves Thursday for High Point where she will again be engaged teaching in the graded schools of that place.

Mr. Jesse Peck is at home having spent the summer at Rocky Mount.

Rev. Mr. Richardson is assisting Rev. J. J. Eads, of China Grove, in a revival meeting.

Miss Ella Moore and Mr. Lee Foil went to Charlotte Sunday in Mr. Foil's motor car. They return today.

Mrs. C. H. Thayer is visiting relatives in Salisbury.

Mrs. John Cook, of Concord, and Mrs. Bissinger, of Wilmington, spent Friday here.

Mrs. P. W. Tucker spent last week with her mother, Mrs. Misenheimer.

Prof. C. D. Cobb, of McLeansville, spent a day here last week on business.

Your correspondent uses the time and opportunities at his command to round up all the news especially of a personal nature, but lately it has come about that important matters have been omitted. It is not possible to take note book and pencil and make a house to house canvass, therefore it will be very much appreciated if friends will kindly inform the Times-Tribune man of any items of news. The fact that it may concern yourself or family does not make it any the less interesting, and will be gladly noted just the same.

Mr. Pleasant, Sept. 6th, 1910.

Denied That Morehead Has Bought Charlotte Observer.

Winston Sentinel, 6th.

A rumor was current here two weeks ago that Republican State Chairman John M. Morehead was negotiating for the purchase of a controlling interest in the Charlotte Observer. The report reached Reidsville and the Review telegraphed to Charlotte to know if it was true. Jno. B. Ross, business manager of the Observer, sent this reply:

"Neither Mr. Morehead nor any other individual who has not owned stock in the Observer Company during the past twenty years has any stock now. Property is absolutely not for sale, in part or as a whole."

The condition of Mrs. J. M. Odell, who recently underwent an operation at Long Sanatorium, Statesville, is reported as very favorable.

THE FARMERS' UNION.

Great Meeting of the National Union in Charlotte This Week—Business Sessions Secret.

The annual convention of the National Farmers' Educational and Co-operative Union was convened in Charlotte Tuesday morning with President C. S. Barrett, of Union City, Ga., presiding. After the welcoming addresses the convention settled down to business, getting its organization in running order for the three days of work ahead.

The opening session yesterday morning was the only session during the entire convention that was open to the public. The Farmers' Union is a business organization and much of its business is of a secret nature.

On account of the indisposition of Mayor T. W. Hawkins, E. Randolph Preston delivered the address of welcome, and other speakers of the session were Messrs. T. J. Brooks, of Tennessee; C. C. Moore, of Mecklenburg; President David H. Hill, of the Agricultural and Mechanical College; E. B. Moore, of the Selwyn Farm, of Mecklenburg, and Dr. J. M. Templeton, of Cary. With such an array of able speakers and authorities on the different phases of farming, the first day passed off with complete satisfaction and the scope and purpose of the organization was thoroughly covered.

Mr. Preston emphasized the strength of the union and its nation-wide influence, and then for the benefit of the western delegates declared that they were mistaken in believing that Philadelphia was the birthplace of American independence, but that they are now near the spot where it was engendered and they only have to stand on the big tablet at Independence Square and receive an inhalation of patriotism as will ever make them love their country tenfold more than they ever loved it in the past.

President Hill spoke briefly after being introduced by President Barrett and his remarks were to emphasize scientific farming and the necessity of the farmer and the trained worker and the experimenter to work in harmony in order to get the best results from the farm.

C. C. Moore, who has been dubbed "Charlie Cow" and "Clark of the Court," Moore, is one of the leading farmers of the state and he compared the farmer of yesterday to the farmer of today. He illustrated the old farmer with an old comb with half the teeth broken out, saying this broken comb represented the farmer before the union was organized. He displayed a strip of cotton goods from mercerized yarn, which yielded the manufacturer about $1800 from one bale, from which the farmer realized only $75.

Graded School Matters.

At a meeting of the school board last night Mr. Jno. K. Patterson, who recently moved from Ward 3 to Ward 2, tendered his resignation as a member of the board. Final action was postponed until the next regular meeting of the board. Messrs. M. B. Stickley and H. I. Woodhouse were appointed a committee to get a statement of the income and expenditures of the school fund for the year ending June 30. No non-resident children will be admitted to either the first, second, third or fourth grades. These rules were made necessary on account of the fact that these rooms are always overcrowded with resident pupils. Sept. 12 was definitely decided upon as the date for the opening of the school.

First Bale of Cabarrus Cotton.

Mr. A. B. Pounds sold the first bale of cotton on the local market this morning to J. A. Skipwith & Co., the bale bringing 13 1/2 cents. The first bale last year was sold August 31st by Mr. Lewis Linker, of No. 10 township, bringing 12 1/2 cents. There were about 7,500 bales sold on the local market during the year ending August 31, against about 9,500 bales the previous year.

First Bale in Mecklenburg.

Mr. C. B. Boyd, of Steel Creek, sold the first bale of new Mecklenburg cotton at Charlotte Tuesday. The price paid was 13 3/4 cents. It was bought for the Cannon mills by Mr. Chas. E. Barnhardt. The first bale in Charlotte last year was sold August 28th.

When the price of cotton reached 20 cents in New York a few days ago it was stated that the figure was "the highest since the war." A correspondent writing the Charlotte Observer from Jacksonville, Fla., corrects this statement. He points out that cotton brought 52 cents a pound in 1866, 36 cents in '67, and that prices ranged from 25 3/4 in 1870 to 21 1/4 in 1871, 27 3/4 in 1872 and 21 3/8 in 1873. In 1868 cotton sold for $1.20 the pound. That was the highest price that year, the lowest being 35 cents.

Miss Mary Porter will attend the State Normal College this year.

No. 12 Township, Ward 1, Precinct No. 2—Registrar, G. E. Crouch; Judges, H. D. Eady and A. L. Howell.

No. 12 Township, Ward 2—Registrar, Will Mabrey; Judges, W. A. Foil and P. G. Cook.

No. 12 Township, Ward 3—Registrar, J. L. Brown; Judges, R. E. Cline and A. G. Bost.

No. 12 Township, Ward 4—Registrar, L. C. Biles; Judges, Thos. J. Hendrix and C. A. Cook.

This 6th day of September, 1910. M. B. STICKLEY, Chmn.

GEO. H. RUTLEDGE, Sec.

Rev. J. B. Cochran Resigns.

Rev. J. B. Cochran, pastor of McKinnon Presbyterian church, announced to his congregation last Sunday that he had received a call to Parkton Presbyterian church in eastern North Carolina, and that he had decided to accept the same.

Concord Presbytery meets on Sept. 13, 1910 in its regular Fall meeting in Prospect church near Mooresville.

The matter will be attended to at this meeting and he expects soon after to move to Parkton.

There is no friction between church and pastor and the congregation pays promptly its obligations, but Mr. Cochran feels better fitted for the Parkton work and feels that another can render more efficient service to the McKinnon church.

The Lenoir News tells of the organization of a strong company for the purpose of giving Lenoir and Blowing Rock first class telegraph and telephone connections.

The Lenoir office will be connected with the Bell system, thus guaranteeing to the patrons of the new enterprise satisfactory communication with distant points.

The Wilmington city tax books show a gain in valuation of property of $268,000 for 1910 over 1909, whereas the latter's gain over 1908 was but $96,000.

THE KNOXVILLE EXPOSITION.

To Open September 12, and to Last One Month—Reduced Railroad Rates.

The crowning social feature of the first week of the Appalachian Exposition, which opens in Knoxville on Monday, September 12, will be the Horse Show. Fashionable people of that and other cities in the Appalachian territory will dignify this show, by making it a social event long to be remembered. Lovers of fine horses will also be interested in it from the standpoint of excellence in equestrian attainment. The entries for the show include some of the best known and finest specimens of horse flesh in the country. The premiums hung up are rare and valuable. Consequently, all these influences combine to make the Exposition Horse Show an event of more than passing interest.

The Horse Show will occur on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights, Sept. 13, 14 and 15. It will be staged in the oval amphitheater adjacent to the live stock buildings. The seating capacity will be about 8,000 in addition to the specially arranged boxes in which fashion will display the latest creations in gowns, as worn by the fairest of Appalachian womanhood. The music for the occasion will be high class programs, rendered by one of the best bands ever brought south. It is assured that the display of horses will be the finest that has ever been presented before a southern audience.

The live stock exhibit of the Exposition is most complete, the entries including the best animals in this section, and demonstrating the possibilities of high grade stock breeding in the South. The live stock parade, which will occur on Wednesday, September 14, at 4 p. m., will interest every stock raiser and lover of fine animals. It will be within the Exposition inclosure.

The reduced railroad rates, the like of which have never before been given to a Southern exposition, become effective on Saturday, September 10, and the indications are that not less than 15,000 visitors will be in Knoxville on the opening day, September 12. The Exposition will continue through October 12. "Every day will be a gala day, and every night a featureright."

Must Show Vaccination Scar in Mecklenburg.

According to a ruling of the county board of education, which met Monday all pupils entering the public schools of Mecklenburg county during the coming year, and all teachers who are to teach in the schools, will be required to show a scar or other evidence of their having been successfully vaccinated during the prescribed time limit.

This action on the part of the county board of education is supplemental to a similar action on the part of the city school board, taken some time ago, and in accordance with various health regulations and safeguards that are being made in all parts of the country.

How to Get a Water Supply.

Charlotte Chronicle.

The Chronicle copies elsewhere from the September number of The Uplift what is termed "a new idea to secure a water supply." The plan is revealed by a glance at the diagram. The idea is not new. When the late Capt. J. M. Odell bought the old John McDonald cotton mill in Concord, and enlarged the plant, he was confronted by the water supply question. The water for the old mill was secured by pump from a large well sunk close by the engine room. Mr. Odell put a contractor at work to run a tunnel from the well shaft exactly as provided in this plan. Our recollection is that he ran but one tunnel and got a supply of water abundant for all of his purposes. This system of digging for water, therefore, is no experiment. The plan is an unerring one and should solve the water problem for almost any town in the State.

Mrs. J. F. Goodson was hostess to the Floral Club this morning.
