CONFIDENT CRISIS HAS BEEN PASSED

AND THAT SOME PLAN OF ACTION WILL BE FOUND.

Constitutionalist Representative Will Reach Niagara Falls Tomorrow. — Delegates Can Then Proceed by Consulting Him and Without Waiting to Hear From Carranza.—Will Come Clothed With Power to Pledge Constitutionals to Any Plan to End Fighting.

Washington, June 22.—Ferdinando Calderon, the most influential of the "lesser chieftains" of the Mexican constitutional inner circles, will reach here tomorrow. The constitutionalists will then have an official on the ground authorized to speak for the fighting forces, represented by Villa, and the local government of Carranza. It is believed that the result will be that the American delegates at Niagara Falls can proceed by consulting him without the delay of waiting here to hear from Carranza. Calderon comes clothed with power to pledge the constitutionalists to any plan which will end the fighting and restore constitutional government which contains the essentials that Carranza has been fighting for. The administration continues confident that the crisis has been passed at the Falls and that some plan of action will be found to bring peace.

BATTLE AT ZACATECAS.

Villa is at the Head of 25,000 Men. Leading the Assault on Zacatecas.

Satillo, June 22.—Personally heading 25,000 men, General Villa led a general assault on Zacatecas, inaugurating a battle which is expected to prove a crucial one in the campaign to capture Mexico City. Villa came to the rescue of General Natera, whose forces had been driven back by the federals. Villa began attacks on La Bufa and Guadalupe, the fortresses guarding Zacatecas, at dawn today. Villa's plans are said to be to lead the main forces which will make the assault.

Mrs. J. C. McCausland and children left Saturday afternoon for Hiddentie to spend several weeks. Miss Emma Erwin, of Salisbury, accompanied Mrs. McCausland.

TO FOLLOW HISTORIC ROUTE.

Interesting Communication of a Great Historical Event.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 22.—Final arrangements were concluded here today for what promises to be one of the most interesting commemorations of an historical event ever held in this country. The event to be commemorated is the journey of George Washington from Philadelphia to Cambridge, Mass., to take command of the Continental army in 1775. The commemoration is to take the form of a pilgrimage of members of the Sons of the American Revolution of Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York, Connecticut and Massachusetts, who will follow the identical route traversed by Washington 139 years ago. The dates fixed for the beginning and the ending of the pilgrimage will correspond to the dates of Washington's departure from Philadelphia and his arrival at Cambridge.

The pilgrimage will be made by automobile and will have its start from this city tomorrow morning. The first stopping place will be at Trenton, N. J., where a tablet is to be dedicated. There will be a reception at the State House, a trip to Princeton and dinner at Trenton in the evening. New Brunswick and the Monmouth battlefield will be visited Wednesday. On Thursday there will be ceremonies at Elizabeth and Newark, with visits to Springfield and Horristown Thursday evening the party will arrive in New York and will remain there until Saturday morning, when the route will be followed to Kingsbridge and New Rochelle, thence through Greenwich to Bridgeport, Conn., for lunch. Sunday will find the pilgrims at Hartford and on Tuesday the party will reach Springfield. From Springfield the route will lie through Worcester and Boston to Cambridge, where ceremonies will be held on July 3, the anniversary of Washington's taking command of the army.

Old military organizations of Trenton, New York, Hartford, Worcester and Boston will have a part in the progress, each acting as escort to the pilgrims through their own boundaries. All the houses in which Washington ate and slept along the route will be decorated and ceremonies will take place in each.

Confident Colorado Strike Will Soon Close.

Washington, June 22.—President Wilson expresses himself as confident that the strike will soon close with the early withdrawal of troops.

LION TAMER IS SLAIN AND PARTY DEVoured.

Emerson Dietrich Attacked Sunday Night When He Entered Lions' Cage.

Chicago, June 21.—Emerson D. Dietrich, manager of a theatrical production presenting a troupe of trained lions, was killed and partly devoured tonight by six lions when he entered the car in which they were caged. While the keepers were recovering Dietrich's body, a lion escaped from an adjoining cage and terrorized the residents of the thickly populated quarter in which the car stood.

The escaped lion finally was driven back to its car, having harmed no one. A pike pole from the fire department was used to withdraw Dietrich's body from the lions, after it had been sprinkled with formaldehyde to drive the animals away.

George McChord, keeper of the lions, was unable to help Dietrich. "When he went into the den," McChord said, "Teddy, the leader of the attack against Dietrich, began to play with him, and he told the beast to get down. Four of the lions were facing him. Finally Teddy slunk behind and in a minute was on his back. Four others then leaped for him and I think his neck was broken.

"Tribby, the oldest of the lions, tried to save him, but the others pushed her away, and she quit and watched them without joining the attack." The lions while attacking Dietrich kept up an incessant roaring, which attracted a great crowd. They were confined in an ordinary box car, in the ends of which steel cages had been built, reaching within a few feet of the top, and leaving a passageway about two feet wide between them. In one cage were the six older lions and in the other four younger ones.

A score of policemen and members of a fire company were needed to withdraw Dietrich's body from the cage. After the dismemberment had been thrown into the den the animals made repeated plunges at the bars, just outside of which the rescuers were working.

With the aid of the pike pole a rope was dropped around the body, but the interference of the lions prevented the rescuers from lifting it over the bars. Finally the pike pole caught a belt worn by Dietrich and the body was recovered.

The lions have been used in hundreds of public performances, according to Madame Castillo, five or six of them being liberated on the stage together to perform under her direction. She always has controlled them with a short whip.

Policemen armed with rifles guard the car tonight.

NINE NEGRO "TIGERS" IN POLICE COURT

DETECTIVES FROM CHARLOTTE MAKE A BIG HAUL.

White Detective and Negro Detective From Roark Agency Operated Here Among the Colored Population Thursday, Friday and Saturday and Secured Nine Cases.—Great Throng Attends Trial, Necessitating the Court Holding Its Session in the Court House Instead of City Hall.—Cases Not Concluded at Noon.

James Fowler, a one-armed white man, and James Belk, a big, black muscular negro, working for the Roark Detective Agency, of Charlotte, "Joe Lawrence" the negro population of Concord during Thursday, Friday and Saturday of last week. As a result of their "joelawreing" the said population nine of them, with blind tigring propensities and appetites of the Lynehburg-Lazarus variety, were facing the police justice this morning and spending unprofitable moments in the witness chair, followed by contemplations of adding in the great constructive work of building a modern system of highways in North Carolina and Cabarrus county, particularly.

The first meeting of the court was held at the city hall court room. But the space there was hardly sufficient to accommodate the offenders, not to mention witnesses, lawyers, officers, law books and liquor. So court adjourned over to the court house and started the grind. It was a heterogeneous contingent that filed across the street and up the steps to Cabarrus' temple of justice. But on their arrival the three big electric fans were switched on and business started. The officials and lawyers took their places at the tables and the offenders lined around the prisoners' bench. On one side of the bar railing stood the countless aggregation of curiops, who looked on. On the other stood the African contingent, resembling a gathering on deck of a lael-to-Africa excursion.

The four men offenders were John Morris, Bob Crockett, Luther Barringer, Sylvester Galloway and Rufus Rogers and the women were Minnie Christian, Kate Harvey, Anna Alexander and Mable Lyles.

John Morris was the first tried. The detective testified that he purchased a pint from John. This evidence caused John to be convicted and sentenced to 12 months on the road. Mr. W. C. Means, who appeared for the defendant gave notice of appeal to Superior Court.

Minnie Christian was next tried. The detective also testified that she purchased a pint from Minnie. She denied the charge, declaring that she had rye at her home and that the bottle shown her was corn. Minnie amused the crowd by exhibiting her knowledge of liquor. City Attorney Mannes plied her with questions about the fluid and she answered readily whether it was of the corn or rye variety. Minnie was adjudged guilty, but sentence had not been imposed when court adjourned for dinner.

Mabel Lyerly was tried and acquitted. Jim Belk, the negro detective, was the witness for the State. He stated that he gave Mabel 15 cents to buy a drink and she secured it and they drank it together. This statement caused big Bob Crockett, one of the largest tigers that ever operated in this section and who has been spending a short vacation here with relatives from his arduous task of making a full hand daily at the county rock pile for persisting in "tigring," to break forth in loud guffaws of laughter. "Bob" is among those to be tried and he knows evidence from personal experience. He knew that the negro detective's statement meant freedom. "Ich gebibble," said old Bob, and he ich gebibbled when Police Justice McConnell decided that under the evidence Mabel should be acquitted.

The other cases will be tried this afternoon or tomorrow.

FISHERMAN'S LUCK.

J. Hope Smith, Bard of Popular Tent, Talks Poetically of Concord Fishermen.

Concord fishermen have won a nook in the fishermen's hall of fame. Their activities and success at the time-honored sport have caused J. Hope Smith, the bard of Poplar Tent, to break into verse and immortalize Dave Fowlkes' catch of a 25-pound carp in verse. They have pulled the inhabitants of Rocky River, Cold Water, Coddle and Buffalo to the banks at such an alarming rate that they have now centered their activities on the Catawba and their action has created a panic among the fishes of the stream as these lines will show:

Fisherman's Luck.

Said the cat to the carp, in the Catawba river, "Where are you going this beautiful day?" Said the carp, "I am off to the ocean forever." For I've gotta keep out'er Dave Fowlkes' way."

Said the cat to the carp, "I think you are clever, And I want to go with you, for I see very plain, If all of us fishes don't get out'er this river, Those Concord fellows will drive us in-seine."

Grabbed Infant From Under Train.

To grab one's infant from a railroad track just as a passenger train swishes the mother's skirts was the awful experience of Mrs. C. E. Hypes, who lives near Salisbury, one day recently. Mrs. Hypes had sent an older child on an errand across the Southern's main line, and soon after that she missed the baby and upon looking out saw the little one on the railroad track. Running as fast as she could the frightened mother grabbed the child from the track just as fast train No. 37 came rushing by. The train brushed the skirts of the mother as she jumped from the track. She was so unnerved by the incident that she was unable to do anything during the remainder of the day.

SATURDAY WILL BE THE BANNER DAY OF CONTEST

PRESENT SPECIAL OFFER MAKES THIS THE MOST IMPORTANT PERIOD OF ALL.

Contestants Who Are in the Race Must Make This Offer Count And Must Use Every Minute of Their Spare Time in Getting Subscriptions.—Ten Vote Coupons Are Discontinued for Balance of Contest.

Saturday night at 9 o'clock the present special offer will close. Now all of the contestants are assured that this offer will not be extended or repeated at any time during the contest. All are sure that no matter what next week may bring it cannot be any more important than this week, and to turn in their subscriptions.

The extra ballots offered will positively be the largest extra ballots offered at any time during this contest and all contestants who wish to be in the running when the final count is made, must take full advantage of that fact.

And by taking full advantage of that fact, is meant, not getting of one or two sets but to get out and hustle and to collect all the promises of subscriptions that have been given in the early part of the contest. It means that every one who might be a possible subscriber, must be seen and asked for their subscription. It means that all who are in this race must devote every minute possible during the next few days, so that when the special offer is over they will have their share of the extra ballots to show for the work of the week.

And also in order that the contest-arts may have more time to gather the subscriptions, we have decided to discontinue the ten vote coupon which has been printed in each issue of the Times and Tribune.

While this coupon was still printed, a number of the contestants felt that they ought to collect them as they did not want to let any votes get away from them. At the beginning of the contest, that was all right. But now the remaining time is far too valuable for any one to waste it on coupons, so we will leave them out and the contestants can work on subscriptions and know that they are not losing any votes.

MORGANTON WON.

Takes Series From Lockeites.—Winston Hits His Daily Homer Over Fallings.

Morganton, June 20.—Morganton won the third and decisive game of the series with Locke Mills of Concord today by the score of 12 to 3. The game was featured by the terrific slugging of the locals, Barnes was batted out of the box, and Miller, who defeated Morganton yesterday, tried in vain to check the hitting.

In the series of three games Winston broke all batting records here and put a home run over the fence in every game, besides connecting safely a majority of times up.

Jaynes held the visitors to five well-scattered hits, while Barnes and Miller were hammered for 12.

The attendance was the largest ever witnessing a game here and music was furnished by the Morganton band.
