

THINK CONFERENCE WILL GET RESULTS

Officials at Washington Are More Encouraged in Regard to Prohibition Question in Country.

GOVERNORS TALK WITH PRESIDENT

Believe Situation Will Improve With Strict Enforcement of Law Rather Than With Relaxation.

(By the Associated Press.) Washington, Dec. 19.—General encouragement as to the prospects of meeting the present prohibition enforcement problems through closer cooperation between the Federal and State authorities, and an earnest appeal for reverence of the law, was felt today by administration officials, as a result of President Harding's conference on the subject with state governors.

Among the 14 state executives who discussed the subject informally with the President and administration officials at a White House luncheon conference yesterday, there appeared to be an almost unanimous opinion that the way to improvement in the enforcement situation lay not in relaxation of the present enforcement statute but rather in more rigid execution of its terms.

HARDING IS FORCED TO CONSIDER WORLD

Compelled, After 24 Months, to Throw His Beloved Policy of Abstinence Overboard.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 19.—The outstanding feature of the past week in Washington has been the accumulation of signs which indicate that the Harding administration has at last been compelled to beat a retreat from its position of non-interference in Europe. Conference between President Harding and J. P. Morgan and Louis Root, and the announcement that Ambassador George Harvey is coming home from London to make a special report, have all served to center attention on the fact that Administration sees, at last the necessity for formulating a policy to meet world conditions.

Just what President Harding and his cabinet will ultimately decide upon as the best antidote for the long period of drifting which has marked the course of affairs at Washington since March 4, 1921, is not so plain, but the outstanding development is the realization in official circles that isolation is no longer practicable. The first steps in the new diplomatic revolution around a plan to mediate between Germany and France in reparations tangle, and there is talk of an economic conference of world leaders to be held in Washington.

The visit of J. P. Morgan is regarded as significant in connection with the task of an international bankers' conference to relieve Germany of some of the pressure of importunate creditors and make it possible for the same creditors to pay their American debts. It has been a year since President Harding called the international banking group to Washington and practically put the taboo sign on all foreign loans.

PROHIBITION PROBLEMS DISCUSSED AT MEETING

Washington, Dec. 18.—Problems of prohibition enforcement were discussed informally today at a White House conference between President Harding, the federal department chiefs directly interested in the subject and governors of 14 states.

President and 14 Governors Talk Over Situation at the White House Conference

There was no statement from the White House as to the results of the meeting but it was indicated the discussion revolved almost entirely upon the question of how the several states could best co-operate with the federal government in executing the terms of the prohibition amendment. It was indicated another meeting of state executives might be called early in the coming year at which time the subject would be canvassed more thoroughly.

MAY EXTEND MEDICAL COURSE AT UNIVERSITY

Committee to Make Its Report at Raleigh Wednesday.

Raleigh, Dec. 19.—The special committee appointed last June to investigate the advisability of extending the medical course at the University of North Carolina from seven to four years, and if so whether the school should be located in Chapel Hill or elsewhere in the state, will make its report at a meeting of the board of trustees to be held in the senate chamber of the capitol Wednesday.

After the committee has submitted its report, the board will make its recommendations regarding the location of the school and submit them to the general assembly for approval, according to H. M. London, secretary. Charlotte, Greensboro, Durham and Raleigh are among the cities that have asked for the location of the proposed school.

The city of Charlotte has offered the University the Presbyterian Hospital in that city, said to be valued at $500,000, for the use of the medical school should it be decided to extend the course. The city and county agree to appropriate a maintenance fund of $50,000 annually for the hospital of the medical school if located in Charlotte, it was stated.

Members of the special committee who will make their report are Dr. H. W. Chase, president of the University; Dr. J. H. Manning, dean of the medical school; J. B. McNeely and E. W. Pharr, of Charlotte; H. P. Grier, of Statesville; and W. N. Everett, of Raleigh. The last four committees were named by Governor Morrison, president of the board.

There was some liquidation in consequence, but Liverpool reported larger spot sales than for some weeks, while the later cables from there were firmer, and there was also some buying on bullish spot advices from the South.

Cotton futures opened steady. Dec. 26:00; Jan. 25:85; May 26:18; Dec. 26:38; July 26:13.

Sixteen Persons Have Been Examined, But Nothing Definite Has Been Developed.

(By the Associated Press.) Denver, Colo., Dec. 19.—Eighteen hours of searching and questioning of 16 persons at police headquarters had failed early today to reveal any trace of the identity of the bandits who yesterday robbed a Federal Reserve Bank truck of $200,000, after a gun fight in front of the U. S. Mint here in which one of the guards on the truck was fatally wounded.

U. S. Motor Cars Could Carry Population at One Time

(By the Associated Press.) Washington, Dec. 19.—There are enough motor vehicles in the United States to take the entire population of the country for a ride at the same time, says the Bureau of Public Roads of the department of agriculture. At the beginning of 1922 there were 4.2 million motor vehicles for each mile of road in the United States.

One hundred and twenty vehicles per minute was the rate at which motor vehicles passed a Bureau office serving station on a trunk line highway in Massachusetts, recently. This rate was continued from noon to ten p. m.

A tourist recently driving through four states was required to buy four different sets of lenses to make his headlights comply with uniformity in highway regulations.

Federal-aid highways placed under construction in September amounted to 1,189 miles.

CONDITION OF REID SHOWS IMPROVEMENT

Relatives of Motion Picture Star Are More Hopeful—Temperature Almost Normal Again, Say Reports.

(By the Associated Press.) Los Angeles, Dec. 19.—Reports available early today from the sanatorium where Wallace Reid motion picture actor, is suffering from a breakdown which relatives ascribed to complications from the use of whiskey and narcotics, indicated an improvement in his condition.

Reid's physicians said the actor's temperature was nearly normal and his pulse had dropped from 130 to 112. They added that Reid was able to take a little nourishment.

Physicians said Reid's decline followed his abandonment of the use of drugs and liquor, but the specific ailment which threatened his life was influenza.

If the actor fails to recover, it was added, influenza would be the cause written on the death certificate.

The Methodist preachers association of Southern California planned to ask the city council today to appoint a commission of men and women to make a thorough investigation of the use of habit forming drugs in Los Angeles.

REID RESTING EASILY

Los Angeles, Dec. 19.—Wallace Reid was resting easily today with a feverish temperature, according to Mrs. Wallace Reid, wife of the actor, who is in a Hollywood sanatorium after a nervous breakdown.

NORRIS AGRICULTURE BILL IS ENDORSED

Witness Before Senate Banking Committee Says the Law Will Give the Farmers What They Need.

(By the Associated Press.) Washington, Dec. 19.—Hearings on the rural credits legislation before the Senate Banking Committee neared a conclusion today with members of the committee predicting that a comprehensive bill embodying the features of several farm relief measures now pending would be ready for submission to the Senate early next week.

At today's committee session Ben C. Marsh, who said he represented the peoples reconstruction league, composed of progressive farmer and labor organizations, declared the solution of the present agricultural situation lay in the passage of the Norris government corporation bill, rather than in the extension of further farm credits.

What agriculture needs, he said, is not credits, but higher prices and legislation which will "divorce the farmer from the Wall Street-owned and controlled Federal Reserve System." He also charged that the committee was not permitting the farmers to lay their side of the case before it adequately, but was giving a hearing to all bankers representatives who want to appear.

HEDGECOCK TAKES STAND IN HIS OWN DEFENSE

Denies That He Made False Entries on the Books of Home Banking Company.

(By the Associated Press.) J. Wron is alleged to have been reduced from $24,250 to $14,242.50.

The former cashier also emphatically denied having fixed his signature to a confession as testified to yesterday by I. W. Bigham, auditor of Salisbury. The statement he signed was one setting forth that he was innocent of any wrongdoing, Mr. Hedgcock declared.

Cross examination of the former banker, begun at 11 o'clock, was continued when court reconvened at 2:30 this afternoon.

MUCH INTEREST AROUSED HERE IN THOMAS CASE

Change of Venue Will Be Asked by the Defense—Trial May Come Up at January Term of Court.

Will attorneys for the defense ask for a change of venue? Will the Solicitor ask for a verdict of murder in the first degree? Will the court grant bail during the trial? Will the case come up in January?

These are the questions heard in every quarter of this city now as a result of the action of the Supreme Court of North Carolina in granting a new trial to O. G. (Red) Thomas, Charlotte auto salesman, who was convicted in court here last January of murder in the second degree for the killing of Arthur J. Allison, master plumber, of this city, in Kammopolis on the night of October 25th, 1921. The decision of the Supreme Court has brought the case to general interest again, and the Concord public has accepted it as the most important topic of conversation.

It is expected by many that a request for a change of venue will be made by the defense as soon as the case is called. Attorneys have made no statement on this point, however, but it was intimated during the trial of Thomas that a fair trial could not be secured in Cabarrus county. This has led to the belief that the change of venue will be asked.

It is generally believed that the Solicitor will ask for a verdict of murder in the first degree, as was asked when Thomas was first arraigned, and this brings up the point of bail. Thomas' present bond is returnable at the January term of court. If he is tried there or if his case is postponed, the court sitting at that time will have to determine whether he is to be allowed bail until his trial is concluded, in view of the fact that he was convicted of second degree murder. Leads many to believe that bail will be granted. Others declare that bail will be refused if the Solicitor again asks for a verdict of first degree murder.

It is known that many of the witnesses who appeared in the trial of Thomas have left this county and State, and this brings up the question as to whether either the State or the defense would be ready for trial in January, should the case be called. Some of the most important witnesses introduced by the defense at the trial, including Mrs. Robert Lowe, who was with Thomas at the time of the shooting, have left North Carolina, and others are in various parts of the country. Several State witnesses also have left the State, it is pointed out, and it is argued that neither would be ready for trial.

General interest in the case ran at fever heat during the first trial, but it is believed that interest will be less at the second trial. There may be new witnesses to be introduced by both the State and the defense, and unless this is true interest is certain to be less. The testimony of the witnesses at the first trial is well known, and it is believed that such crowds as packed the court room during the first trial will not be present when the case is called again.

But for Concord the case is always of interest, and it bids fair to vie with Christmas and other important subjects as the most important topic of conversation during the coming weeks.

CONVICTS TESTIFY FOR MRS. DORIS BRUNEN

Who Has Been Charged With a Hand in the Murder of Her Husband, John T. Brunen.

(By the Associated Press.) Mt. Holly, N. J., Dec. 19.—Five convicts shackled to each other, brought here from the state prison at Trenton, testified today for the defense of Mrs. Doris Brunen and her brother, Harry C. Mohr, charged with the killing of "Honest" John T. Brunen at Riverview last March.

The convicts were questioned in an attempt to upset the testimony of Charles M. Powell, confessed slayer, who said he shot Brunen at the instigation of Mrs. Brunen and Mohr. They said that Brunen raved and barked like a dog in his cell in the Burlington county jail here. The five convicts were in the same jail awaiting sentences when Powell was arrested and imprisoned.

Officer Freed of Blame For Death of Mrs. Glenn.

(By the Associated Press.) Greensboro, Dec. 18.—C. F. Albery has been freed of all blame in connection with the death of Mrs. Edna Glenn, aged 25, wife of Stacey Glenn, of this city, late Sunday night when the car in which she was riding with C. F. Albery, prohibition officer, went over an embankment into a creek two miles from here. Albery missed the bridge in a fog.

Albery escaped, crawling from the water after trying to find Mrs. Glenn. Then he went to a nearby house, waked the occupants and they searched again, without results. Three hours later, at midnight, the police dragged the car from the water, with the dead body of Mrs. Glenn upright in the front seat. She never made a sound after the car went into the creek, Albery said.

MANY CRIPPLES GIVEN A NEW LEASE ON LIFE

Vocational Rehabilitation Has Done Much For People During the Past Year.

Raleigh, Dec. 19 (By the Associated Press).—Clinics established in three cities east of Greensboro and a convalescent vocational home are necessary to care adequately for more than 6000 crippled children in North Carolina, according to an announcement tonight by the bureau of child welfare of the state board of charities and public welfare.

The figures on crippled children are the result of a statewide census which has been conducted by the bureau and the rehabilitation office of the department of public instruction. The results made public are not complete as only seventy-two counties have reported.

"For these hundreds of unfortunate children the bureau of child welfare will seek to secure adequate treatment," it was stated, "since in many cases much can be done to improve the condition of the crippled. The bureau is particularly anxious to arrange for provision for the 141 children between the ages of 14 and 16 years who are above the age limit of admission to the State Orthopedic Hospital at Gastonia and too young to be eligible for help from the department of rehabilitation."

The Orthopedic Hospital, it was stated, has not been able to care for children between these ages because of insufficient appropriations. "Four hundred and eighty-two crippled children below the age of 14 have been reported," officials said. "This number includes both white and colored. For the white child, aid is provided in the Orthopedic Hospital, but often a child must wait a long time before being called into the clinic, even though its case may be urgent. Many of the children have to stay months."

It is hoped by officials of the child welfare bureau that the coming general assembly will increase the capacity of the Orthopedic Hospital so that it can wait several years for treatment these 410 white cases will not be foregone.

"No provision is made in the state for crippled negro children. However, investigations made by the bureau in several negro hospitals show these institutions willing to make low rates for treatment. But even then, with ration forces and surgeons' fees, the cost is practically prohibitive for the general run of negroes."

"In this connection, the bureau suggests to the generous of both races that there is an opportunity for service which is sorely needed. It is stated that charity beds in several hospitals could be kept filled for a number of years with the cases of crippled negro children which have been reported to the bureau to date."

"Returns from the cripple census indicate that 148 of the 623 children reported are subnormal mentally. Officials think that another fifty should be added. Probable cause of the children's disabilities have been grouped under several heads.

"Infantile paralysis claims 100. One hundred and forty-eight congenital cripples. Under the head of disease, which includes measles, scarlet fever and others, seventy-six were found. Twenty with club feet are recorded. Thirty-two children have tubercular joints. Accidents are responsible for 78 cripples. Other cases were listed as miscellaneous, including those with twisted hands and bow legs."

"Combined with older cases reported to the department of rehabilitation, the results of cripple census week total approximately 1,200 cases, children and adults. Georgia found by a partial census 4,000 cases. Ohio in 1921 took a census and found less than 1,000 cases. North Carolina has the largest number of cases of this nature, it was stated.

Two things stand out conspicuously as needed before the bureau can begin to care adequately for the cripple children, according to Miss Emeth Tuttle, who had charge of the child welfare department's part in the census.

"These two things," she continued, "are clinics at strategic points and a convalescent vocational home. Clinics established at probably three places east of Greensboro at the points of a large triangle would save a great deal of expense to parents and would reduce the number of children needlessly taking the long trip to Gastonia."

"A well advertised clinic would bring in for examination not only children so far reported but others within perhaps a radius of one hundred miles. In addition, the parents would have an opportunity to meet the surgeon and to see his attitude toward the child. They would lose fear of the hospital, which so many of them now have and would gladly take advantage of the opportunity to have their children treated."

"A convalescent vocational home is a necessity if the Orthopedic hospital is to make its best return to the state. A crippled child even when it has received treatment is often far from normal in his contact with other children. To take a child who has come originally from a two-room cabin, where it was treated either as a pet or a pest, put it in a hospital for six months, where it receives expert care and attention, and then return him to the same hopeless environment is scarcely fair," she said.

At a recent meeting of civic and fraternal representatives in Raleigh in response to a call by Roger Moore, Wilmington, the child welfare work in the state was discussed and a pledge made to secure adequate treatment for the crippled children. It was proposed at this conference that the civic and fraternal organizations throughout the state act as agents in their respective localities to establish the necessary clinics.

The organizations undertaking this program are the Rotary Klwanis clubs, Masons, Red Men, Odd Fellows, Knights of Pythias, Junior Order, B. P. O. E. and the legislative council of women's clubs.

KELLER HEARINGS ARE STILL MOVING SLOWLY

Representative Keller Did Not Appear to Push Charges Against Mr. Daugherty.

(By the Associated Press.) Washington, Dec. 19.—In the absence of the principal prosecutor, Representative Keller, republican of Minnesota, hearings before the House Judiciary Committee on the impeachment charges against Attorney General Daugherty moved forward at a slow pace.

Representatives Woodruff, of Michigan, and Johnson of South Dakota, republicans, were before the committee by invitation of Chairman Volstead, but Mr. Johnson said his charges in the House last April regarding the war frauds were directed solely at the War Department, and Mr. Woodruff was "not ready to proceed."

The Michigan member said some of the charges he might present would be of an impeachable character, but he could not form definite opinions until he had examined certain documents of the Department of Justice.

Both Mr. Johnson and Mr. Woodruff said there had been a decided change in the situation since last April when the latter charged the Attorney General with a failure to prosecute war fraud cases.

Mr. Woodruff said action had been begun in six of the eight or nine instances he had mentioned, while Mr. Johnson voiced the belief that considering the amount of reorganization necessary and the mass of information to be digested beforehand, the Attorney General had moved with reasonable promptness.

Questioned about reports that he had been "shadowed" by operatives of the Department of Justice, Representative Woodruff told the committee he had not intended to go into that, but he had "reason to believe" that not only had he been "shadowed" but that his mail had been "interfered with" and his office entered and "documents removed."

"I had nothing to conceal and had they desired to read my mail I would have left it open for them," he added.

Responding to further inquiries, Mr. Woodruff said the only evidence he had to support his belief was of a circumstantial nature, and that he would not care to state.

Washington, Dec. 19.—Figures on the total imports into the United States during November will not be ready for public until some time in January, Secretary Hoover announced today in response to inquiries from many business sources. With the enactment of the new tariff law, he said, the mass of work thrown on the government departments in revising classification schedules has resulted in greatly delaying the routine monthly reports.
