Miss Steva Dodson is Again on Way to Beloved China

Kinston, May 23.—Miss Steva Dodson is again on the way to her beloved China. Here stay there will be brief this time, it is understood. She is going to witness the fulfillment of great hopes. She will land at Shanghai in a few days, and attend exercises dedicating St. Mary's nunnery at "Jessfield," scene of her missionary labors for many years.

Miss Dodson returned to this country from the Orient a year or two ago, pensioned by the Episcopal church. She had worked in China 32 years as a missionary and church teacher, giving the best of her life to the cause she represented. She became one of the best known missionaries in the country. The missions organization of her denomination has ordered her back to "the field" once more, to witness the dedication of St. Mary's and the consummation of one of the things toward which she labored.

Miss Dodson is accompanied by her sister, Miss Mary Dodson, who is taking the trip "just to be going" and share the ex-missionary's pleasure.

(Miss Mary Dodson was formerly a teacher in the Concord Graded schools, and is a niece of the late Mrs. W. J. Montgomery.—Editor).

CAPITAL IS READY FOR THE SHRINE HOSTS

Gala Dress of Washington Put On; Arrangements Completed.

Washington, May 24 (Capital News Service).—Washington is ready for the Shrine Convention of June 5, 6 and 7. With the co-operation of the Government, housing and feeding accommodations for four hundred thousand guests are provided. The city is elaborately decorated; Pennsylvania Avenue is a veritable hodge of fifty thousand electric lights. The "Garden of Allah" that stretch of wide street in front of the White House between Fifteenth and Seventeenth streets, is filled with stands, with huge pillars, with sphinxes, with gay colors, with electric lights. Parking arrangements for thousands of Pullman cars and any quantity of automobiles have been made. Hundreds of guides have been assigned the various shrine units which will come. The three massive parades are planned to the last details. Hundreds of band concerts have been scheduled, with especial reference to the Government's Hospitals, that soldiers and sailors who can not come in to see the "big doings," can yet hear something of the music of the convention.

Washington, accustomed to being host to throngs from her four-yearly inauguration displays, looks confidently forward to providing fun, frolic, and hospitality to the greatest throng of Americans which ever visited her at one time, and hopes to show them not only a "good time," but to provide all who come with such knowledge of the government machinery and such appreciation of the real workings of "Uncle Sam," as will make all who visit the convention better informed, and therefore, more enthusiastic Americans.

LIQUOR PERMIT REGULATIONS ARE CONSIDERABLY MODIFIED

Treasury Changes Rules Which Have Seriously Hampered Physicians in Their Practice.
Washington, D. C., May 24.—Formal orders modifying prohibition enforcement regulations affecting physicians, dentists and veterinarians, by providing that their permits hereafter may be obtained from State prohibition directors, instead of at Washington headquarters, were issued today by Secretary Mellon.

In addition to permitting physicians to obtain permits from State directors, the Treasury orders authorize issuance by State directors of permits for dentists and veterinarians to use alcohol. Under the orders, permits for transportation of liquor by trucks also will be obtainable from State directors without reference to Washington headquarters.

Secretary Mellon also issued another order designed to simplify withdrawals of liquor from Government bonded warehouses. Those selling bonded liquor to purchasers with approved permits will not hereafter be required to exhibit all copies of the selling permits, and officers at the warehouses will not be required to ascertain from State directors whether the withdrawal papers are authentic. The rigid requirements for obtaining permits for withdrawals and restrictions thrown around withdrawals, together with safeguards against forged permits recently worked out, now are believed to be sufficient protection against illicit withdrawals.

Revival Services Largely Attended.
The revival services at the Second Presbyterian Church are being largely attended. The music by the junior choir of forty-odd voices is a note worthy and inspiring feature of the services. Last night the roll of the church members was called by the clerk of session, Mr. J. C. Query. Many members responded. Tonight a male quartet will sing. The quartet is as follows:

First tenor, Rev. W. C. Wanchope; second tenor, Mr. John Chaney; first bass, Rev. M. A. Osborne; second bass, Mr. C. H. Long. You are cordially invited.

Pastor to Go Into Evangelistic Work.
There will be no further services at Tacker's Chapel until further notice is given. The church membership will be moved to Kannapolis. The pastor, Rev. Henry G. Blackwelder, will go into evangelistic work. He has been pastor here for a number of years and the members regret to see him go.

JAIL TREATMENT OF WOMEN UNDER FIRE

Florida Floggings Turn Spot Light on Other Prisons.

Washington, May 24 (Capital News Service).—Dr. Hastings H. Hart, director of the Child Caring Department of the Russell Sage Foundation, speaking before the Polecowmen's Section of the National Conference on Social Work, which has just met in the Capital of the Nation, finds that treatment of women prisoners in county jails is a disgrace to the country which permits.

Dr. Hart said conditions in the treatment of women prisoners are especially bad in New York, Connecticut, Minnesota, and Ohio. He cited incidents, including one in New Haven, where he said 40 women were kept in the jail without adequate fire protection in their quarters and where shower baths had not been connected with the water supply for two years.

"The greatest disgrace to our civilization in America is the county jail," said Dr. Hart. "The brightest prospect of redeeming penal conditions comes from the entrance of women into active service in police and prison work. With them have come a new rule of kindness, and we have learned that brute force is not needed in the handling of either delinquent men or women in jails."

How much are you worth? To many men that means how much has the world been worth to the, not how much they have been worth to the world.

YOUR HAND

How to Read Your Characteristics and Tendencies—the Capabilities or Weaknesses That Make for Success or Failure as Shown in Your Palm

"SHALL I TRAVEL?"
When a line of travel, on Luna, ends in a small cross, we may foretell or read a voyage that has ended or will end in disappointment. A line of travel that ends in a square shows danger arising to the subject from his travels, but he will be protected, since the square is called the "mark of preservation."

Note whether the line of travel ends in an island, no matter how small. If it does, loss through the journey is indicated.

When the line of travel reaches Jupiter, the journey will be very long. When it runs to the mount of Saturn, or fate, some fatality will govern the entire journey. It will be subject to good or evil fortune, as the other signs in the hand indicate. But when the travel line runs to the mount of the sun, or Apollo, under the ring finger, there may be expected, or there are indicated, very favorable results from the journey, such as riches and fame. When the line of travel reaches the mount of Mercury, at the base of the little finger, sudden and unexpected wealth from the journey is seen.

Homes in America.
The total number of homes in the United States, not including homes on farms, was 17,900,000 in the year 1920, according to figures recently issued by the census bureau at Washington. Of this number 7,195,000, or 40.9 per cent, were owned by their occupants, and of these 2,855,000, or 39.7 per cent, were mortgaged. The total amount of these mortgages is estimated by the bureau to be $6,000,000,000, while the total value of the homes is placed at $14,000,000,000. The ratio of the indebtedness to the value is 42.6 per cent.

Express Train on Scene Frightens Young "Stragglers".
London, May 23.—The first movie show ever witnessed by peasant children on the island of St. Kilda so terrified them that they stampeded from the schoolroom where the film was being exhibited, and sought safety on the wild hillsides, says the correspondent of the Daily Express, who is touring the lonely islet that lies west of Scotland.

St. Kilda, isolated for several months of the year by the stormy Atlantic, is inhabited by a semi-civilized people and a party of visitors, thinking to give the natives a treat, arranged a moving picture entertainment.

The young folks were out in rull force despite the warnings of their elders who suspected magic. The audience sat unmoved through a picture of a football match, but when an express train rushed at them across the scene the youngsters screamed and fled, ignoring the assurance of the operator that the train was not real.

EAR MONUMENT MUST GO

View of the Mimi-Zuka, or ear monument, erected on a hill at Kyoto by Taiko, a hero of old Japan, to celebrate his victory over the Koreans. He caused thousands of ears, cut from the dead Koreans, to be buried beneath the Mimi-Zuka. It is now to be destroyed—presumably so that it may not serve to keep alive Korean animosity to Japan.

Shut That Door!

This common command will soon be out of date, if a recent inventor has his way. His device slips over the hinge of any door and prevents it from standing open; and at the same time it can be slipped off the hinge and under the door to serve as a door stop and hold it in any desired open or partly open position. In connection with this double duty, it is necessary to point out that no screws are required for attaching the little spring-and-wing outfit. To attach, the wings are simply bent toward one another and the spring slipped over the hinge. Removal is just as quick and easy as attachment.—Scientific American.

TY COBB CONTINUES TO FLASH OLD-TIME FORM

Is Not Yet Among the Bench Manager Class, Despite His 37 Years.

(By the Associated Press.)
Detroit, May 24.—Tyrus Raymond Cobb, variously jeeted "The Peerless One," and "The Georgia Peach," is not yet among the bench manager class, despite his 37 years and the thinning hairs on his head. Frequent predictions, first heard when he succeeded Hughie Jennings as manager of the Detroit Tigers two years ago, that he was through as a player, have failed of fulfillment.

It is a different Cobb who guides the destinies of the 1923 Tigers from the player who flashed among the major league constellations in 1905, gaining brilliancy and renown until in 1911 he became a .420 batter. The speed that gave Cobb a new major league record for stolen bases in 1915, with a total of 98, is waning, but in its place has come craftiness, and because he had so much speed to lose, he still is a great outfielder, still a dangerous man on the paths.

At bat, he is the same "Peach." His eye seems as clear as in his earlier days when he was the bugbear of all pitchers in the league. He continues to meet the ball squarely, and his faculty of driving the ball out of reach of the fielders, seem greater, if anything, this year than ever.

From the start of this season he has had the Tigers among the league leaders. Close followers of the game have seen in Detroit the principal menace to the New York Yankees in this season's race. Cobb's heavy artillery is conceded to be the equal of the New York club's "murderers' row," and his pitching staff, considering the principal weakness of the club, has shown surprisingly well during the first month, the veteran Dauss especially appearing near the peak of his form.

Some critics see indications that Cobb may direct his club from the bench soon, in the acquisition of two slugging recruits, Fothergill and Manush, both of whom have been used effectively this year, but Cobb smiles and continues to take his stand in centerfield.
