Wide Variety of Provisions Called for On the Fast Trans-Pacific Liners

Huge Soup Pots on S. S. President Wilson.

San Francisco, June 5.—The provisioning of a large passenger vessel is always a matter of interest, and proves especially so when it becomes necessary, because of the particular trade the liner is engaged in, to carry a wide variety of foods. Vessels in the trans-Pacific passenger service, running to the Far East by virtue of the fact that they carry a large number of Orientals as well as Occidentals stock huge quantities of food stuffs to appeal to everyone on board.

The fast mail and passenger liners of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, plying between this port and China, Japan, the Philippines and Honolulu, are excellent examples in this respect. The quantity of food put on board the President Wilson and similar vessels of the line, and its variety and method of preparation for the table is unusual.

The President Wilson for a round trip to the Orient will carry provisions sufficient to feed every passenger the liner can carry, as well as her crew, for sixty days. For the Occidental passengers, practically all the food is placed aboard at San Francisco, and consists of assorted meats, poultry, fresh fish, vegetables, fresh seasonal fruits and dairy products. The fruit supply is replenished at the various ports of call.

A total of 55,000 pounds of meat are carried, of which 30,000 pounds is beef. More than 1,200 dozen of various types of poultry are stocked, including game and baryard species. Fresh fish, lobsters, shrimps, crabs and oysters to the number of about 14,000 pounds are carried in the huge refrigerators of the President Wilson, assuring the most fastidious of their favorite finny food.

Thirty thousand pounds of potatoes, 12,000 pounds of assorted green and salad vegetables and 1,000 pounds of sweet potatoes are placed in the commodious bins of the culinary department prior to sailing. In addition there are used 3,000 dozen eggs, 2,100 pounds of fancy butter, 200 gallons of cream and 500 gallons of milk. A quarter of a ton of cheese, 5 tons of flour, two of cereals and a half a ton of coffee, tea and cocoa complete the stores for the Occidental mounts. This is far from being the total amount of food stuff taken aboard, however. At Hongkong a special list of Oriental foods is delivered aboard ship. These include various items of particular appeal to the Oriental diet, among them being 10,000 salted eggs, nut oil, pickled cabbage, Chinese sweet biscuits, dried Chinese fish, cattle fish, pickled ginger, pickled and salted lemons, pickled melons, dried mushrooms, Chinese Sausage, panchon sugar, soy sauce, dried shrimps, fish in oil and cured red and green beans.

Three kinds of rice are provided—Carolina rice for the Occidental passengers and Japanese and Chinese rice for the passengers of those races.

The chefs on the Pacific-Mail liners are skilled in the preparation of food in every style possible, and in the huge modern galleys perform culinary miracles. Here with the aid of their oil ranges and electric ovens, big stock pots and double boilers, they prepare during the round voyage thousands of meals.

During the average round trip from San Francisco, to the Orient and back 45,708 first class and 93,800 steerage meals are prepared and served to passengers. In addition there are about 11,200 lunches for the crew and 16,000 special lunches, afternoon teas and suppers for passengers which are not counted as regular meals.

In serving the passengers on the President Wilson 8000 pieces of China and crockery are in daily use, as well as 3,000 pieces of glassware and 4,000 pieces of silver-plated service. In the cool, attractive dining saloon of the fast liner over five thousand pieces of linen, daily washed in the ship's own laundry, are utilized.

The tourist, ordering from a menu presenting a wide variety of appetizing dishes, little knows how much care has been spent in selecting the material for his meals, how much skill enters into the making and serving.

Having Trouble With Your Roses.
Raleigh, N. C. June 6.—Mildew on roses may be checked by dusting flowers of sulphur over the bushes and vines. The sulphur will not remove the mildew but it will prevent further spreading, suggests G. W. Fant, extension plant pathologist for the State College and State Department of Agriculture. He advises that the sulphur be dusted on the plants several times after blossoming this year, preferable while dew is on the plant, and then repeated next spring before blossoming. With this care the rose plants should be free from mildew by the time they begin blossoming next season.

Mr. Fant says that considerable complaints have come in to the college this year about mildew and leaf blotch on roses. He recommends the dusting in early spring to prevent the mildew getting a start. If one has a spray outfit, the use of commercial lime-sulphur spray will be found more effective than the flowers of sulphur. In that case the liquid should not be allowed to strike the painted surface of the house at its sets on the paint. It will also remain as a stain on the foliage until washed off by the rain and for this reason should not be applied just before blossoming.

"Well established roses represent a considerable amount of trouble, are very beautiful and therefore should be given the proper preservative care," say Mr. Fant.

VETS TO DRAW UP REMEDIAL BILLS

Omnibus Program Will Be Given to Congress.
Washington, June 5.—An omnibus legislative program in behalf of disabled war veterans will be drawn up by representatives of the Veterans' Bureau and by national organizations of former service men for presentation at the next session of Congress. It was announced today by the Disabled American Veterans of the World War.

After a conference with Veterans' Bureau officials, decision was reached to have one United Spanish war veteran and two representatives each of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Disabled American Veterans and Veterans' Bureau work out plans for remedial laws needed for the disabled soldiers.

Four Big Stills in Undertaking Parlor.
New York, June 5.—Embalsming fluid and freshly distilled liquor were found side by side by prohibition agents today when they raided an uptown undertaking establishment. The agents gained entry by claiming they wished to arrange for the burial of a friend. Four large stills were said to have been found in a room adjoining the mortuary.

Fifty thousand women are employed in the mines in India.

NORTH CAROLINA IS TRAVELING VERY FAST

Commissioner of Education Tigert Speaks at Wofford.—Declares Equal Opportunity May Be Means of Saving America.
Spartanburg, S. C. June 5.—"We have a fifty-fifty chance to save America," declared Hon. John J. Tigert, United States Commissioner of Education, in his address before the graduating class at Wofford college yesterday, "and we have two alternatives in dealing with the mass of ignorance. We can either disfranchise or enlighten the electorate. To disfranchise means the nullifying of our constitution and the reversing of government theory. Therefore, there is really only one alternative—an equal opportunity as far as education is concerned."

Dr. Tigert declared that education is the basis of social and national power. Government is based on knowledge, he said. Bolshevism is increasing in the country every day. "Education is the greatest means of producing achievement and economic wealth," the speaker said, "and I do not mean to ridicule any American municipality or commonwealth when I speak in plain terms of the vast amount of ignorance."

"I believe Ohio is the greatest state in the American union. There are other states that are first in a great many respects, but Ohio is second and third in many respects that I consider it first." "I have no money to invest in North Carolina, because, as you know, I am a school man, but North Carolina is leaving all the Southern States so fast they do not realize it. The doctrine preached in North Carolina that has brought the present favorable state of affairs is that the mind and its products is greater than the land and its products."

Jake Newell Turns Doctor.
Charlotte News.
Attorney Jake E. Newell, prominent Charlotte lawyer, has taken up another profession.

Mr. Newell, well-known in the legal profession, as a political leader and Sunday school teacher, has turned doctor.

Monday morning in the Recorder's Court, Mr. Newell had a negro client who was charged with having had liquor for sale. The woman, Max Johnson, frequent attendant at court sessions, had brought three small children inside the bar with her with the claim that the two older ones have just recovered from the measles and the baby is now taking it. She told the court that she had the liquor for the sick children.

As soon as the announced that the baby was taking the measles Judge Williams asked Mr. Newell to verify the truth of her claim.

"Open your mouth," said the lawyer to the four-or-five months old nickerminny.

When the end of the alimentary came into view Mr. Newell bent over and made a careful examination.

"It certainly is the measles, your honor," he announced.

The woman's alibi, however, seemed pretty weak to the judge and he gave her a suspended sentence of six months.

Pastor's Salaries.

Charity and Children puts in a good word for the preachers of the country. Along with the teachers, they have enjoyed a general raise in salaries, which they so richly deserve.

The one hundred dollar preacher is a thing of the past. The church no matter whether in the remote country district or not, that offers its pastor only one hundred dollars for one-fourth time, is either just beginning as a feeble mission or is as dead as a door nail.

A man of good equipment, who has thoroughly prepared himself for the ministry no longer waits in vain for a decent call. The churches are on the lookout for him, and usually lose no time in offering him a place.

The time was when a thousand dollars was looked upon as a good salary for a town church. Now two thousand is poor pay, and a man of ability commands much more than that. There is this to be said, however: two thousand dollars now has hardly the purchasing power of one thousand twenty years ago. So after all pastors' salaries have not increased as much as the dollars and cents involved would indicate.

Pastors' homes are being built at a rapid rate. The Methodists have led all others in this respect, a parsonage being considered by them a necessary part of the equipment of a field—almost as necessary as the church building itself. And so almost every church in the Methodist church in the state is equipped with a comfortable parsonage.

But the Baptists are coming along with rapid strides in this respect also, and it is a vast advantage to apostles not to be at the tender mercies of a landlord, pay exorbitant rent, and be asked to vacate at the will of the owner.

Our preachers are coming into their own at last and we rejoice with them that, while they cannot live in luxury yet they can at least pay their grocery bills, and send their children to school.

Matching Wits.

A Californian and a New Englander were matching wits.

"Why," said the Californian, "we grow cabbage so big that an army of soldiers can camp under one."

"That's nothing," said the New Englander, "we make copper kettles in New England so big that a thousand men can be riveting one and yet be so far apart they can't hear each other hammer."

"Go on," said the Californian "what would any one use a kettle of that size for?"

"Why, to boil your California cabbage in," said the New Englander.

Had no Opinion.
It was during the impelling of a jury; the following colloquy occurred:
"You are a property holder?"
"Yes, your honor."
"Married or single?"
"I have been married for five years, your honor."
"Have you formed or expressed any opinion?"
"Not for five years, your honor."

Nothing on Him.
"You know," said the woman whose motor car had run down a man; "you must have been walking very carelessly. I have been driving a car for seven years."
"Lads, you have nothing on me. I have been walking for fifty-four years."

BUSINESS AND THE OUTLOOK.

Philadelphia Record.
Here we are beginning June with ideal weather for the roses, and the retail stores feel the effect immediately. The lateness of the spring season and its retarding effect naturally, but merchants are offering special inducements to their customers, and the wage increases in many industries have been reflected in larger mass buying capacity. The slowing down in the basic industries has been extremely gradual. The steel ingot production continues at the rate of 50,000,000 gross tons a year, a rate established in April and maintained throughout May, to the amazement of the more conservative, who didn't believe such a thing possible.

The oil industry continues to break previous records with a total for the domestic fields in excess of 2,000,000 barrels a day. Interviews with leaders in the motor car industry in Detroit indicate a general belief that no slump is looked for in that quarter, notwithstanding the high pressure that has been necessary to fill orders. Records in railroad car loading are at the figures of last fall's peak, with the railroads better prepared than before for heavy traffic by reason of equipment and repair expenditure.

According to the reports to Bradstreet's trade, crop and industrial conditions are more irregular and "spotted" than they were a week ago. There is a sharper distinction now in different branches of industry between activity on old orders and the development of new business, say Dun's Review. Production in North Carolina continues at high rate to fill contracts previously placed, but pressure of demand in various quarters has recently relaxed. This condition prevails in leading basic lines, yet the heavy purchasing of earlier months had covered many requirements we'll ahead and some abatement of buying was to be expected. It is a wholesome sign, after the rapid expansion of the first quarter, that conservative tendencies predominate in most markets and that over-extension of operations is being avoided.

The past week marked the closing of premiums for prompt delivery of steel and steel products in the Pittsburgh district. Buying continues legal, but most prices hold firm, with record production based upon old rather than new orders. At some of the mills the old orders are sufficient to continue heavy production for several months. Pig iron prices have sagged somewhat, and Connellsville coke is easier.

In the textile trades irregularity continues. There has been further curtailment of production in the mills. Several New England factories were closed, and others were operated on a "four-days" schedule. Nevertheless, there is considerable optimism expressed, with the hope that present dullness will give way to a quiet buying movement. The raw cotton market strength in the early part of the week was dissipated by the publication of the Government estimate. The raw wool market continued firm, with limited demand.

Crop reports from winter wheat sections indicated a loss of 15,000,000 bushels in Kansas, and there were other factors that might have induced buying in the Chicago grain market, but they were disregarded. Part of the bearish propaganda has been to the effect that if large operations were undertaken, the Government, under recent legislation, might step in and interfere with their completion. But fears on this score were removed by the announcement from the supervisor of the Government Grain Futures act that there was no limit on trading in grains for future delivery and that the aim of the Administration is to build up and improve the marketing system rather than to hamper it.

Call money in New York was  $\frac{1}{4}$ % and  $\frac{1}{2}$ % per cent., the same as the previous week.

Cats a Source of Danger.

Cats are great carriers of disease germs, and scratches from their claws are sources of real danger, as those claws are generally coated with a mass of germs which may cause infection, and for these reasons alone should not be allowed to associate too intimately with young children whether the latter are asleep or awake.
