Big Conference of Young People Next Week

The Epworth League Chapters of the Salisbury District are making elaborate plans for their annual conference to be held in Charlotte June 12-15. Mrs. J. F. Armstrong, District Secretary of the Salisbury District, is promoting attendance among the Chapters in her District. From reports reaching Mrs. Armstrong, this District will have a splendid representation at Charlotte.

The annual Epworth League Conference is a great gathering among young Methodists. There are eleven Districts in the Western North Carolina Epworth League Conference and the District spirit created at these conferences is very beneficial. A special District feature of the Conference will be Stunt Night. At that time all the Districts will compete for a prize offered by the President of the conference to be awarded to the District presenting the best stunt.

The platform speakers for the evening addresses are among the outstanding ministers of North Carolina. These speakers will develop the general theme of "Let Christ In." Besides the platform speakers, teachers selected on account of their peculiar ability will teach Epworth League Methods, Personal Work and Missions. The Tall round programs, as worked out by the Executive Committee, is calculated to give the Delegates special training for working their local chapters.

Rev. J. Frank Armstrong, of this city, is a member of the faculty and will teach a class of fifty in personal evangelism. The book to be used is Dr. Henry Clay Trumbull's "Talking Men Alive."

About thirty delegates will attend from Concord, Mt. Olivet and Kannapolis. At least four hundred delegates are expected to attend from every part of Western North Carolina Conference

The Concord City Union let every city union in the conference in attendance at North Wilkesboro last summer.

Death of Mrs. M. A. Black. Mrs. M. A. Black, aged 75, died Thursday morning at 2 o'clock at her home in Mallard Creek township, Mecklenburg County. She had been ill for six months.

Mrs. Black was twice married. She was first married to the late James Allan, and to this union four children were born. In 1885 she was married to J. M. Black, of Mecklenburg, and since that she had made her home in that county.

Surviving are three children, F. R. and G. J. Allman, and Mrs. Hattie O'Leary, two brothers, Rufus and Caleb, and one sister, Mrs. A. P. Blackwelder. Funeral services were held Friday morning at 11 o'clock at Oak Grove church, Mallard Creek township, and interment was made in the cemetery there. The services were conducted by the pastor of Sugar Creek Presbyterian Church.

Friction matches first came into use in 1823, and as late as 1850 were considered too dangerous to be transported by rail. The first sulphur matches put on the market came in square blocks of wood split well down, from which individual matches might be broken. When ignited a most offensive sulphur odor arose. The first individual matches, put up in small boxes, were imported from Sweden in the early eighties, and were a great improvement over the old sulphur match.

The United States consumes about one-half of all the electrical power produced in the world.

Big League Crowd. The City Union of Epworth Leagues met in monthly session at Westford Methodist Church Friday night. The auditorium and Sunday School annex were practically full. The church was tastefully decorated with potted plants and sweet peas. The congregational singing was an inspiration, the special music splendid and the talks were very interesting. Kannapolis Seniors reported the highest percentage in efficiency and were awarded the pennant. By unanimous and enthusiastic vote the Union accepted an invitation to hold the next meeting in Kannapolis. The Concord Leagues have never met with the Kannapolis chapter and the occasion will doubtless attract a record crowd from here.

The Three Crosses

By REV. G. H. BENSON, Teacher of Child Study and Pedagogy, Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.

TEXT-And when they were come to the place which is called Calvary, there they crucified Him, and the malefactors, one on the right hand and the other on the left.-Luke 23:32

The three crosses were a fulfillment of prophecy. Seven centuries before, Isaiah perceived Calvary's tragedy and he predicted that "He would be numbered with the transgressors and be with the wicked in his death."

Well might these crosses be an occasion of prophecy. Hanging between heaven and earth were the three representatives of the human race. One died for sin. One died in sin. One died saved from sin.

Consider the middle cross where hung the One who died for sin. This is the theme for many sermons and the very sum and substance of the gospel. As they were nailing His hands and feet there was heard the first utterance from His lips. The malefactors blasphemed but Christ prayed. Did He pray for Himself? Was it a repetition of the agony in the garden? No. He had conquered all that. His prayer was for His murderers: "Father forgive them for they know not what they do."

It was the prayer that was to start one of the malefactors to thinking. It was the prayer that was to convert the Roman centurion. It was the prayer that at Pentecost was to save thousands of His enemies. But then, alas! that prayer seemed to fall upon indifferent ears-"They know not what they do." Ah, no, "for had they known it they would not have crucified the Lord of glory." They knew many truths but they did not know "the way, the truth and the life." They knew prophecy but they did not recognize the fulfillment of prophecy. He died for sin since "there is none of us that can by any means redeem his brother nor give to God a ransom for him."

Consider the second cross where hung the one who died in sin. The two malefactors alike jeered Him. "They that were crucified with Him reviled Him." But there was one of the thieves upon whom Christ's intercessory prayer had no effect. More tremendous than his physical pain was his scorn and hatred of Him who occupied the middle cross. He joined in the mockery of the crowds: "If thou be the Christ, save thyself and us!" He hated Christ because His power was not used to save him from his present pain and punishment.

But why should this malefactor have been saved? He had committed crime. He made no confession of guilt. He sought no pardon. All he was concerned about was his personal safety. If Christ had delivered him he would not have believed on Him. Had he been liberated he would not have changed his criminal nature or saved society from his future crimes. His approaching death did not startle him. The Savior's prayer did not soften him. His companion's repentance did not stir him. He died scoffing when he might have died singing.

Consider the third cross upon which hung the man saved from sin. He was arrested in his mockery by the patient, pathetic prayer of the Savior. He could no longer jeer. The blasphemy of his companion now grated upon his ears. He rebuked him by telling him that it was no time for such business. Death was before them. Judgment was at hand.

Next this penitent thief did what all sinners must do. He confessed his sin: "We indeed justly receive the due reward of our deeds." Then he took the next step. He admitted that Christ was suffering an innocent death: "This man hath done nothing amiss." It was a bold thing for him to make this confession of faith. The court had condemned Christ. The church had reviled Him. The mob was against Him. Yet this malefactor undertook to reverse the decision of the Roman government, the Jewish sanhedrin and popular opinion and pronounce the Son of God unworthy of death.

He did not stop there. He now addressed his Savior: "Lord, remember me when thou comest into thy kingdom." He acknowledged Him as King, for he spoke of His Kingdom. Such in mockery had been the inscription on the cross. But here was a man braver than the Jews, braver than the Romans, braver than the disciples, who in his dying breath saluted Christ as King. The dying thief had faith enough to recognize Christ as the rejected king of the Jews. No wonder our Lord turned to him and said: "Today thou shalt be with Me in paradise."

Three crosses bearing the three dying representatives of the human race. One died in love that none might perish. One died in anguish that none might presume. One died in faith that none might despair.

STYLES FOR SUMMER GIRL DAINTY AND BRIGHT WITH COLOR

CHICAGO.-Light soft summer silks are coming in with the crocuses and jonquils and the baby carriages in the parks. Frocks for every occasion are made up in the morning frock model shown under the auspices of the Fashion Art League of America is of red and white checked zephyruspun with a short coat of plain red zephyruspun, lined with the checked silk and finished with collar and cuffs of white organdie. The frock is trimmed with narrow picot-ed. The wide sash, draped twice around the waist, and knotted at the left side is of orchid ribbon. A wide brimmed yellow straw hat is trimmed with lavender and yellow leaves. The black satin pumps with rhinestone buckles are worn with black mercerized seamless hose. An evening gown draped in soft flowing lines on the skirt, over the shoulders it a surplice and semblance of sleeves, and into a suggestion of a bustle in the back, is of printed chiffon voile with a background of royal blue and figures in as many colors as a futurist painter of sunsets daubs on his palette. Silver slippers and silver hose are worn with this gown.

Ever Hear of Stale Gas?

Folks don't buy a thousand cubic feet of gas and then have to throw away part of it because it's wilted or old. GAS IS MADE AND DELIVERED AS NEEDED AND USED. There are no "left overs" or stale portions. The meter, at your command, measures out the quantity you want-no more. Gas service is a waste-defying service-clean, dependable, efficient. That's one reason why it is so small a part of our living expense. Compared with other essentials, its cost is only a fraction of its real value.

If it's done with heat you can do it Better with GAS.

Whether the United States Senate Can or Cannot Do Business

By SENATOR F. B. WILLIS, of Ohio, Speech in Senate.

It is simply a cold proposition that is put up to the senate as to whether the senate of the United States can or cannot do business. Here is a majority on this side of the aisle, and they are told, and correctly told under the rules as they stand now, that a minority of 15 or 20 or 25 oppose to say to the senate that no business can be transacted.

I want to state to the senate that the time is coming, and I think it is here now, when the senate will have to work out some method whereby it can transact business. If it does not reform its methods of procedure so that a majority in the senate can express its will, the people of the country will find out a way to reform the senate.

In other words, we are face to face with a condition that in my judgment demands such a readjustment and amendment of the rules of the senate as will permit the business of the people of the country to be transacted and not put it within the control of a small minority to say to the majority, "Not only shall you not pass this bill, but you shall not discuss it, you shall not consider it, you shall not take it up for examination."

M. L. CANNON BUYS THE BRYANT HOME IN CHARLOTTE

Purchase Price in Neighborhood of $50,000; Cannons Will Occupy the House September 1st. Charlotte Observer.

Charlotte will hear with exceeding great interest that Mr. Martin Cannon, of Concord, has purchased the beautiful home of Mrs. C. B. Bryant on East Morehead Street, it being understood that the purchase price was about $50,000.

Mr. Cannon becomes owner of the property July 1, but he and Mrs. Cannon will not take possession until September 1st, as they contemplate making some changes in the house.

The Bryant residence is one of the handsomest in the city, the style of architecture unusual and the general idea of the house beautiful.

Mr. and Mrs. Cannon have a host of friends in Charlotte where they have spent much time in the past two years, as guests of friends, and are very charmingly known here. They will be prominently identified with Charlotte's social life.

Mrs. Bryant and her mother, Mrs. Ada Morrison Nutall, will continue to reside in Charlotte. They will occupy an apartment in the Colonial apartments on North Tryon for the present.

The deal between Mrs. Bryant and Mr. Cannon was negotiated by Mr. Gaston Galloway, real estate and insurance dealer.

"WORSE THAN PAIN"

Louisiana Lady Says She Has "Nervous Found Anything Better Than Cardui for a Run-Down Condition."

Morgan City, La.-"It would be hard for me to tell how much benefit I have derived from the use of Cardui," said Mrs. I. G. Bowman, of 1319 Front Street, this city.

"I was so run-down in health I could hardly go. I was thin, I had no appetite. Could not rest or sleep well. I was so weak, and so very nervous, I was no pleasure to myself.

"I suffered some pain, but the worst of my trouble was from being so weak and easy to get tired and out of heart.

"This nervous condition was worse than pain.

"Some one told me of Cardui, and I decided to use it.

"After using a few bottles, I regained my strength. I wasn't so nervous, and began to eat and sleep, and grew stronger and was soon well.

"I have never found anything better for a run-down condition."

If you suffer as this Louisiana lady did, you, too, should find Cardui helpful for your troubles. Get a bottle of Cardui, today. NC-164

PIERY, ITCHY SKIN QUICKLY SOOTHED BY THIS SULPHUR

Mentho-Sulphur, a pleasant cream, will soothe and heal skin that is irritated or broken out with eczema, that is covered with ugly rash or pimples, or is rough or dry. Nothing soothes fiery skin eruptions so quickly, says a noted skin specialist.

The moment this sulphur preparation is applied the itching stops and after two or three applications, the eczema is gone and the skin is delightfully clear and smooth. Sulphur is so precious as a skin remedy because it destroys the parasites that cause the burning, itching or disfigurement. Mentho-Sulphur always heals eczema right up.

A small jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur may be had at any good drug store.
