Miss Montgomery Entertains.

The following from The Charlotte News of Wednesday will be read with interest here:

An affair of beauty, charm and elegance among the young college set of the city, was the dance given Tuesday evening at the Charlotte Country Club by Miss Ada Heath Montgomery, honoring her young house-guest, Miss Elizabeth Woodward of Baltimore, who, during her stay in the city, has been a much feted guest.

The ball room was beautifully arranged with garlands of ivy and other greenery, intermingling with butterfly flowers and lilacs.

Miss Montgomery received her young guests in an elegant dance frock of flame colored georgette, while Miss Woodward was a lovely picture in lavender lace. Dr. and Mrs. John C. Montgomery, parents of the hostess, assisted their daughter in receiving, Mrs. Montgomery wearing an elegant black lace over black satin. Also in the receiving line were a number of the city's visitors and their hostesses; Miss Lucy Heath, an aunt of Miss Montgomery and her house-guest, Miss Catharine Goodman, of Concord; Miss Anna Moore, and guest, Miss Marion Taber, of Columbia, S. C.; Miss Mary Mills Ham and two guests, Miss Adelaide Douglas and Miss Dorothea Gorrell, of Winston-Salem, and Miss Mary Alice Blakemore, of New Orleans, guest of Miss Helen Hardie.

Throughout the dancing hours, which began at 9 o'clock and continued until after midnight, refreshing fruit punch, sandwiches and dainty confectioses were served.

About 200 invited guests enjoyed Miss Montgomery's gracious hospitality.

"Long Time Between Fines," Says One Governor to Another.

Raleigh News and Observer.

"Lend me ten dollars," said the Governor of North Carolina to the Governor of Tennessee when they were overtaken on a lonely mountain road in Henderson county last Saturday afternoon.

"With pleasure, Sir," said the Governor of Tennessee to the Governor of North Carolina and His Excellency paid the ten dollars into the hands of a doubting speed cop.

The two executives were bowling along over the inviting roads of Henderson county, doing considerably better than the statutory mileage, in the limousine that the State provides for the transportation of its Governor.

Governor Austin Peay, of Tennessee, had arrived in the State to see the roads that morning, and Governor Morrison was out showing them to him when the Henderson deputy roared up behind them. He didn't believe a word of it when Governor Morrison disclosed his identity.

There were a lot of things that he appeared not to know, and among them was the fact that the name of the present Governor is spelled M-o-r-r-i-s-s-o-n. He thought it was B-i-e-k-e-r-t. He was interested chiefly in ten dollars, and said as much. And Governor Morrison didn't have the ten spot handy.

Governor Peay didn't talk about it all when he got to Raleigh with Frank Page last night, but members of his party were having no little amusement out of the fact that one Henderson county speed cop caught two Governors in one haul. The Governor of North Carolina paid the Governor of Tennessee when they got back to the hotel.
