LAWYERS ARE FUTURE GUIDES OF CONDUCT, PASTOR SAYS

Only Jesus Christ Can Save Man, the Rev. Dr. Martin Tells Moravian Congregation. New York World. There are approximately 1,600 churches, missions, chapels and other places of worship in the five boroughs of New York. Their membership is estimated at 2,000,000. What message are these churches bringing to the city each week? To answer this question The World sends a reporter to a church each Sunday and prints a report of the sermon on Monday. The transfiguring power of love was the general theme selected by the Rev. Dr. Charles D. Martin for his fifteenth anniversary sermon yesterday morning at Beth-Tphillah, the Fourth Moravian Church, 129 West 126th Street. "Underlying the unsettled state of our times," said Dr. Martin, "is a frantic effort to get out of our present condition and better and save ourselves—to get the best that we think life has for us or wrest from others what we think we should have—hence the thousand and one voices. Yes, even attempts to consult with the dead and other superstitions are included in our efforts to deal with present, living issues. "Jesus Christ is the only way out; not only His teachings, over which we fight, but Jesus himself. A living Jesus, keenly alive and sympathetic in all matters where man is concerned: life, wages, racial relations, national supremacy. "Only Jesus Can Save. "Jesus Christ only has the capacity and ability to save man. Every effort for the salvation of a people in body, soul and mind, physically, mentally, socially, spiritually, undertaken apart from Jesus, must prove futile. "God is spirit, we know, and we also know that since He is spirit He can manifest Himself, and He has done so in and through Jesus Christ, whom He presents to man as Divine, Authoritative, Final, the Captain of our salvation, the Bishop and Shepherd of our souls who only hath immortality which alone can give and does give to as many as Trust Him. "God's idea was first of man. Man never created God nor the thought of God. "The first intimate knowledge we possess of God in the earliest dawn of history is when He spoke of His intention to create man. Man was born in the mind of God. Man as the thought of God was sent forth to learn and conquer the universe, to develop and establish a direct contact through prayer and intercession with his Maker. "Short of Divine Contact. "We know how far short of this perfect contact with the Divine we are in the world are today. All the seductiveness of things material, the enjoyment of the visible and the physical, the pleasures of the senses, have gradually extended until they have excluded and then denied until they have prevented the contentment of the invisible, the only reality." Dr. Martin referred to his text which he had taken from the Gospel of Luke, ninth chapter and thirty-fifth verse, in which an account of Christ's Transfiguration on the mountain is given—the particular words selected being: "And a voice came out of the clouds saying, 'This is My Son, my chosen; hear ye Him.' "This passage Dr. Martin said shows the continual thought of God about man, state, God's mind being always on man. He dwelt at length on conditions in Italy and Russia, where revolutions attempted to govern, and emphasized the fact that class hatred was productive of more murder and bloodshed than the rule of King and Czar. "Man's salvation," said Dr. Martin, "is so tremendously important that it takes the best men, weighed down with all knowledge of the weakness of humanity, plus their own experience, cleansed from selfishness and pride, to enter into consultation with Christ as to the active redemption of man. "Binding laws, serve penalties and inflection, catastrophic movements in nature, death in its most appalling form—these lead to extermination, not salvation. At the consultation of men and God on the Holy Mount, Christ brought His contribution—sacrifice of the best for the salvation of the world. For ages God had worked through nature and men. The life, death and resurrection of Christ brought it to the world at large. Christ offered Himself as the ransom for all mankind. "Love, not sentiment, is the secret of salvation. Sentiment changes; love abides."

BEST WHEAT CROP IN THE STATE'S HISTORY

Was Over a Million Bushels in Excess of That of Last Year. (By the Associated Press.) Raleigh, N. C. July 17.—North Carolina made the best wheat crop this year the state has made for some time, it being 1,077,000 bushels more than last year's crop, Frank Parker, Statistician of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, announced tonight. "The total production of 6,587,000 bushels represents an average of approximately 10 bushels per acre," Mr. Parker stated. "The average condition for North Carolina is 90 per cent, as compared to 82 per cent for the ten year period and 78 per cent, a year ago. The price is $1.42 this year, or three cents per bushel more than a year ago. The per cent of last year's crop remaining on farms in this state is five per cent, or two per cent more than was estimated a year ago. "For the United States the winter wheat showed an average condition of 70.8 per cent, and spring wheat 82.4 per cent, or a combined condition of 78.3 per cent, forecasting on a four and one half per cent, reduced average 821,000,000 year's crop. The average price for the United States is 95.1 cents compared with $1.03 a year ago. The national average of 14.1 bushels compares with North Carolina's 10 bushels to the acre. "Corn is North Carolina's principal crop, since it occupies 37 per cent of the cultivated acreage, while cotton occupies but 23 per cent. The one crop in this state that stays nearest the same acreage is corn. This year's acreage shows the usual 100 per cent, compared with last year's and with the usual, with a condition of 87 per cent, of a normal or full crop prospect. The eastern and southern counties have shown the greatest increase, where it has replaced some cotton acreage. This information is the result of over five hundred experienced reporters estimates from all counties of the state. The poorest condition is found from Sampson to Orange counties. Another area of poor condition is found from Polk county along the border to Anson. The crop is fairly good this year, especially in the mountain counties and from Iredell southeasterly to the southern coast, also in the central coastal counties. According to the official crop report from the Co-operative Crop Reporting Service of the State and Federal Departments of Agriculture, it is found that corn in the United States averages 85.2 per cent of normal with the acreage at about one per cent, increase. On this condition the national-crop for this year will be about the same as for last year, or 2,877 bushels. This would give an average of 28 bushels to the acre, which is also the five year average. The average price ranges about 87 cents for the entire country, as compared with 82 cents a year ago. The forecast for North Carolina is 50,477,000 bushels which is the same as last year's production and 4,000,000 bushels less than the five-year average. Our farm price is $1.20 compared with 80 cents a year ago. "Although North Carolina is not a big oat producing state it is of economic importance in our crop production. With the condition of 90 per cent, or a normal crop estimated by 405 growers we have the prospect of a good crop. Both wheat

"I am a Progressive, but I Favor Retaining the Things That Are Good"

By ALVA B. ADAMS, New U. S. Senator From Colorado. IT MAY be that government ownership and control is the solution of the transportation problem, but I believe a further test of private ownership of the railroads, with continued government supervision, should be made. I favor the repeal of the Esch-Cummins law creating the railroad labor board. It has not worked well. It has served as a source of irritation among railroad men rather than as a means of soothing them. Its mission is good, but the results are not good because neither side is committed to abide by the decisions of the board. I am in favor of law enforcement, and that applies to the Eighteenth amendment. I am in sympathy with most of the economic purposes of the farm bloc, but I do not think bloc should exert their influence to the detriment of the whole, and I doubt their wisdom and propriety. I am in favor of an adequate and effective line of defense. We ought to be better prepared than we were in 1917. I am in sympathy with arms limitation in a general way, and in favor of anything that will make war more improbable, but I think the arms limitations treaty is less effective than the league of nations plan for preventing conflict. The international policies of Senator LaFollette and those who agree with him do not meet my approval. I am a progressive and I believe in eliminating the bad things in our government, but I am in favor of retaining the things that are good. The government should stop child labor of the kind that stunts the child's growth. The government should prevent working conditions insanitary or destructive of the moral or physical welfare of the worker. Especially among women a far greater hazard of evil results from low wages rather than from long hours. The preservation of peace is of far greater importance than the success of political parties, and if the President and his party can promote world peace I shall be glad to support their efforts. I hope the senate will give its consent to membership in the International Court of Justice.

"A Boy in Poland; Twenty Years at Sea, and the Remainder as a Writer"

JOSEPH CONRAD, to New York Reporters. I HAD a touch of lumbago and an attack of gout in my left hand; I didn't get up in the bridge as much as I should have liked. . . . This is the largest ship I was ever on (the displacement of the Tuscania is 16,892 tons). . . . I left the sea in '94. Ships have changed since then. All life has changed. Captain Bone was kind enough to show me all the new contraptions which ships did not have when I was at sea. . . . Yes, I still hold my master's ticket; it's in the family archives. Captain Bone insisted that his men address me by my title. At first I didn't know whom they meant when the officers said "Do this or that for the Captain." It pleased me very much. A pretty compliment. . . . Yes, Walter Hines Page was a great man. It is part of England's traditional luck to have had Page in London during the war. He was killed by the war just as much as if he had had a bullet in his heart. America has always been good to me; magazines have serialized my stories from the very first. . . . Americans have an enviable enthusiasm. Enthusiasm makes life interesting. . . . No, I'm not much up on modern American literature. You see, I don't read much fiction and my mind is not critical. I couldn't say much about writers, because I haven't got any general culture. Twenty years at sea when one is a youth do not fit one with a critical type of mind. I'm not a literary man. Henry James, who used to come to see me, told me about John Burroughs, the fellow who was always chasing nightingales. . . . I read Poe in French translations. Whitman, yes, but I can't say about Whitman, for I haven't a critical mind. You see, I have lived three lives: until seventeen a boy in Poland, twenty years at sea and the remainder as a writer. I thought of drifting back to sea, even after I was married; but after "The Nigger of the Narcissus," I made up my mind it was the end of my sea life.

Building and Loan Did It

Albemarle News-Herald. A well known business man showed us a bank deposit receipt for $500 one day this week and explained at the same time that he made that deposit with money which he had saved by paying a small amount once a week on building and loan shares. He said he paid up five shares making small payments each week, that he never missed the small amount and that had he not used it in that way he would have spent the money which he used in paying his weekly dues, and never have known where it went. "Building and loan," he said, "is a great investment." He declared that the deposit of $500 was "just velvet." This is an example of what thrift means when virtuously practiced. Thrift is something on which we should place more emphasis, and where building and loan comes in is, that no institution does more to foster regular and systematic habits of thrift. A boy at 14 years of age can subscribe for five shares, and by paying a small assessment each week or each month can have $500 paid up when he reaches the age of 21 years—enough to help a long way towards paying his way through college. This feature of building and loan should be emphasized, as well as the home building advantages which building and loan offers.

All Judges Are Holding Court in Home Districts

Raleigh, July 17.—For the first time in five years the 20 Superior Court judges of the state are holding court in their home districts. Miss Mamie Turner, who as a secretary in Governor Morrison's office keeps tabs on the goings and comings of the judiciary, discovered today. Through the rotation system, which is now under fire from the bar association, the judges are out of their home districts for five years at a time. Beginning with July 1, all have returned to their home district for the first time in five years. The system of rotation is expected to be vigorously fought when the Legislature meets again.
