CHANGE OF LIFE

Florida Lady Was in a Miserable Condition, But Says She Found Cardui Helpful, and Got Well.

Altha, Fla.—In explaining how she found Cardui so helpful during change of life, Mrs. Ella M. Bailey, of Route 2, this place, said:

"I became so weakened it was an effort for me to get around. I knew what was the matter, but I felt like I couldn't give up."

"I just dragged, and I certainly was nervous. I was so restless I could not sit down long—yet so weak I couldn't get about. It is a most miserable and such a helpless feeling."

"I would get depressed and out of heart."

"I began to feel, after awhile, there was no use to try to get well. This is all wrong, for it makes a person worse."

"I had heard of Cardui, and thought it might strengthen me. A neighbor had used it with good results."

"I took one bottle (of Cardui), then I saw I wasn't so nervous, so kept it up."

"Gradually the nervousness left me. I began to eat and sleep better. Was soon well, and all right. Cardui did wonders for me, and I certainly do recommend it."

Thousands of other women have written, to tell of the beneficial results obtained by taking Cardui, and to recommend it to others.

ROMANCE OF WORDS

"Sub Rosa."

MEANING literally "under the rose," this synonym for secrecy or confidence dates back to 477 B. C., when Pausanias, commander of the Spartan and Athenian fleets, was engaged in conspiracy with Xerxes to betray Greece to the Persians. The meetings were conducted in a building connected with the Temple of Minerva and called the "Brazen House." Because the roof of this building was covered with roses, the intrigue was literally carried on "under the rose."

Pausanias, however, was betrayed by one of his men and, to escape arrest, fled to the Temple of Minerva. The crowd, fearing to violate the sanctity of the temple, walked up the entrance and left Pausanias to die of starvation in the very place where he had been guilty of treachery. It later became a custom among the Athenians to wear a rose when they had a confidential communication to make, and the flower also appeared on the ceilings of banquet halls to remind the guests that what was spoken there was in confidence. The same practice was common among the ancient Germans and, in the sixteenth century, it was usual to see a rose placed over the confessionals in Roman Catholic churches.

Mother's Cook Book

A peppercorn is very small, but seasons every dinner. More than all other condiments, although 'tis sprinkled thinner. Just so a little woman is, if love will let you win her—There's not a joy in all the world you will not find within her.

FOODS WE LIKE

PEAS served in any manner are delicious, but the following is especially so:

Green Pea Bisque.
Cook one pint of peas, rub through a sieve and add one-half cupful of canned tomato soup, one pint of hot milk, one teaspoonful of sugar, a few grains of pepper. Thicken with two tablespoonfuls of butter and one of flour cooked together. Serve very hot with croutons.

Gooseberry Pie.
Line a pie-plate with pastry and put into it ripe gooseberries to cover the bottom, sprinkle with a layer of flour and a cupful of sugar, add more berries to fill the shell, another dusting of flour, cover with a rich crust and bake slowly. Bind the edge of the pastry with a strip of wet cloth to hold in the juices; this may be easily removed as soon as the pie is baked. Bake 40 minutes in a moderate oven.

Gooseberry Tapioca.
Soak two-thirds of a cupful of tapioca over night in slightly salted water. Drain, put in a double boiler with one and one-quarter cupfuls of boiling water and one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt, cook until the tapioca has absorbed all the water, then add two cupfuls of gooseberries; ripe, well stemmed and headed, with one cupful of sugar. Cook until the berries are tender and the tapioca transparent. Chill and serve with cream and sugar.

Date Salad.
Take one cupful of dates, three tablespoonfuls of seeded raisins, three tablespoonfuls of walnut meats, one-half cupful of boiled dressing, one cupful of sliced celery and one-third of a cupful of grated American cheese. Mix the cheese, nut meats and raisins. Stuff the dates with this mixture and allow them to stand several hours. Slice the dates, add the celery and the salad dressing and serve in nests of lettuce. A little sweet or sour cream will improve the dressing.

Conviction That Education Is Substitute for Work Rather Than a Tool

By JAMES J. DAVIS, U. S. Secretary of Labor.

We have allowed the conviction to grow among many of our younger citizens that education is a substitute for work rather a tool to work with, an end rather than a means.

The ultimate outcome of this system continued without reform or amendment would be the creation of a nation where every man and woman would have the learning of books, and none would have that learning of the hands which is so vital to national prosperity and progress.

We must restore the dignity of labor by teaching the trades in our schools. We must offer to every child that training of hand and heart, as well as head, which will enable him to go forth into the world equipped to care for himself and to take his place as a self-supporting, self-respecting citizen, a credit to himself and an asset to society. My ideal is to turn out of our schools children equipped with a high school education, as that education is now known—and a trade.

DROUGHT SITUATION IN STATE REMOVED

Favorable Seasons Over Most of the State, Says Mr. Parker.

Raleigh, N. C., July 17.—The favorable seasons over most of the state following a very dry June have relieved the drought situation for most counties, according to the semi-monthly crop report of Frank Parker, Statistician of the crop reporting service of the Department of Agriculture.

"There still remains the need of rainfall in some of the northern and Piedmont centers," the report continued. "The temperature has been unusually warm and good for all crops. Due to the dry June weather most all crops are in good cultivation and free of grass. Successful or herbageous crops suffered considerably to July 1."

"Corn is generally in good condition, excepting where dry conditions continue. The growth has been fairly good, and due to limited stunting during June the roots went deep into the ground and consequently may be expected to make for fruitfulness if conditions remain favorable."

"The harvest of wheat was unusually good and the grain dry and well cured. Seasons were favorable for a minimum damage. The same condition applies to oats and rye."

The cotton crop is unusually well promising in most of the counties, the report said.

"It is suffering some in the northeastern piedmont or central counties between districts two and three. The weevil damage is just beginning to be apparent, with farmers perturbed over the outcome. There is quite a quandary over the best method to follow in combating them. The cultivation is good and conditions generally favorable."

"The hay crop prospects are variable due to the intensity in seeding, on account of the drought in June. Last year's crop was unusually good, and both acreage and yield may be less than last year. The western counties have good hay crops."

"District No. 2, or the main part of the old tobacco belt, suffered severely from the drought, and some sections are still needing rain. Acreage shortage occurred in this area, but has regained in the eastern or new belt area, where seasons were more favorable. Growth and cultivation are both very good, stands favorable, especially in the old belt. Some baiting reported."

According to a recent questionnaire to the Commercial Fruit Growers of the State, both apples and peaches are less promising than was expected. This is particularly true of peaches. There was a heavy June crop of apples. The commercial growers estimate ten per cent less than the regular correspondents report or about a sixteen per cent crop.

"The migration of farm labor was less extensive in North Carolina than states further south. In fact, many counties gained more moving from the south than was lost by those going north."

"The effect of the increase in pounds and grade of fertilizers per acre is telling on almost all crops, but especially on cotton and tobacco."
