AUCTION SALE STOPPED BY RAINS SATURDAY

At Time of Rain Sale Was in Full Progress—Sale of Smoot Property

At Time of Rain Sale Was in Full Progress—Sale of Smoot Property Called Off.

The auction sale of lots at the Charles Cline farm on the Kannapolis road, several miles north of Concord, had to be called off Saturday after getting off to a good start when several hard showers sent the auctioneers and prospective buyers to shelter. About one-third of the tract to be offered for sale had been sold when the rain interrupted the sale.

Officials of the Atlantic Coast Realty Company, who conducted the sale, were well pleased with the manner in which the sale started. Judging from the spirited bidding on the property that was sold, the sale would have been a very successful one. The highest priced lot sold in the tract brought $430, it was stated.

The sale of the Smoot property, near the city and lying near East Depot Street, was called off after several of the lots had been sold.

The airplane which was to take up three persons holding the lucky tickets at the Cline sale, was wreeked just before the sale started. The avintor had started up with a passenger when the accident occurred, and the plane was so badly wrecked that it could not be repaired on the field. In attempting to rise from the ground the airman failed to clear a dith which runs across the landing field, and the wheels of the plane struck the ditch, turning the plane struck the ditch, turning the plane struck the ditch, turning the plane struck the ditch turning the plane over. Place Will Be Nazareth Orphans

The Place Will Be Nazareth Orphans' Home, at Crescent, in Rowan County, Eight Miles From Salisbury.
Next Thursday, August 2, is the big picnic day for the Reformed church in North Carolina. For 15 years the annual orphans home day has been the first Thursday in August. The place is Nazareth Orphans' Home at Crescent in Rowan County, eight miles south of Salisbury. Thousands of Reformed people from the piedmont sections of North Carolina gather at Crescent to have a pienic with the children of the home, It is the fireat pienic day for Rowan county, for it would seem that everybody goes to Orphans' Home day. Attendance and interest grow each year. Before the time of the Ford and automobiles excursion trains were run from Greensboro and Hickory. Some years ago the farmers had to hunt for a place to hitch the family horse. Now it is a rush for a good parking place for the ear.

The anniversary address is given at 11 c'clock. Some prominent citizen of our state or influential member of the Reformed Church delivers the address. This year Rev. George Lonkaker, of Akron, Ohio, is the speaker. He is the pastor of Trinity Reformed Church in that city, a church of more than 800 members. Akron is a Reformed center, having a dozen churches in the city and suburbs.

views between Paris and Brussels.

It is asserted in well informed circles that Premier Poincare's reply is set squarely in the treaty of Versailles and on the Franco-Belgian policy outlined January 11th that negotiations with Germany are impossible under her passive resistance and that the evacuation of the Ruhr is impossible until the payment of reparations is absolutely guaranteed.

The Belgian note is in accordance with the French on these two points, it is stated, although differing on other points of the reparations question such as a new conference to fix Germany's ability to pay. Reply Not Received. Reply Not Received.
