HARRIS WINS HIS BASEBALL GAME

Cincinnati Papers Raving Over Former Concord Hurler.

The Cincinnati Times-Star of recent date is singing the praises of Bill Harris, hurling him as the deliverer of the Reds in time of need. In the following article it goes on to state that Harris will be called upon to attend to one game in double-headers and would be called upon to pitch one of the Philadelphia games—he did pitch it, yesterday; and won it, holding the Phillies to seven hits.

The story follows:

"By W. A. Phelan.

"The fifth pitcher has arrived. The one man needed to complete the staff and take the Reds' defense airtight against all comers has shown his wares, and Pat Moran at last rests easy. Will Harris is it with a Capital I.

Harris' work in several recent fragments of games had been so brilliant that there was much demand for him—the fans wanted to see him in a real test of his ability—but he remained on the bench, while Keck and Couch did the relief work. Pass we lightly over the sorrows of Keck and Couch, and return to Mr. Harris. He was sent to the hill with Friday's game tied up, but with Brooklyn an apparently certain winner as the Reds were playing monkey ball, and the Robins were just tending to business. Harris stopped them abruptly, and kept on pitching elegant ball. He had perfect control, plenty of speed and a neat "hoop" that resulted in pop flies. Duane rescued him once by a magnificent catch—after that, the tide turned, and it was evident that the ultimate victory would be only a matter of time. In other words, Harris was pitching rings around so killed a star as Berleigh Grimes.

After the finish the fans gave Harris the applause that he deserved. He was present with everything that a pitcher could require, including—best of all—perfect nerve and no fluttering of the heart-valve. On that field, a great young pitcher came to his own, and the Reds acquired the reinforcement they so sorely needed.

With five pitcher, Pat Moran can announce full steam and plume ahead. Harris, for awhile, will tend to one game of the double-headers, getting one of the Philadelphia battles.

According to the minor league records, Mr. Harris bats like a tuna fish armored with a pie-knife—is one of the worst batters in captivity—hence the fans must not expect any special hitting from him. He just pitches ball. The same records indicate that he fields well, but, oddly enough, in seven games he has appeared on the hill, not one ball of any description has been hit at him.

The Reds think highly of Harris, and are jubilant over his success. Says Icy Wingo: "The boy always had everything—except strength. He was ill with appendicitis last winter, and it took him months to get back his vigor. Now, watch his smoke!"

CUSTOMING BIG PICTURE IS A MONUMENTAL TASK

Norma Talmadge's Twenty Dresses All Copied From Authentic Plates From Old France.

The monumental task of customing a picture production of the Second Restoration Period was recently completed at United Studios in Hollywood, where Norma Talmadge, under Frank Lloyd's direction, made her lavish production of "The Eternal Flame," the first National Theatre production which is coming to the Pastime Theatre Wednesday and Thursday.

No less famous creative artists than Walter Israel and his wife had carte blanche in the matter of customing. Their names are synonymous with perfection in detail and unrivaled lavishness in display. Though accustomed to having a free hand in carrying out his program of selection, Mr. Israel is convinced that this picture will exceed all his previous records.

The Second Restoration Period, when the nobility was again returning to its own, marked as noticeable an unrest in the costumes as in the lives of the aristocrats. Consequently, an extensive research staff was required to find plates and authentic details for the elaborate costumes.

The picture called for two magnificent ballroom sets as well as several less elaborately staged affairs, entailing the use of several hundred extras besides an unusually important supporting cast.

Miss Talmadge has no fewer than twenty costumes that are copied from plates and carried out to the most exact detail.

Even the accessories to adornment, fans, bags, scarfs and jewelry, which were of such infinite variety and intricate workmanship, have been reproduced in exact families.

FELT TIRED, SO TIRED

Indiana Lady Says She Was Run Down, Suffered With Her Back, Took Cardui, and Got Well.

Richmond, Ind.—"I thought I would write a line or so, to say that I owe my good health and strength to Cardui," says a letter from Mrs. Cora Courtney, 31 Railroad Street, this city.

"I was all run-down until my family thought they would lose me," writes Mrs. Courtney. "My husband coaxed me to take Cardui, so, to please him, I did, and will say I do not regret it, for I am able to do all my work and do my shopping."

"I have five children, four in school, my husband and a boarder to do for, and do all my own work for all of us, and find time to play. We all praise Cardui. Every sick and run-down woman should take this wonderful medicine."

"I suffered with my back; a very weak feeling in my limbs. "I felt hardly able to drag; just tired—so tired all the time."

"It was an effort for me to do anything, but Cardui helped me so I felt like a different woman."

If you are in a run-down physical condition, suffering as this Indiana lady says she did, give Cardui a fair trial. It should help you.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Nobody Can Tell When You Darken Gray, Faded Hair With Sage Tea

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

Well-known druggists say everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful.

INSIST on taste

Just because Ward's Orange-Crush is a mellow golden color, don't be fooled by a "gold brick" imitation. Your taste will tell every time. Ward's Crushes owe their distinctive and delightful flavors to the natural fruit oils of oranges, lemons and limes.
